MACMILLAN'S ARRIVAL SPARKS PARIS UPROAR

Club-wielding police, called out to guard both the British and American embassies, dispersed about 300 young demonstrators who shouted "Algeria is French." Twenty youths were arrested.

Art Treasure Just Missed Garbage Can

By JOHN MIKA

How does it feel to sell a wormy old Goya sketch book for $20 and then learn, too late, it is valued at $465,000?

"I'm just thrilled to death. I'm glad he got it because I probably would have thrown it into the garbage eventually and certainly no one else would have done anything with it."

The words were spoken today by Mrs. Laura Mitchell, great-grand-daughter of Robert Dunsmuir, who was the scion of Vancouver Island's most famous family.

She was the person who put up for auction the 81-page, parchment sketch book bought in February, 1956, by J. P. E. Klaverwyden, 1560 Rockland, when his $20 bid was successful at a Maynard's auction.

Almost two centuries old, the sketch book passed through the hands of at least four members of the Dunsmuir family before Mr. Klaverwyden obtained it and climaxed three years of research by having it certified as the work of famous Spanish painter Francisco Goya Lucientes when he was 22.

Mrs. Mitchell almost threw it out because "it was just crawling with maggots" when it came into her possession by a fluke.

She obtained it in 1952 in Monte Carlo where she was living with an aunt, Mrs. Muriel Dunsmuir, now living at 1725 Beach Drive. While there, a second aunt, Mrs. Marian Stevenson, died and left all her possessions to Mrs. Dunsmuir.

"Muriel decided she only wanted some of the antiques left in the estate and she told me to take the rest," Mrs. Mitchell, a widow, said.

IN CUPBOARD

"I found the sketch book in a bathroom cupboard. It was just crawling with maggots and little insects and I nearly threw it away but finally I killed off the insects with DDT and brought it back with me when I returned to Victoria the following year."

Mrs. Mitchell lived at 1626 Rockland on her return—only a block away from retired Shell Oil executive Mr. Klaverwyden, an art enthusiast.

Feb. 26, 1955, according to Maynard's books, the Mrs. Mitchell put it up for auction. Written notes in the entry by Maynard's were: "Possibly 17th century? Spanish?" Now living at 2012 Allenby, she took the action because she could not fit all her possessions into her present apartment.

Times Reporter Quit Bidding On Goya 'Find'

By HUMPHRY DAVY
Times Staff Reporter

I nearly bought the Goya sketch book which was sold for a "song" at an auction sale in Victoria nearly three years ago.

I missed an opportunity of a lifetime, that is, making $465,000, the market value today of 81 wash and red chalk sketches drawn by the most famous of Spanish court painters.

The sketch book was sold for a mere $20 to art collector J. P. E. Klaverwyden, 1560 Rockland, a retired Shell Oil Company executive.

It was a fantastic sale in many ways.

There were only three of us who bid for the drawings at Maynard's antique sale.

The art treasure was passed up by some 200 persons, including art connoisseurs from Vancouver and Seattle.

I first ran across the sketch book in the afternoon prior to the evening sale. The drawings, many dealing with human interest subjects, were so striking and delicately executed that I thought it was the best buy of the sale.

To me those simple drawings had more in them than all the silver and gold ornaments up for sale in the auction room. The drawings were unsigned. I did not know they had any value, but I wanted to acquire them for their own sake.

Bidding started at $2.

I was standing beside Mr. Klaverwyden, then unknown to me. He seemed so intent on acquiring the sketches that I felt it was of little use to continue the contest. I dropped out at a $10 bid.

There remained in the ring only a soft-spoken woman who wanted the sketches for personal reasons—she loved the drawings. She kept raising the bid a dollar at a time.

Some days later Mr. Klaverwyden told me he would have gone as high as $100 for the book, but no higher.

John Gray Surrenders To RCMP in Vancouver

VANCOUVER (CP) — John McPherson Gray, 46-year-old forest management executive, made a brief appearance in police court here today and was remanded until Thursday on charges of conspiring to bribe former B.C. forests minister Robert E. Sommers.

Gray, the fourth man arrested in connection with allegations of bribery against Sommers, walked into the RCMP station at the courthouse Saturday night and gave himself up. He was released two hours later on payment of $5,000 bail.

The other three men, Sommers, C. D. Schultz and H. Wilson Gray, brother of John Gray, were arrested Thursday and released on bail. They also were remanded until Thursday this week.

The action was taken following the laying of criminal charges against Mr. Sommers and three other men alleged to have been involved in a conspiracy.

Russia Can Hit All U.S. Targets

WASHINGTON (AP)—Dr. Edward Teller said today if the United States and Russia maintain their present pace of missile development "there is no doubt that Russia will leave us behind—and way behind."

And already, he said, he believes the Russians have "or will have in a short time" the ability to hit major industrial centres in the U.S. with an intercontinental ballistic missile. Specifically, he said he believes the Russians could hit such a distant target as Houston, Tex.

Teller, an expert on nuclear weapons, was the opening witness in a Senate inquiry into the U.S. missile program.

Teller said there was some "danger" in sharing secrets with other countries, but added that in view of Russian advances "we must accept the danger," he said. "The danger of not co-operating would be greater."

Hunter Dies In Plunge From Cliff

CHILLIWACK, B.C. (CP)—Searchers today found the body of Aron Ewert, 36-year-old Vancouver hunter, who fell 500 feet from a cliff Saturday on Neskkwatch Mountain.

Neskkwatch lies across a narrow valley from towering Mount Mount Slesse, 25 miles east of here, where a TCA planeplane crashed last December with the loss of 62 lives.

A 12-man search party radioed Chilliwack at noon today that it had located the body of Aron Ewert, a Vancouver contractor. The body was being brought here.

A hunting companion, John Ratzlaff, 29, said the two halted about 4.30 p.m. Saturday to decide whether to camp out for the night or try to reach home. Ratzlaff wanted to remain on the mountain, scene of the TCA crash last year that killed 62 persons, while Ewert voted to move down.

Ewert fastened a rope around a stump and had just started to go down when he slipped and fell down the sheer rock face of the cliff.

All Ratzlaff could hear, he said, was the ejaculation "Ho, my goodness," but he could see his partner tumbling and hitting rocks as he fell.

Ratzlaff fastened himself to a nearby tree with the sling of his rifle and spent a cold, wet night on the spot, wracked by cramps.

At dawn he made his way down the cliff but was unable to locate his friend. He then made his way to police headquarters.

Bridge Traffic Halted

TAYLOR, B.C. (CP)—Areas north of the Peace River again lost road contact with the rest of British Columbia today. Army engineers halted traffic over a temporary bridge across the South Pine river, used to carry Alaska Highway traffic detouring around the wrecked Duffering bridge over the Peace River, as floating ice threatened to remove timber pilings.

Syria Attack Charged

JERUSALEM (AP) — Israel charged Syrian troops opened fire again today on Israel civilians near Syrian border. Israeli spokesmen said there were no casualties. They said the shootings occurred near a border area where an Israeli field worker was killed Sunday.

NEW SLIDE THREAT AT PRINCE RUPERT

PRINCE RUPERT, B.C. (CP)—Thousands of tons of rock, dirt and trees that destroyed three homes and took seven lives in Friday's landslide are threatening another 10 homes in the area here.

RCMP ordered families out over the weekend when workmen searching for bodies reported that the rock was still creeping slowly down the mountain.

About 25 adults and children involved were given no time to collect valuables before evacuation, but most went readily, RCMP reported.

Eye-Witness Description Of Disaster

PRINCE RUPERT, B.C. (CP)—A 300-foot wall of mud and broken trees 50 feet deep crushed three houses like matchsticks and buried them, 300 feet away from their original sites. Seven persons were killed.

He had been working in the city gravel pit on Wantage Road, 11 blocks from the heart of the city.

"The moment I heard the noise I knew what it was," Mr. Krug said.

"First of all, the trees started to slide about 1,000 feet up the mountain, then she gained speed and started to pile up like a big snowball."

Trees, underbrush and mud rolled up into a huge 300-foot-wide wall as it rushed down the hill which has an angle of about 45 degrees.

HOUSES CRUMPLED

"It was 50 feet deep when it hit the houses and just pushed them ahead and crumpled them up and buried them.

"No one was outside the houses when they were hit," he said, scotching a belief that some of the seven victims may have rushed outside when they heard the noises and were separated from the buildings.

"It was about four minutes

ROYAL ROMANCE

Palace Denies New Appeal By Margaret

(See story page 15)

LONDON (AP) — Buckingham Palace informants today described as nonsense reports published abroad that Princess Margaret has made a tearful new appeal to the Queen for permission to marry Group Capt. Peter Townsend.

Sources at the court suggested similar reports could be expected in anticipation of Townsend's expected return to Europe. Some informants here expect Townsend to visit London again within the next several weeks at the end of a round-the-world trip which he started after Margaret renounced him two years ago.

Tight-Money Ease To Aid Municipalities

OTTAWA (CP)—Prime Minister Diefenbaker today forecast some easing of provincial and municipal financial burdens in their borrowing costs and in relief expenditures for the needy.

He said an easing of the tight-money situation will help both municipalities and provinces in borrowing money for new projects.

Proposed, federal legislation to extend the period for special wintertime unemployment insurance benefits, he said, "will substantially relieve the provinces and municipalities of the burden of unemployment assistance this coming winter."

Mr. Diefenbaker, in a speech opening the federal-provincial fiscal conference, also offered, if the provinces wish, to go further in the sharing of unemployment relief costs with the provinces.

'T-BRICKS FOR KOREA'

10,000 Orphans Roaming Streets in Hunt for Food

By DINAH KERR

Tuberculosis is the greatest peacetime enemy in Korea today.

The number-one killer roams unchecked through the caves, tents and cardboard shacks that thousands of Koreans call home.

Its accomplices are malnutrition, poverty and cold.

Last winter in Korea was the coldest in 33 years. Snow blocked the entrances to the shabby dwellings, hung from the ragged clothing of the orphaned young, leaving a shroud of misery and hardship over the Yuletide season.

Tuberculosis followed in its wake, striking one in four. The children of Korea do not have the strength to fight back. They need nourishment and rest.

Instead, some 10,000 Korean orphans must roam the streets in all weather, begging and stealing food in order to keep alive.

The Times, opening a campaign Saturday in co-operation with the Unitarian Services Committee, is asking readers to buy a brick, 10 bricks, 100 bricks, at 10 cents each to build a TB out-patients' pavilion with beds for 40 tubercular children

Five Year Highway Development Plan

(Special to the Times)

OTTAWA — Premier Bennett today called on the federal government to contribute up to $410,000,000 over the next five years for highway development in B.C.

The proposal was contained in the brief presented to the federal-provincial conference.

The brief also called for a bigger share of tax revenue collected by Ottawa under the present tax-rental agreement.

The premier said the provinces should receive 25 per cent of the yield from corporate and personal income taxes, and 50 per cent of succession duties.

With other adjustments, this would increase the estimated rental payment to B.C. during 1957 from $59,000,000 to $85,000,000, a boost of $26,000,000.

The ambitious five-year highway program suggested to the federal government estimated a total expenditure of $523,807,000, of which Ottawa would contribute $409,606,000.

Basis for this figure is the suggestion that the federal government should pay 90 per cent of the cost of primary highways and 50 per cent of secondary highways.

Annually the cost would be $81,927,200 to Ottawa and $22,834,200 for B.C.

The brief also proposes that the federal government:

1. Arrange for municipalities to borrow at not more than two per cent interest;
2. Assist technical and uuniversity education by greater sharing in capital construction and operation;
3. Broaden unemployment assistance agreements;
4. Start the national health program immediately.
5. Launch a national development program across the country.

Premier Invites Trade Parley Here

The Premier said he had determined that accommodation for the large number of delegates expected would be available in the B.C. capital during the latter part of September and early part of October.

The Legislative chamber could be used as the main meeting place, he said.

"To emphasize our concern with the problems of trade, and to mark the first 100 years of history as an organized territory, I would like to extend to the federal government an invitation to fix the place of this Commonwealth conference in Victoria," the premier said in his brief presented to the federal-provincial conference.

Bigger Slice of Tax Sought by Provinces

OTTAWA (CP)—Canada's 10 provincial premiers, given a clear field in which to present their demands for a better tax deal from the federal government put in their bids at today's opening session of the federal-provincial conference.

Ontario's Premier Frost, first of the 10 to speak, reiterated demands that the provinces be given a bigger slice of the rich personal and corporation income tax fields.

He added a new request: That logging and mining companies be allowed to deduct from their federal tax liability the full amount of provincial taxation.

Premier Duplessis of Quebec, making no specific requests, called for a new definition of taxing powers and simpler tax-collection methods. Like Mr. Frost, he said the federal share of the tax pie is too large.

Premier Stanfield of Nova Scotia proposed that the federal government pay a "Maritime adjustment grant" to make up for deficiencies in the tax po

Greek Prince Dies in Paris After Illness

PARIS (Reuters) — Prince George of Greece, uncle of the Duke of Edinburgh and of the Duchess of Kent, died in Paris last night. He was 88. He had been ill for some time.

from the time the slide left the top until it settled in a muddy, gooey mess at the bottom," Mr. Krug said Sunday night after he had completed his shift at the scene where searchers believe they are within 15 to 20 feet of some of the bodies.

The entire base of the slide, which varies in depth from 20 to 40 feet, is a muddy tangle of bits of houses, trees, tree roots and huge logs.

The slide pushed the houses of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Perry, Mr. and Mrs. John Murray and George Henderson across Wantage Road and 300 feet beyond into Oldfield Creek.

It was in Oldfield Creek that city truck driver, Lee Intermel, accompanied by Frederick Faulkner Jr., city loader operator, discovered 18-month-old Selma Murray, daughter of two of the victims.

HEARD CRYING

"I heard a child crying," Mr. Intermel said. "We had been blocked off by the slide and we had to go through the woods to the creek where the houses had been pushed."

"I saw a hand sticking up out of the water and when I tore some shingles and debris away I saw the baby sitting there as if she had been carried down in a crib or something.

Nearby, workers found the crushed body of five-month-old James Murray and it is in the vicinity of the two discoveries that crews worked all day Sunday.

Work has gone on continuously since just after noon Friday with city works superintendent Carl Gustafson in charge of the search. There are 50 persons working in oilskins both on the blocked road and in the bed of diverted Oldfield Creek.

Clothes, mattresses and household effects were unearthed at the 20-foot face at the base of the slide giving workers hope they were nearing their objective.

A power shovel is digging out the road so that a 30-foot wooden bridge also swept away by the slide can be replaced.

The road leads to the Canadian National Telegraph repeater station through which the telegraph and teletype wires pass.

Floodlights were set up again Sunday so that work could continue until the bodies are found.

HOUSES CLEARED

Occupants of houses in the immediate vicinity have been evacuated in case further slides occur. The rain has been practically continuous since Friday and it still was raining Sunday night.

Mr. Ayres, editor of the Prince Rupert Daily News, said the landslide area was the worst scene he had witnessed since the days of the Second World War when rescuers were searching bombed house rubble.

"It's almost the same," he said, "tired, weary men are knee deep in mud and twisted branches, clawing away at the mud banks, pulling out clothing and wondering whether it is near a body.

"One minute they are pulling away a log with a tractor, the next they are scraping away with their fingers to get a piece of blanket or pair of trousers, not knowing whether they are actually near one of the victim's bodies or whether they have struck a clothes closet.

"The whole thing is a shambles and the way the slide churned the houses into matchwood, the bodies could be anywhere."

In response to a brief welcoming speech by the prime minister, Newfoundland's Premier Smallwood expressed what is on the minds of all premiers:

"We are pinning a lot of faith on this conference. We need a lot of help. We hope we are going to get it."

Although Mr. Diefenbaker disclosed no detailed federal tax-sharing proposal, apart from an assurance that no province will be asked to take a cut in its present share, he announced that his Conservative government is prepared to move ahead on other fronts.

These included a speedup in the start of federal payments for hospital insurance, extension of federal aid for provincial relief costs, provision of more lending money for home building, special aid to the Atlantic provinces and possible federal contributions toward institutional care of TB and mental patients.

However, on the last two points—aid to the Atlantic provinces and sharing of TB and mental costs — Mr. Diefenbaker made it clear that the extent of federal aid will be up to the provinces. Any extra federal health costs, he said, would have a bearing on the eventual tax-sharing decision.

The present tax-sharing plan, started last April 1, provides a 10-9-50 formula for the three direct tax fields shared by federal and provincial governments—personal and corporation income tax and succession duties.

FEDERAL PAYMENTS

Provinces which do not collect those taxes receive federal payments based on 10 per cent federal personal income tax collections in the province, nine per cent of taxable corporation income and 50 per cent of succession duties.

All but Ontario and Quebec have done this. Where those two provinces collect their own direct taxes, the federal tax is reduced on the 10-9-50 formula.

Premier Frost called for a 15-15 formula on personal and corporation taxes. The present share was "not realistic" and did not meet Ontario's needs for expansion.

Business Tax Flow 'Slow'

Victoria city business tax collections were reported "slow but steady" today.

Only about $14,000 of a potential collection of $185,000 has been received from city merchants.

Due date is Dec. 15.

It is reported the smaller dealers have been more prompt than the larger firms where payment is required to be authorized often in eastern headquarters.

ZHUKOV BACKER HEADED FOR TOP DEFENCE POST

BERLIN (AP)—Marshal Andrei Grechko, commander of Soviet forces in East Germany, today was reported under orders to go to Moscow to become deputy defence minister.

Western intelligence sources say Grechko will be replaced by army Gen. Zakharow, commander of the Leningrad military district.

A promotion for Grechko would surprise many Western observers, since in the past he has been identified with the ousted Soviet defence minister, Marshal Georgi Zhukov.

BUT AUDIENCE LIKED PLAY

Confused Opening, Then Weak Ending

By AUDREY ST.D. JOHNSON

"The Mousetrap," by Agatha Christie.

Molly Ralston	Joy Congdon
Giles Ralston	G. M. Hewlett
Christopher Wren	Gilbert Brown
Mrs. Boyle	Olive Keane
Major Metcalf	Harold Bellamy
Miss Casewell	Yvonne Hogan
Mr. Paravacini	Roy Blodgett
Det.-Sgt. Trotter	Russ Gurney

Director: Mrs. Phyllis Dulmage.

A slightly confused opening and a weak ending did not prevent the Victoria Theatre Guild production of this murder drama from entertaining, amusing and even thrilling a couple of hundred patrons Saturday night at Langham Court Theatre.

The technical slip-up that marred the play's opening atmosphere, doubtless will not occur again; the loose-jointed ending is another matter. It is simply a case of poor theatrical writing and could be much strengthened by some bold pruning.

From the direction standpoint there was considerable skill in evidence. Interesting grouping which was knowledgable in matters of emphasis, pattern of movement and rhythm, was utilized by Mrs. Dulmage.

INEFFECTIVE

Actors were much helped by spacious and effective setting which gave them full depth of stage for uninhibited movement. There was room for improvement in the fireplace, or at least the fire—an important prop all during the first act and a miserably ineffective one in this case.

Characterizations on the whole were good. Joy Congdon was well cast and has many pleasing qualities. She is confident and charming and would be all the more so if she would conquer the somewhat distracting mannerism of emphasizing all her speeches with head movements.

First class indeed were the performances of Olive Keane in a scolding, irascible role, and Harold Bellamy as a non-aggressive army major. Mrs. Keane's delineation was vivid, clearly etched and consistent in speech, gesture, tempo and gait.

CONVINCING

Overcolored but nevertheless sincere portrayals were given by Gilbert Brown and Roy Blodgett. G. M. Hewlett is another competent actor who presented a convincing portrait to the line-up. Yvonne Hogan, while not always audible, did a nice piece of work.

In the case, however, of Detective Sergeant Trotter, both director and actor need to reconsider the interpretation. Lack of subtlty, failure to plant an important mannerism at the outset, lead in part to a loss of impact and a much weakened denouncement.

Russ Gurney brought tremendous strength, authority and ability to the role, but an insufficient understanding of its requirements.

The sell-out audience found the production good entertainment, judging from the several curtain calls. It will be repeated nightly throughout this week.

Bootlegger Chou Jah, 515 Cormorant, was fined $300 or three months at hard labor when a plea of guilty was entered in city police court today.

Police said a man was observed coming out of the premises with two and a half cases of beer, and Jah was subsequently identified as the seller.

"I took it to Maynard's and asked them to sell the sketch book separately because I thought it might be worth something. I didn't really have a hunch, it was just that it was so old."

"I remember selling the book as though it was yesterday. I can still see Mr. Klaverwyden's finger shaking as he made the final bid," he said.

"This is the first time anything like this has happened in the firm's 56 years when we have sold 1,400,000 lots."

INHERITED

Mrs. Stevenson inherited the sketch book from Eleanor Dunsmuir who died in 1938. Miss Dunsmuir, who travelled abroad extensively, had left the book among her possessions in a house in Comox.

"I've talked to the family about it and we feel she must have bought it while travelling in Europe," Mrs. Mitchell said. "So the book really has been to Vancouver Island twice.

"It must be fate that made me go to Monte Carlo when I did, bring back the sketch book and then put it up for auction just when a real art devotee was attending the sale.

"I'm really glad he got it. No one else would have been able to bring its value to light. I've got no regrets because I never would have done it."

AMAZED

Mrs. Mitchell admitted her first reaction when she read the story of the find was complete amazement.

"I was reading it in bed and when I saw the first line I knew it was the sketch book. My stomach just about turned over and my eyes popped out, but as soon as everything got back into place I was glad, really glad.

"I phoned Mr. Klaverwyden to congratulate him and yesterday I was strutting around thinking to myself, 'I touched the Goya book'. I really feel as though I've made a contribution to art by not throwing it out despite the maggots."

"To think I had it lying around in any old drawer while I was on Rockland. If I'd known it was so valuable, I'd have been scared to leave the place untended for a single minute," she chuckled.

"I can't help laughing about it. There I was in Monte Carlo almost flat broke and not knowing that all the time I had a book worth almost $500,000 kicking around."

With the focus being largely on future events, facts and figures such as these form the solid framework on which the promise of the future is based. In the years to come — as it has done since 1817 — the B of M will play a major role in helping to make the picture of Canada's progress grow even brighter.

DEPOSITS: At the end of the Bank's year, October 31st, 1957, over two million Canadians had $2,632,251,291 on deposit at the B of M — the highest year-end total on record. Although much of this money belongs to institutions and business firms, well over half of these deposits represent the personal savings of Canadians in every walk of life — savings that the B of M puts to work for you and for Canada.

LOANS: Your savings at the B of M provide much of the basic framework for our country's expansion . . . in the form of loans to farmers, miners, fishermen, oil men, lumbermen, ranchers, to industrial and business enterprises and to Provincial and Municipal Governments. As of October 31st, B of M loans totalled $1,437,636,447 — all of which played their part in making Canada a better place in which to live.

INVESTMENTS: At the close of the year, the B of M had $657,133,040 invested in high-grade government bonds and other public securities which have a ready market. This money is helping to finance government projects for the betterment of the country and the welfare of all Canadians. Other securities held by the Bank — which include a diversified list of high-quality short-term industrial issues — bring total investments to $872,675,309.

Mac in Paris To Calm French

British, French PMs Meet To Ease Arms Supply Tension

PARIS (CP)—Prime Minister Macmillan of Britain arrived today to try to calm French anger over British-U.S. arms shipments to Tunisia, an issue menacing NATO unity.

Macmillan said in a statement he is determined to see that France and Britain stay on friendly terms.

"The issues at stake are too grave for misunderstanding, even among friends," Macmillan told newspaper men at the airport shortly after he arrived for talks with French Premier Felix Gaillard.

"It would be all the more tragic seeing how similar are the problems we have to face together," Macmillan said. "We are in the same boat—don't let us, or anyone else, try to rock it."

Macmillan was accompanied by Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd and Paymaster-General Reginald Maudling, who is in charge of Britain's European free trade area negotiations.

OPENLY ANGRY

Macmillan was met at the airport by Gaillard, who is angry over what he calls a lack of Western support for France's policies in North Africa. The atmosphere was neither exceedingly warm nor noticeably cool. Macmillan will return home Tuesday.

There was no public statement by Gaillard.

Gaillard has hinted strongly that unless some new and solid basis for understanding is found between France and her two main NATO partners, the Dec. 16 NATO "summit" conference will get a cold shoulder here in the host nation.

Fresh yellow posters were plastered on Paris walls proclaiming: "The British and Americans have given arms to the Algerian rebels, via Tunisia."

Two rightest parties called for demonstrations and police officials were on the alert, guarding against outbreaks in the Place de la Concorde, near the U.S. Embassy.

CORNERSTONE LAYING SUNDAY

Cornerstone of a new $205,000 St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church hall on Courtney Street will be laid by the minister, Very Rev. J. L. W. McLean, MA, DD, next Sunday noon following the regular morning service.

The hall, expected to be completed in the late spring of 1958, will include a gymnasium-auditorium, kitchen, church office, nursery, study, Christian education office, social suite and classrooms.

Beck Junior Convicted On Larceny

SEATTLE (AP)—A gruff "hell, no," was Dave Beck Jr's reply to request for comment Saturday night after his conviction by jury on two counts of grand larceny.

The 37-year-old son of the retiring president of the International Teamsters Union was convicted of keeping for his own use $4,650 obtained from the sale of two Teamsters' Union automobiles.

Beck Jr. was allowed to remain at liberty on $3,000 cash bond, and Charles S. Burdell, chief defence counsel, said an appeal will be made.

Sentence on the charge could run to 15 years in penitentiary.

Scottish Brains, Brawn Lauded At Opening of Holyrood House

To the strains of "Scotland the Brave" Victoria Scots took possession of their new home at Holyrood House, McBride Avenue, Saturday afternoon.

Pipe Major Ian Duncan piped the historic air as Lieutenant-Governor Frank Ross cut a ribbon across the main door of the Scottish baronial style building—just seven months after he had laid the foundation stone.

"The Saltire has been our national flag for more than 1,200 years," Major Murray said. "It has been flown with honor over many places, notably at Bannockburn, where we beat the English.

"We Scots in Canada have a heritage and we must guard and cherish it at all times."

Lieutenant-Governor Ross expressed similar sentiments.

"The greatest thing we have outside of our religion is our tradition," he said.

BRAINS, BRAWN

"All the world over you meet representatives of your race and my race. And we can say with all honesty that Scotland's greatest contribution has been her brains and her brawn."

Holyrood House, named after Queen Elizabeth's residence in Edinburgh, was built by the St. Andrew's and Caledonia Society of Victoria at an estimated cost of $65,000.

Without the volunteer labor contributed by members of the society, it is said the building would have cost $100,000.

Holyrood House will serve as a centre for all of Victoria's Scottish activities.

"It will be big enough for the annual indoor meet of the Highland Games Association," said James Marrs, president of the holding company which was formed by the St. Andrew's Society to operate the building.

The dedication was by Rev. J. L. W. McLean, of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, who said:

"The strength of Scottish character has been built into the life of Canada. We pray that Scotland's finest traditions will be enshrined in this building."

St. Andrew's Glee Club sang "Bless This House" and "Auld Lang Syne", after which John Robertson, president of St. Andrew's Society, held a reception in the Ardnahein Room (ardnahein meaning "summit of hospitality").

Miniature gold and silver hammers were awarded 12 women who spent up to 103 hours last summer taking nails out of lumber.

The lumber came from an old barracks building at Patricia Bay which was bought by society members and used either in the construction Holyrood House or sold for funds.

LONG, VARIED CAREER

Funeral Wednesday For City Newsman

Funeral services will be held Wednesday at 11 a.m. at Hayward's for Robert A. Gurney, 69, well-known Victoria newspaperman who died suddenly Sunday morning at his home, 2108 Oak Bay Avenue.

Born at Schreiber, Ont., Mr. Gurney had a career that saw him engaged as an actor, comedian, bartender, soldier, and finally as one of the stalwarts of Victoria Press Limited.

From 1907, when he left school, to 1914, when he joined the army in Winnipeg, he worked as a reporter, survey party chain man, Great Lakes seaman, saw the funeral of King Edward VII in London, worked with a travelling show, and tended bar in Sault Ste. Marie.

He married during the First World War and after discharge worked at Fort William and Port Arthur until 1930, when he moved to Victoria.

MANAGING EDITOR

Going to work for The Daily Colonist, he was successively a reporter, night editor, news and managing editor, and magazine editor. He had a directing hand in all the major news developments of his time, and was managing editor during the Second World War when the volume of news was heavy and staffs were consistently undermanned.

When the Times and Colonist moved into the same building, Mr. Gurney had a great deal to do with building a new library from the components of both papers. He was head librarian and actively engaged in his work until stricken by a heart attack a month ago. He had returned to his home just a few hours before his death.

Surviving are the widow, Blanche, and one son, at home; a daughter, Mrs. David Stark, Victoria; a brother, George, in Barriefield, Ont., and a sister, Mrs. Edith Burgess, in Wisconsin.

Interment will be at Royal Oak.

Tissue Paper Starts Fire

Fire in a furnace duct threatened the home of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Douglas, 3258 Irma, Saturday afternoon.

Flames and smoke caused more than "several hundred dollars" damage.

Had the fire broken out minutes later, three young children would have been alone in the house while Mr. Douglas drove his wife to work.

He had just gone into a bedroom to put on his coat and discovered a wall in flames. It had caught from tissue paper in the hot-air duct, spreading as far as the attic before arrival of Saanich firemen.

Maiden Run Scheduled Tuesday For New Island Tug Oil Barge

Island Tug and Barge Ltd. will launch a new operation Tuesday when its first oil barge makes its maiden run from Vancouver to Prince Rupert.

The 10,000-barrel barge, largest on the B.C. coast, recently was completed by Allied Builders in Vancouver. Construction took three months and cost more than $150,000.

Donald Elworthy, of Island Tug, said the barge will be used to transport bulk oil products from Vancouver to points on Vancouver Island and the mainland coast.

TO DEVELOP

"We've towed oil company barges before but this is the first time we will be supplying both tug and barge," he said. "We expect this to develop into a big thing because pipelines can't serve every spot in B.C. The geography of the coast, with all its nooks and crannies, leads itself to tug and barge service."

However, no immediate plans have been made for construction of a second barge.

ANOTHER FIRST

A record will be broken in another field next week when 150 huge smelting pots, weighing 10 tons each, are delivered at Kitimat by a company tug.

The pots will be towed from Portland by the Island Sovereign tug on a 5-day trip starting Wednesday. It will be the largest single shipment of the pots made by the Victoria firm which has delivered 120 pots at a time in seven previous trips.

The pots 24½ by 14½ feet and 3½ feet deep, will form the aluminum plant's eighth smelting potline.

Cutting Up the Pie

THE FEDERAL AND PROVINCIAL Governments have opened in Ottawa today what Mr. Bennett calls the most important conference in their history. Perhaps it is the most important, but we need expect no immediate results from it.

The Diefenbaker Government has hardly been in office long enough to devise a new federal-provincial taxation policy. Moreover, its high pre-election promises to the provincial governments cannot be lightly set aside nor easily fulfilled.

It will be surprising, therefore, if the current conference does more than explore the ground and arrange for action in the Government's first regular budget, early next year. It will not be surprising if all these problems are postponed until after another national election.

This is an extremely complex business which only experts can hope to understand in detail. It is a business of both finance and politics.

Putting it roughly, the Diefenbaker Government has virtually promised Ontario, the richest province, a large increase in revenue, about $100 millions. At any rate, if Premier Frost does not get a sum of about that size he will feel that his decisive help to Mr. Diefenbaker in Ontario last June was wasted.

These extra revenues would be assured to Ontario by a change in the formula worked out, after years of negotiation, by the Liberal Government. That is to say, Ontario would receive a larger fraction of the income, corporation and succession duty taxes now collected from the nation at large by the Federal Government.

But if Ontario is to receive more revenue so—in both justice and in politics—must the other provinces. All of them are clamoring for a larger share of the nation's pie, even British Columbia which spends far more proportionately than any other province and boasts that it has gigantic revenue surpluses.

Assuming that Ontario is given an extra sum of about a hundred millions, the same proportionate grants to the other provinces would total something like two hundred millions, or a total extra drain on the federal treasury of about three hundred millions.

This cost, on top of recent pension increases and other higher expenditures under a Government which has promised drastic economy, must daunt the new finance minister, Mr. Fleming, especially when he has promised also to reduce taxes.

There is no end to the provinces' demands. But there is certainly an end to the Federal Government's revenues and the national taxpayer's ability to pay. That end is now clearly in sight, for federal tax collections have lately begun to fall.

How Mr. Fleming proposes to square this alarming circle the public does not know. Probably Mr. Fleming doesn't know himself. We can hardly expect him to perform a quick miracle in Ottawa this week. More likely, the provinces must wait some time for a final answer, possibly until the national polls close next year.

Japan and Alaska's Salmon

Alaska salmon are an important contributor to the U.S. fisheries industry and to the world's supply of food. And the Alaska fisheries have been going downhill rapidly.

Under these circumstances, it may be natural for Mr. Milo Moore, head of the State Fisheries Department of Washington to criticize inroads allegedly being made by Japanese into those fishing grounds.

He is indignant, moreover, at the refusal of Canadian representatives on the International North Pacific Fisheries Commission, "to recognize or to consider the findings of three years' research on salmon presented in support of the United States proposal to establish a conservation zone in the area where a large concentration of Asian and American stocks of salmon are found intermingling."

Merely because the issue involves Alaska salmon, Canada is no disinterested by-stander in this problem. And if Canadian representatives, knowledgeable men experienced in fisheries matters, were convinced of the merit of the United States' case, the Canadians would doubtless support it. Their unwillingness to provide such support indicates more than a haphazard disregard for what is an immediate United States interest, but is of close concern to Canada.

This country is a member of the joint commission with the United States and Japan. Its purpose is to protect fisheries, mainly salmon, in the North Pacific from a degree of exploitation which could lead to total destruction of the species.

If the determining factor in the reduction of Alaska salmon is the invasion of Japanese fishermen, Canadians are automatically interested and for two reasons.

In the first place, if the Japanese are seriously depleting the Alaska fisheries, the British Columbia salmon are immediately in jeopardy, because fishermen will come here to make their hauls where salmon are when they can't catch them elsewhere.

Secondly if Japan is over-fishing Alaska salmon waters and getting away with it, Japanese fishermen will very soon be using the same exploitation tactics further south.

Experts on the subject contend that Alaska salmon would be going down with or without the Japanese threat because of American fishing and for certain unknown reasons.

If the Japanese are fishing improperly—and in violation of terms of the fisheries treaty—they should be stopped, of course. But if they are merely to be shut out of a North Pacific area because some other cause has resulted in the depletion of Alaska salmon, an injustice would be thrust upon them.

Japanese fishermen have no native salmon because Japan has no salmon streams. They have been frightened off some of the Siberian fishing grounds by Russia. They have signed the North Pacific fisheries convention and if they are living up to its terms, they deserve consideration.

They, no less than the United States and Canada, must recognize the first objective of the fisheries treaty. That is to preserve the raw material of their industry. If they fish out an area, their people go hungry too.

The Japanese are being blamed for the Alaska salmon shortage. Before Canada joins in that condemnation its representatives doubtless want to know just how much Alaska fish Japanese fishermen are taking.

They also want to know if the new American proposal will work. And apparently they are not convinced by research to date that the United States' proposal presents a solution.

The Long Haul

AS THE NEW YORK TIMES OBserves, the Western world faces not only the short haul of an armament crisis but the long haul of a social crisis. It has to provide not only improved weapons at breakneck speed but a permanent expansion of scientific knowledge to match the growing science of Russia.

All this, The Times thinks, can and will be accomplished now that the hard choices before us are illuminated by the Russian moonlets. "But as we go into the long haul we must be careful not to change our civilization for the worse in our struggle to preserve it." In resisting our enemies we must not become like them. In developing our science we must not make ourselves into mechanical men.

"We shall continue to need," The Times argues, "a wholly disinterested inquiry into truth. We shall continue to need liberty; for if we do not have these things, what is there to defend?"

Such questions may seem to be purely academic in the short haul of a rockets race. In the long haul of many years, and probably decades to come, no question could be more relevant and urgent.

We can certainly match and outdo the Russians in science if we set our minds and energies to it. Can we also preserve the things that distinguish Western from Russian civilization? We can, provided we keep our minds trained on our true objective in the long haul. It is something much larger, and more difficult, than the manufacture of weapons.

Thanks for Telling Us.

FROM WASHINGTON By WALTER LIPPMANN

Interdependence and Vetoes

IN the light of what Secretary Dulles and Secretary McElroy have been saying at their press conferences last week, the controlling fact in the discussions about NATO is that we now expect the Soviet Union to produce—some years before we do—missiles which can fly the distance between Russia and America. We are, it appears, less far behind the Russians in missiles which can fly the shorter distance between Western Europe and Russia.

Lippmann

Therefore, we are proposing to our allies that we, in co-operation with them, set up launching sites for medium range missiles in Western Europe. This, it is believed, will deter the Soviet Union both from launching the long range missiles against the United States and the medium range missiles against Britain, France, Germany and the rest of Western Europe.

Need Wide Consent

This will indeed mean a very high degree of what the President and the Prime Minister have called "interdependence." Under this arrangement our main defence can be used only if our European allies separately and jointly consent. Their main defences can be used only if we, plus the other members of NATO, jointly and severally consent. This interlocking system, which looked at negatively is really a system of vetoes, is likely to work successfully only if the issue is an unmistakable, open and flagrant aggression against a member of the NATO organization.

But if the issue is outside NATO, whether in Africa, the Middle East, or Eastern Asia, the interlocking vetoes of the interdependent system are likely to prevail. NATO is not likely to have a collective policy. We have seen this in Korea, Formosa, Suez, Cyprus and French North Africa.

This basic situation has led to the search for formulae. Usually they are of two kinds.

Few Clear Situations

One is to work out theoretically the answers to all sorts of imaginary situations which might arise if there were various kinds of trouble. These exercises, which are the proper business of military planners, cannot be taken too seriously by statesmen. Except in the case of direct and overt attack, there are no clear situations which can be defined in advance, and made the subject of binding commitments to go to war.

The alternative is to seek formulae of consultation by which the allies can work out a common position and a collective line of action. This must, of course, be attempted. There should be continual consultation. But we must not deceive ourselves. There are diverse interests within NATO, and when these interests are regarded as vital, the greater powers, though they consult the others, will not feel themselves bound in all cases to abide by the judgment of the others.

Stalemate Trend

Students of collective action are, I think, well aware that the general tendency of coalitions among sovereign states is to become stalemated and inactive. That is to say, the veto prevails. Thus, there is a stalemate in Eastern Asia because the United States government exercises a steadfast veto against dealing with Red China. There is therefore no allied policy on the Chinese question. France, of course, exercises a veto in North Africa, and anything in the nature of mediation is strictly and sternly forbidden. The British have a veto in Cyprus. Dr. Adenauer has a veto on the German problems.

The over-all effect of these interlocking vetoes is to inhibit the non-Communist world from any iniative, from any capacity to negotiate, from adopting any policy except to stand pat in statu quo. It is this frozen immobility on our side which provides the Soviet Union with one opportunity after another to score hits in the game of power politics.

DEADLIEST DANGER

Unless we manage to establish a friendly and civilized relationship with colored people in Britain then—quite apart from trade—not only will our position in the world deteriorate, but the position of the Western world itself will be in jeopardy. For the most likely way for Communism to spread throughout Asia and Africa is not by the use of the hydrogen bomb—which would be suicidal to millions of Communists as well—but through dislike and distrust of the West among the newly emerging nations of colored people.

—Aidan Crawley talking about West Indian immigration to Britain.

STRANGE BREED

A reporter is a cross between an undertaker and a second footman: an undertaker because he is always present at scenes of death and distress; and a second footman because he meets such interesting people under such humiliating circumstances.

'To Blow Off Steam'

So Trade Minister Churchill at Ottawa is trotting off to Britain to boost up trade with Britain. He asks the question "If we depend on U.S.A. can we stay free?"

What a stupid thing to say of our near neighbors who are of the same blood as ourselves at some time in history and possibly of a time when they are better mixtures than they are today. I mean better bloods.

He asks "If we are economically dependent? That is the question which will have to be decided by the present generation."

Oh, Mr. Churchill, are you a blood relative of Winston Churchill who thinks he is "top dog" of all nations and always has, that you can dictate to Canadians even as to what they should do?

This same Sir Winston "who always goes to the House of Commons with a cigar a foot long in his mouth," on Tuesday, Nov. 19, actually voted against old age pensioners getting cheap tobacco, a Labor member of parliament complained in the House of Commons. Good for him, I say. We need a strong good Labor government in Canada, of the right kind though, not afraid to blow off steam for the good of the people who placed them there.

Tokens of Things to Come

As I generally read the editorial page and letters to the editor, I was interested in the letter by Walter W. Josephs, Lee Avenue, re novelist Jules Verne, in your paper of Nov. 20.

As a boy some 50 years ago I remember quite well reading "20,000 Leagues Under the Sea," "Around the World in Eighty Days" and "To the Moon and Return."

As Mr. Josephs says these novels were considered absolutely fantastic, but now all but the last have been accomplished and this seems quite possible or even probable. What the future holds no one living can foretell, but science and physics are moving faster and faster, and as the poet and prophet Alfred Tennyson says in his poem "Locksley Hall," written in the 1860's. ". . . . that which they have done, but tokens of the things that they shall do. . ."

Also in a sadder vein, again to quote, "Knowledge comes but wisdom lingers and she bears a laden breast, full of sad experience."

If only knowledge and science could be used for construction instead of destruction this old world would be a lot better place to live in.

CHARLES LACEY.

Ludicrous Joke

The highway minister's road signs, "Sorry for the inconvenience; temporary paving," etc., are a ludicrous joke and an insult to any intelligent person.

If Mr. Gaglardi was sincere regarding these apologetic signboards, he would, after five years of close inspection, remove the cause of highway bottlenecks and blunders.

I maintain he is not sorry at all. There should be nothing temporary about the Malahat asphalt mulch or any other government project.

The tragic and exasperating part of these projects is the hard fact that amidst all this professional ignorance, there are employees right on the job who know the work from A to Z, but must remain silent and submissive, working in either supressed anger, or stifled laughter at the antics of amateurs.

The old-time engineers, who were real engineers, had experience and wisdom enough to use to the fullest extent all the skills and abilities of their staffs. The efficient conclusion of the job in hand was more soul-satisfying to them than any personal conceit.

Small wonder the treasury is flat; how could it be otherwise under such policies?

Salute to Hockey Fans

I would like to pay a little salute to Victoria sports fans. The way in which they have supported the last-place Cougars is very encouraging.

It used to be said that Victoria was a "first-place" town only. But now it is clear that they will support a club which is trying. The Cougars seem to be running in bad luck. They have lost five out of six games in overtime.

My guess is that they will pack Memorial Arena when they start a winning streak.

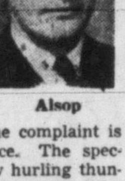
FROM AMMAN, JORDAN By JOSEPH ALSOP

Uncritical Crises

WHAT has been unkindly described as the vulture branch of the newspaper business largely consists in flying from a crisis-situation to crisis-situation. If there is no trouble, there is no news, so you do not go there.

Maybe persons in a trade so akin to ambulance chasing have no right to complain about anything. All the same this reporter would like to register a mild complaint against the current Washington tendency to succumb to exaggerated attacks of the jitters.



Alsop

The fault is not always seeing crises where no crises exist. The complaint is based on recent experience. The spectacle of Nikita Khrushchev hurling thunderbolts of war from the ramparts of the Kremlin is never reassuring. Perhaps the American policymakers were right to take his threats to Turkey as seriously as they did.

None the less, after a hasty journey to the storm-centre in Ankara, it was a bit surprising to find the Turks exhibiting the most stolid and phlegmatic indifference to Khrushchev's menaces. At this seeming peak of danger, all four of the Turkish chiefs of staff, the chairman and the heads of all three of the armed services, had cast off their military uniform to run for Parliament. The Prime Minister, Adnan Menderes, blandly explained that his chiefs of staff were getting near the retirement age anyway, so "this was really their last chance to start a new career in politics."

Maladroit Reaction

Possibly this was carrying phlegm a mite too far. But one could not help reflecting that a little of the Turkish stolidity would have been a big help to Secretary of State Dulles, especially during the slightly earlier events in Syria. The pro-Soviet coup in Damascus was bad enough, God knows, but it was made about five times more damaging by the extreme excitability and resulting fantastic maladroitness of Washington's reaction.

These reflections gained force from the sequel. There was hardly time to catch one's breath after the hurried flight to Ankara, before the news came that the Washington policy-makers were again up on their tin ears, this time because of a dire threat to the government of King Hussein of Jordan.

Once again, the threat looked real enough from a distance. For a long period, the Syrian intelligence organization headed by Col. Abdel Hamid Serraj and the Jordanian officers involved in last spring's plot against King Hussein had succeeded in promoting terror-bombings in Jordan. The purpose was psychological. The bombs were no more than windowbreakers. But the daily explosions caused natural dismay.

Finally, King Hussein uncovered and imprisoned the ring of bomb-planters, mainly soldiers who had been easily suborned because they were personally connected with the officer-plotters of last April. Immediately, Gamal Abdel Nasser's Cairo radio opened an incomparably obscene and violent campaign against the young king, screaming objurgations, shouting ludicrously false accusations of complicity with Israel, and even openly calling for the king's assassination.

All this, so it was said, was taken with utmost seriousness by the Washington policy-makers. If there was real danger to King Hussein and his government, moreover, it was an acutely serious matter; for little Jordan is the present key to the rest of the troubled Middle East. So there followed another hurried air journey to Amman, and a second vivid shock of surprise to find everything in this little city as outwardly peaceful as a May morning.

Self-Contained Man

The young King and his principal collaborator in government, Deputy Prime Minister Samir Rifai, certainly have enough problems on their hands to keep any two men busy. Certainly the burden of responsibility of these last seven months, the months since the April crisis which gave the King alone the task of maintaining Jordan's independence, have transformed young Hussein from a courageous boy into a serious, rather grim-jawed, exceptionally self-contained man. But both King Hussein and Samir Rifai could hardly have seemed more unconcerned when they received this somewhat breathless reporter.

The bombing ring had been utterly broken, they pointed out calmly; and although they expected Col. Serraj to organize similar attempts in the future, they were sure they could break those too. As for the filthy vilifications poured out by the Cairo radio, those had proved self-defeating. The lies were so transparently lies that the biggest fool in Jordan knew them for what they were.

"I feel very confident indeed that I can maintain the situation here against any threats or incitements to crime," the young King told me calmly. "It's my duty and I know I can do it. Here in Jordan, we have the task of defending our country and all the Arab lands against a new kind of imperialism, Soviet imperialism, and we are not going to fail."

Jittery at a Distance

So another crisis proved to be uncritical, when seen on the spot. But why, one still wonders, were the Turkish and Jordanian leaders, who were after all the men in the front line, so much calmer than the Washington policy-makers in both these curious cases?

Surely the answer lies in the fact that the Washington policy-makers are haunted by the terrible consciousness that they have shockingly neglected the general balance of power, and that they are still not doing nearly enough to redress the balance. Surely it is this gnawing consciousness of a broad unlocalized danger that gives every breeze and threat and local Soviet manoeuvre the semblance of a crisis nowadays.

A WOMAN'S OUTLOOK By RUTH ENKE

Under the Oaks

Ruth

THEY tell me Oak Bay's changed. "You wouldn't know the place, my dear.")

Certainly, it's changed a little from my childhood days when Currie was Longbranch and Linkleas just a muddy lane. The streets are shorter, the hill on Island Road is nothing, the street cars no longer sway and bounce around "the Bend."

But I could swear that the same people are striding round the golf links—beamish women with sturdy shoes and tweedy men who still swear under their breath when the dirty little pill goes rolling down the hill and lands right in the bunker. (My first cuss words were learned from an Anglo-Indian type who never knew that a big-eared little pitcher was crouched in the broom bushes next to the bunker, and memorizing each delicious, unfamiliar word!)

It's hardly possible, but I could swear that the same dogs are trotting up and down the Avenue, or being taken for their constitutional. For, in Oak Bay; "walking the dog" isn't one of the tricks you do with yo-yos.

The same hairy, hearty types are playing rugger in Windsor Park. But I don't gaze up at them as I did when I was a child and the muddy panting seemed a little frightening. Instead, I wonder how on earth they have the energy. I even nod sagely when the man in the old trench coat says, "Ruggah and a cold showah every day and we'd have none of this—ah—juvenile delinquency."

The same sweet-faced, middle-aged mothers with a sort of casual disregard for dress are watching rugby or cricket, or grass hockey and saying things like, "Did your boy go to St. Michael's?" and "She used to go to St. Christopher's, didn't she?"

And, this month, here and there you hear a woman saying that she's girding her loins for Christmas because of the English mail, you know.

They're swopping—not trading—the English papers and magazines as they did when I was a child and will still be doing long after I am dead and gone. ("We'd love to pass the Countryman on to you, if you'll let us have Punch when you're finished with it.") The Spectator, the Guardian, the Observer, the Listener, Blackwoods—quietly they all change hands because we do like to know what they're saying over there.

If you mention Lollobrigida or Jayne Mansfield, you may draw a blank. But refer to Mrs. Tiggywinkle or Jeremy Fisher, and there's an instant smile of recognition. ("My dear, I was brought up on Beatrix Potter." Or, if they're older, it's "Of course, Beatrix Potter was a little after my day, but she came along in time for my children.")

Well, I know I laugh and tease, but November's such a dreary month that I must have a little fun somehow. Besides, I know the mental attitudes of Oak Bay. And some of the values in that derided code appeal very much to me.

They're a quiet modesty, a sense of justice and fair play, and a steadiness born of discipline and self-control.

Long may these virtues live in Canada.

LONDON LETTER By WALLACE REYBURN

Honeymoon Special

LONDON—Here's an ingenious idea for motor cars—fitted luggage for the boot. The suitcases of various sizes and toning in with the upholstery of the car are part of the standard equipment when you buy it.

Going away on a trip you merely take the suitcases out of the boot and fill them, knowing that they'll fit snugly into the boot. The entire boot is filled, no waste spaces and no juggling around to get all your bags stowed in.

Reyburn

It is as if the boot were divided into removable compartments. And if you want to, you can always use them as ordinary suitcases away from the car.

★ ★ ★

I saw this when I dropped in at the Motor Show. It wasn't a standaard car, it was part of a specially built model. But it struck me as a feature that could well be incorporated in ordinary cars.

How I came upon it was that as I entered the show I caught sight of a Rolls Royce that was different, to say the least. It had huge great fins sticking out the back and I thought for a moment that the Rolls Royce people had gone crazy. Last firm of all to adopt the U.S. fad, surely, would be the ultra-conservative Rolls Royce.

But the man on the display stand soon put me in the picture. It was a product of a body-building firm, hand-made on a Rolls chassis. Only one of them in existence, just unveiled last night and $6,000 more than the regular Rolls.

Already it has become nicknamed the Honeymoon Special. A two-seater convertible with electrically-operated hidden top, it has besides the luggage gimmick a built-in parasol to keep the sun off the bride and full picnic equipment fitted into the doors. "And two cocktail cabinets," said the man.

"Why two?" I asked as he showed me one of them, containing the mixing for gin and tonic. "Is the other for whisky and soda?"

"Yes," he said, surprised. "How did you guess?"

Across the aisle were the regular Rolls Royces and when I went over I couldn't help but gaze in admiration at their top model, the Silver Wraith limousine—a superb $24,000 worth of car.

★ ★ ★

Of course, by today's standards it's old-fashioned looking, with lines that went out just before the war. It must be the last car in the world to retain its original old-style radiator.

And the man on that stand let me into a secret. The radiator, stainless steel not chrome, on Rolls Royces is a phoney, just there for sentimental reasons. The real water tank is inside.

When I asked him why the car's design wasn't modernized, he said: "The folks who ride in these — diplomats and potentates — don't want people to look at the car, they want everyone to look at them." He showed me inside the back, the step you have to go up to get onto the high rear seat—where all can see you.

Of course, if I owned one of those I'd sure like everyone to see me, too.

Liberals Score Bennett Gov't On Sommers Case

PENTICTON (CP)—Premier Bennett and his cabinet were charged with "failing to keep the public informed" on the facts of the Sommers case at a convention of the Okanagan Boundary Liberal Association Friday night.

A resolution on the matter said the association deplored "in the strongest possible manner, the failure of the premier and his cabinet to enquire into the granting of forest management licences by Robert E. Sommers as minister of lands and forests."

Delegates expressed concern at the fact that the Sommers case had been "lying undecided for two years" and said this had adversely affected whole timber industry.

East Germany Key Base For Russian Missiles

BERLIN (AP) — Intelligence sources say Russia has made East Germany a key base area for launching nuclear missiles against vital targets in Western Europe in case of war.

The 22 Russian divisions garrisoning Communist East Germany are known to be equipped with short-range missiles for tactical use.

Western intelligence sources now believe the Russians are readying East German launching sites for their new intermediate range ballistic missiles.

The Soviet IRBMS, whose ranges are estimated to be up to 1,000 miles, could strike from East Germany at the West European capitals, the main NATO defence bases and targets throughout the British Isles.

These missiles could be fitted with either atomic or hydrogen warheads, these sources say.

NEW IMPORTANCE

In the missile age, East Germany is seen taking on new crucial importance in Soviet strategic planning, especially until the Russians can put their intercontinental ballistic missiles into production.

The Russians say they have tested a 5,000-mile ICBM but it is doubted that these missiles are in production.

However, Russia's shorter range IRBMS are thought to be in production and possibly in the field in some quantity.

It could not be learned here if any Soviet IRBMS have shown up as yet in East Germany. But the missiles mounted on mobile carriers could be moved into prepared East German launching sites.

Allied experts report that the Soviet ground divisions in East Germany — comprising 400,000 men in six armies—recently have been streamlined and re-equipped for atomic warfare. In tanks, transport and some categories of light weapons, the Soviet divisions generally are superior to their NATO counterparts.

U.S. Allies Threatened By Russia

LONDON (Reuters) — Moscow Radio Sunday warned West European countries they faced devastion if they were used by the United States to launch an attack on the Soviet Union.

The radio said the British, French, West Germans, Norwegians, Danes and Turks realize only too well that there would be retaliatory blows if their territories were used by the "American imperialists" to attack the Soviet Union or other "peaceful" countries.

The radio said that at the December session of NATO in Paris, the United States will seek consent from its West European allies to station medium-range missiles on their territories.

The Anglo-American plan thus envisaged the abandonment of a considerable amount of sovereignty by the West European countries, and complete subjugation of Western Europe to American direction, the broadcast said.

Canadian Trade Mission Symbol Of Leadership Says Top Briton

LONDON (CP) — Sir David Eccles, president of Britain's board of trade, said today he looks on Canada to provide the leadership in making the Commonwealth a strong and potent power against Communism.

The government's chief trade spokesman told the Canadian trade mission:

"We see in your coming here a signal proof, a sign we have been looking for, that the Commonwealth has not lost its sense of direction, that it has indeed many places further to go."

TARIFF REMOVAL SOUGHT

He made the statement at a luncheon tendered to the 50-man mission by Britain's dollar export council at Claridge's Hotel.

He reminded his audience that Britain is negotiating with Western Europe "to remove completely all tariffs on all industrial goods."

He saw in the mission's visit to Britain a symbol of the Commonwealth's direction. It was from Canada that the Commonwealth expected its new leadership.

Canada's trade mission was informed that Britain intends to maintain all its defences against inflation for at least another six months even though it may bring a political crisis to the Conservative government.

Informants said the view was expressed by British officials that the anti-inflation fight will reduce the demand for goods on the home market and increase the industrial capacity available for Britain's vital export trade.

AT GOOD TIME

Britain therefore feels the mission's visit has come at an excellent time as it will be possible to speed up delivery of goods to Canada.

The Canadians also were informed that as United Kingdom exports to Canada increase, British import curbs on Canadian goods will be reduced progressively.

This might involve the question of discrimination by the U.S. against British imports, but it was understood Britain might not be averse to such discrimination if her markets in Canada were increased substantially.

These other points were brought before the Canadians:

1. Britain still is deeply concerned over her international financial position, considering that her liabilities are extremely heavy. There is also concern here over the growing deficit in British accounts with the dollar area countries.

2. Britain will not put any freeze on wage increases but will not allow the banks to finance them through new loans.

3. Britain will do everything possible to encourage exports to Canada but the government will not consider any specific subsidies to attract exports to Canada alone

4. A British trade mission will be sent to Canada after the Canadian group completes its month-long tour.

Budget Surplus Down As Revenues Decline

The monthly treasury statement, issued by Finance Minister Donald Fleming, said the surplus was $25,700,000 for the month, compared with $68,200,000 a year earlier.

For the first seven months of the fiscal year, April-October, the surplus slipped to $257,200,000 from $341,100,000.

Although revenues from personal income tax in October were higher than last year, there were declines in corporation tax, import tariffs and sales tax. Total revenues fell to $432,900,000 from $437,000,000. Budgetary expenditures for October rose to $407,200,000 from $368,800,000.

The statement noted that the rise of $183,100,000 in spending for the seven months included a $100,000,000 payment to set up the Canada Council.

Higher spending was reported by many of the departments but the biggest jump was in the finance department. For the seven-month period, interest on the public debt rose to $309,998,000 from $301,688,000 and payments to the provinces jumped to $213,588,000 from $195,640,000.

Smith Plans Announcement This Week

Victoria alderman J. Donald Smith said today he will make an announcement "probably later this week" concerning his civic election plans.

Returning to his office today from a vacation in Hawaii, the alderman is the only incumbent due for retirement or re-election who has withheld his intentions.

There is speculation at City Hall that he will announce his candidacy for the mayoralty.

So far Mayor Percy Scurrah is unopposed for a second term. If Ald. Smith runs against him, his seat on council will be vacant. There have been no candidates announced for council.

It is expected Ald. Smith may co-inside his announcement with the regular meeting of city council on Thursday.

75 Attending Weed Committee Parley in City

Seventy-five delegates to the 11th annual meeting of the western section, National Weed Committee, started a two-day technical session at the Empress Hotel here today.

It is meeting under chairmanship of R. E. McKenzie, director of the plant industry branch, Saskatchewan agriculture department.

Delegates heard a report today by Dr. G. Friessen, division of plant science, University of Manitoba, which pointed out that cultivation is the only feasible means of controlling field-scale infestations of couch grass.

Herbicides are mainly useful, he said, for eradication of couch grass patches on locations where sterilization of the soil for one to several years is not objectionable.

Intensive cultivation is also the best means to eradicate Canada thistle.

"Infested fields should be ploughed deeply in the late autumn and cultivated at three-week intervals throughout the next year," he said. Process may have to be repeated a second year to make a complete kill.

Herbicides can be used, but are recommended only on non-crop land.

WINNIPEG (CP) — Grain movement Nov. 22 (1956 bracketed) at western country elevators:

Deliveries: Wheat (CNR) 442,000 bushels (2,095,000); coarse grains (CNR) 421,000 (640,000). Boxcars loaded: Wheat 514 (1,224); coarse grains 494 (225).

British Wool Industry Opposes Tariff Boost

OTTAWA (BUP) — An increase in the tariff against British woollens, as suggested by the Canadian wool industry, would cost the Canadian public $23 million a year, the British wool delegation told the tariff board today.

In a supplementary brief filed with a board hearing on the Canadian wool industry, the British delegation said that the $23 million figure was "understated in favor of the Canadian industry." The total was based on the combined figure of Canadian wool production and imports in 1956, said Gordon F. Henderson, counsel for the British industry.

The extra tariff would amount to 10.9 per cent on the former duty-paid value, Henderson said, and "it could be safely assumed" that the Canadian industry would increase its prices by at least 10 per cent.

Added to this extra cost of cloth to Canadian clothing manufacturers would be their application for a 25 per cent markup on cloth cost, plus 10 per cent sales tax and plus the retailer's markup of from 65 to 70 per cent on his cost. Each of these markups have been stated without challenge by Canadian firms during the hearing, Henderson pointed out.

Big Construction Firm to Establish Branch in B.C.

VANCOUVER (CP) — President A. Douglas McKee of Perini Ltd., one of the biggest construction companies in Eastern Canada, is visiting Vancouver to establish a B.C. branch for the company.

"Industry and commerce follow cheap power and the only big reservoir left in Canada is in B.C.," said Mr. McKee, explaining the reason for the move. He said the company has no definite contracts yet, but wants to share in the province's development.

Toronto engineer James Brennan will head the B.C. office of the company, a subsidiary of the U.S. construction corporation run by Milwaukee Braves owner Lou Perini.

Let's talk REAL ESTATE

By DON WHYTE

BUY OR RENT?

Now I don't mean whether most mortgage payments are lower than most rentals for the same type of accommodation; there is no question of that, for rents are always higher, partly because they must cover maintenance and other overhead that is paid by the landlord.

I am talking about the argument that some theoretical economists put forth, that you can enjoy a definite financial advantage by renting at a reasonable rate and investing the capital that would otherwise be tied up in a house.

This looks good on paper, but I've never seen it work out in practice. People who rent never seem to have that "extra capital that would otherwise be tied up in a house.". On the other hand, people who are making payments on a house are, in effect, using a sort of compulsory savings plan that builds up their investment in the house.

Rent money figured on a 5½% basis amounts to large sums in a few years. $75.00 per month in 10 years amounts to $11,587.82. In 15 years $20,167.00, in 20 years [illegible].

FOR $2,500.00 DOWN, I have a home which is tops for the young family, set in a large treed garden, close to school and beach, three bedrooms, full basement, 5¼% N.H.A. Mortgage at $62.06 per month.

MARKET SUMMARIES

Toronto Recovers From Mild Selling

The Toronto market showed some signs of a rally in heavier afternoon trading, but it was still generally lower as a result of mild selling in the early part of the session.

Industrials were a shade lower on index. Base metals and western oils were each easier while golds had a slim gain.

Oils were pacemakers as the New York market turned irregular in fairly active trading late in the session. Steels and coppers generally were soft. Rails were lower.

AT TORONTO refining oils and pipelines were generally firm. Other industrial groupings, however, had either an equal number of gains and losses or a few more issues on the downside.

Senior base metals were decidedly lower but losses were generally narrow. International Nickel had the biggest decline, down a point to 72½.

In western oils, Central Del Rio, Triad, New British Dominion, Calgary and Edmonton and Okalta were among the index losers.

AT NEW YORK Aluminium Ltd., up ⅜, was a Canadian gainer on the New York exchange. Losers included International Nickel, off ¾; Canadian Pacific ¼ and Hudson Bay Mining ¼.

Canadian gainers on the American exchange included Shawinigan, ¾; Canadian Marconi, ⅛; Preston East Dome, ⅛, and Jupiter Oils, 1-16. Losers included Brazilian Traction, ⅛; Fargo Oil 1-16 and Eureka 1-16.

AT MONTREAL prices were mixed to lower in light trading today on the Montreal Stock Exchange.

In the base metals, International Nickel was down 1½ at 72 and Aluminium was up ⅜ at 29⅞. Refineries were mixed. B.A. was down ½ at 36½ and Imperial Oil was up ½ at 41.

AT LONDON stock market was quiet today, with business too slack for any definite trend to develop.

The death of Sir Ernest Oppenheimer brought early uncertainty in South African gold shares but prices steadied later.

Motors were selectively better and breweries continued to reflect satisfactory dividend statements. Cotton textiles were easier on the uncertain outlook for the industry. Oils opened firm but later reacted.

AT VANCOUVER a dull market saw little change in prices. Peace River Pete sold 9,000 going to 40. Cowichan Copper moved 2,000 at 80. Pioneer Gold sold 1,500 at $1. Trojan moved 3,000 at 25.

Newsprint Output For Two Years Will Show Drop

PORT ARTHUR (CP) — The Canadian newsprint industry will operate at less than capacity for the next couple of years and that is not necessarily a bad thing, according to the president of Abitibi Power and Paper Company Ltd.

D. W. Ambridge said in an interview that American consumption of newsprint has not increased as everyone thought it would. The U.S. took about 75 per cent of Canadian newsprint production but the exchange rate still was affecting sales south of the border.

Mr. Ambridge said the greater production capabilities of Canadian mills and the declining market means that Canada will be able to serve newsprint customers better than in the past.

B.C. Fish Catch For October Down

VANCOUVER (CP) — Value of fresh fish landed in B.C. during October was 40 per cent less than the figure for the same month last year, the department of fisheries announced.

Total landings during the month were valued at $1,412,000 compared with $2,306,000 in October, 1956. Main cause of the decline was the strike of B.C. net fishermen over chum prices.

TODAY'S GRAIN PRICES

WINNIPEG (CP) — Aggressive demand for Canadian flax was the feature at today's trading on the Winnipeg grain exchange.

Prices touched new seasonal highs during the session. Export houses and American interests were among the buyers. Offerings were relatively light. There were indications of a small overseas business during the weekend.

Oats and barley dealings were on domestic lines and prices moved narrowly.

Rye prices were fairly steady in a light and local trade.

Weekend export loadings of Canadian wheat included: United Kingdom 560,000 bushels, Norway 100,000, and small quantities to Belgium, the Netherlands and Guatemala.

Lakehead prices for class two, IWA and domestic wheat were unchanged from Friday.

Knife Attack Kills Two; Suspect Held

MONTREAL (CP) — An elderly widow and her spinster daughter were slain with a knife in their east-end Montreal flat Sunday and half-way across the city a married daughter was attacked in her home and stabbed.

Police are holding the widow's son, Victor, 40, as a material witness. A mental patient on a weekend pass from his hospital, he gave himself up to the RCMP and was turned over to the city police homicide squad.

Mrs. Mary Osborne, 70, and her daughter, Agnes, 39, were killed. Mrs. Ann Johnson, 41, of the west-end Notre Dame de Grace area, the married daughter, was slashed in the back.

PHONED POLICE

Police said Mrs. Johnson told them at 5.10 p.m. in a telephone call she had been attacked by her brother and feared for her mother and her sister.

Girls' Home Delay Seen By Official

David Woodsworth, director of the Family and Children's Service, said today he is "rather dubious" that a group home for socially maladjusted girls will be established next year.

Slow progress of the Community Chest towards a goal of $251,717 has cast a shadow over the project, he said. The Chest has collected little more than $204,000 to date.

DELAY

"We are holding up any action until we see how they come with with their quota," Mr. Wordsworth said. "Then we will talk it over with the budget committee."

The Greater Victoria Welfare Council has recommended that funds for the home be included in the Chest's 1958 budget.

The home would be operated by the Family and Children's Service for delinquent and teenage girls.

The service has considered buying a home, renting, or subsidizing foster parents who would take six to ten girls into their own home.

The charge was laid following the death on May 4 of Lorne Swicker in a traffic accident near Kelowna.

Mr. Justice Ruttan said: "This is a most serious form of offence. You drove at 105 miles per hour and this driving was motivated by selfish consideration.

"After the accident you ran away. I cannot express much sympathy. I had intended imposing three years, but after hearing your arguments I will sentence you to two years."

APPLIANCES IN VICTORIA STORES

Less Work, Better Cooking

"Not only your holiday meals but meals all year round can be special with a modern automatic range," says Mrs. E. R. Whittington, 3275 Beach Drive. The complete cooking unit in her new home includes built-in oven, rotisserie and counter-top range. The unit features eye-level visibility for all oven cooking, away from the top burners, saves labor and valuable space, and does away with bending and stooping. Modern kitchen incorporates all latest labor-savers.

Save Time And Work

"The statement that there is always something excitingly new in home appliances is exceptionally true for Christmas 1957," says Norman Hall, supervisor of B.C. Electric services to dealers.

According to Mr. Hall, wide-awake Victoria dealers carry appliance stocks as up to date as in Montreal, Toronto, Winnipeg and other large cities across the Dominion.

Greater Victoria stores are featuring goods valued at well over $1,000,000 for shoppers in their special "Make It a White Christmas" displays, he said. Sales of gleaming work and time-saving white goods, major appliances and those of the smaller type, are expected to reach more than $500,000 before the local stores close on Christmas Eve.

The trend to the giving of major appliances at Christmas is gaining in popularity.

FAVORITES

Mr. Hall predicted that the automatic laundry, refrigerators, television sets, and automatic ranges will probably be in greatest favor this year. With the wide variety in the smaller appliance group, it is difficult to anticipate which will be the leader.

He explained that a large percentage of Victoria homes already have electric washers (four out of every five have either the automatic or wringer type), and now more and more housewives are acquiring automatic clothes driers.

"It is interesting note," he went on, "that because of our climate a number of housewives are buying the drier before the washer, as the drying is actually a bigger chore than the washing."

Mr. Hall reported that 75 per cent of Victoria homes now have television, but sets are still being bought at a high monthly rate by people acquiring their first set or trading in on the latest models. The refrigerator is still a favored item, in spite of the fact that four out of every five homes have one.

SMOOTH FRYING

Small appliances with all the automatic features are expected to be high on the list for Christmas gifts. The electric frypan, which maintains constant heat and turns the current off and on at your command, will perhaps be top favorite.

For the man of the house, power tools for his hobby workshop and do-it-yourself projects are ever gaining in popularity. Today's market offers greater variety in this field at lower prices than ever before.

Mr. Hall offered a word of advice to owners of new appliances to study carefully the instructions for use in order to get the full benefit of all the automatic features. Manufacturers spend much time and money developing simple, concise manuals of instruction for the benefit of users. To enjoy the appliances fully these instructions should be read and followed.

This does not mean, he added, that the modern housewife has to be an electrical engineer or learn to cook all over again, as the instructions are clearly given and easy to understand.

Don't Spare Water

With a new water heater, it will be possible to spend a rainy day at home and do three or four loads of wash, rather than limiting yourself to one wash a day for fear of exhausting the supply of hot water.

And, of course, all this washing is being done while you're in the den watching the afternoon television show, or reading the latest novel.

Some of the family's most healthful benefits from hot water are found in automatic dishwashing. Ideally, dishes being washed by hand should have water of between 130 and 150 degrees. But this is too hot to touch. So hand-washed dishes do not usually get the bacteria-killing benefits of hot water.

But in an automatic dishwasher, the temperature of the water can be as high as 160 or 180 degrees. It makes no difference, because the hands never touch the water.

When water of that high temperature is used, you can be sure that any bacteria or germs that have been on the dishes will be washed off. The possibility of a dish being a disease-carrier is just about eliminated.

In addition to being clean, dishes washed in an automatic dishwasher look clean.

Your automatic water heater may be out of sight, but as you go through the day, getting all the hot water you need when you want it, it will never be out mind.

Modern home laundry with matched washer and drier was a "must" in the Whittingtons' new home. Mrs. Whittington is enjoying the year-round conveniences of the gleaming appliances which make washdays completely independent of the weather.

Clothes Dry Fast

Come Rain or Shine

Forget the Weather

Getting a drier to make your Christmas a white one will mean more than just new freedom from drudgery. Weather, for example, may still be a concern for picnics, but won't be a factor when it comes to drying a few loads of wash.

Come rain or shine, the dryer creates perfect weather conditions to allow you to choose your own laundering time—day or night. It not only frees you from weather worries, but dries 15 times as fast as the clothesline method. It also saves 20 full working days a year.

What a relief to be absolutely independent of the whims of Mother Nature, who may or may not co-operate with sunshine on the day you want to dry the wash.

With an automatic drier, any day, or even night, is a good drying time. Just pop the wash into the drier, set the simple controls and your clothes and linens bask in clean, warm breezes until they are dried to perfection.

CLEANER, TOO

Thoughtful homemakers, who realize there is an element of risk involved in outdoor drying, consider cleanliness as one of a drier's most appealing features.

Outdoors, clothes are buffeted by airborne germs, soot and dust. They're whipped and frayed by the wind, baked by glaring sun until they're stiff or else splattered by sudden squalls or rain or snow.

Also, the wash hanging outdoors is at the mercy of curious dogs and romping children, and occasionally a light-fingered passerby.

While you were previously tied down to the house for a whole day when there was a load of wash and dry to be done, you now have another day to yourself—when there is a drier in the laundryroom.

It takes only about two minute's work to dry a load of clothing—one minute to put the load into the drier, and one minute to take it out.

Ironer Ends Chore

The originator of the saying, "Hard work never hurt anybody," could not have been the one who did the family ironing by hand.

Anyone who had this chore to perform knows what a backbreaker it is, and there are scientific studies to support this belief.

TIME ALONE

Consider the time saving. Where ironing by hand requires hours to do, you can do shirts with an automatic ironer at the rate of one in four minutes.

And while the woman who does the ironing for a family of four by hand does four tons of lifting a week—just in picking up the iron—doing the job with an automatic ironer is effortless. You sit while the appliance does the work.

NO ACHES

No more tired arms, aching back, or abdominal and leg strain. Your clothes are neat, fresh, machine-perfect; your sheets have a wonderful silky finish.

You'll be proud of your work. You'll feel refreshed at the end of your ironing—no more look or feel of drudgery.

Automatic ironers come in several styles. Cabinet type units, which have white enamel finish, have lap panels to support dampened articles before they go through the roll, and one or two extension shelves for stacking folded items after finishing. Some have casters that can be adjusted to the height of the user.

More Leisure at Christmas

Cooking the Christmas turkey will present no problems to Mrs. J. W. Johnston, 2424 Hamiota Street. With her new electric range, complete with automatic features, she will be free to enjoy more of the holiday season with family and friends.

No More Burning

Could a woman want a better gift than to hear her husband say, "My wife's the best cook in the world?"

Well, appliance manufacturers have developed their ranges to a point where even your undemonstrative hubby might be saying it this Christmas.

What with all the fussing there is around holiday time, many a housewife would be thankful just to know that her Christmas dinner will be done right, and on time. But a woman likes to feel that her holiday meals are something special.

ALL YEAR

Even the best of cooks have boil-overs, burned food and scorched cooking vessels, but now that's all impossible. These housewife's enemies haven't a chance, with new top burner controls, which keep the precise temperature at which you set them, be it 150 degrees for mashed potatoes, or 400 degrees for French fries.

ROAST CONTROL

Automatic roast controls eliminate all the guesswork from roasting. Before leaving the house, the housewife decides at what hour the roast should be started and whether she'd like it rare, medium or well done. She sets the controls accordingly, sticks a probe into the meat, and the range takes over. It will stay at a steady temperature until the roast reaches the indicated degree of "doneness" and shut off automatically when the meat is ready for serving.

EXOTIC FOODS

Rotisseries are included in better ranges, and there may be as many as three spits. Combined with other range features, the rotisserie lures you into preparing such exotic new foods for yourself and family as shish kebab.

Ovens are getting larger, and even 30-inch ranges may have a 24-inch oven. Some ranges have two ovens, permitting simultaneous baking of items that require different times and temperature. This enables you to do all your Christmas baking at once—pies and meat, for example. Two broilers in a single range are becoming more common, too, another feature that helps you do your work better and more quickly.

SIGNALS

Ovens, of course, respond to pre-set temperatures, lighting up or buzzing or otherwise informing the housewife when her work is done. Fifth burners, convertible to griddles or deep fryers, further advance the range's utility, as do toasting compartments.

Ease of cleaning is being stressed more and more. Some ranges are built so that their entire top lifts up for cleaning. Some have oven racks that can't be pulled out too far, but far enough for cleaning.

DOUBLE DUTY

Appliance makers have added some extras for your convenience, such as broiling trays that double as serving trays and disposable aluminum liners for burner bowls.

And, as far as good looks are concerned, ranges are becoming more and more appealing to the eye.

As with the man you married, it might be the good looks that attracted you, but it's the good qualities that make you love him.

You'll love a new range.

"How about a new automatic range?"

KEEP THEM IN THE FREEZER

Fresh Idea in Gifts

How often have you had an unexpected guest drop in during the Christmas holiday for whom you hadn't prepared any gift? Or maybe it was someone you overlooked on your Christmas list.

Whatever the reason, it always results in hurrying and scurrying through the gifts you received and can't use or your own dresser drawers to find something — just anything — to give your guest.

HOME-BAKED

You can prepare yourself for such emergencies, and have some fun at the same time. Your freezer will do the trick for you.

When you have some spare time a week or two before Christmas, you can prepare tea rings, homemade rolls, special loaves of nut bread, plum puddings and a wide variety of other special foods.

Just wrap them for freezing and store them in your freezer. That's one place that will keep what you baked as fresh as the day you made it.

You can gift-wrap each item separately, using a wide variety of freezer papers and containers, and attractive cellophane, foil and plastic. This makes for easy and quick gift-giving.

If you devote one section of your freezer to these gifts, you can save the wrappings until you're ready to give it away. But if you spread the packages throughout the general food area of your freezer, it's best to wrap the packages first so they can be easily identified.

ENDLESS VARIETY

The variety of gifts that you can prepare in advance is endless. Cookies, cakes and candy are only a few. An especially nice gift is your favorite fruit pie frozen in a new plastic container and tied with gay ribbon.

This gift corner in your freezer will give you a generous supply of personalized remembrances for any occasion, wrapped and ready to give at a moment's notice.

And, when the holiday's over, and there are some things that you haven't given away, you can use them at your own table.

Do-It-Yourself Double Saving

Tests indicate that home washed linens and clothing last from 33⅓ per cent to 100 per cent longer than those commercially laundered.

Just look around the house at your helpers: washer, drier, ironer, range, freezer, refrigerator, dishwasher, water heater and others. They are ready to serve your needs at the press of a button or the flip of a switch.

Put them to work for you and all the usual chores around the house are suddenly made easier and faster.

One strong team to help you around the house is your automatic laundry equipment. While you are taking care of some of the work upstairs, the washer and drier are pitching in with some of the heaviest work downstairs.

For example, as the floors are being washed or waxed, the shag or scatter rugs that covered them can be in the process of washing and drying, all automatically.

And when you're polishing up the windows in the kitchen or bedroom, just throw the curtains into the washer. By the time all the windows are finished, the curtains will be dry. If they are made of the new synthetic fabrics, chances are they can be hung right up. If not, your automatic ironer will take care of the pressing job in a few minutes.

DELICATE WORK

The washer and drier team can, of course, be used to launder the best table linen or the most fragile and sensitive clothing in your closet or drawers. Your machine's setting for delicate fabrics will give these valuable treasures as careful a washing as if you were doing it by hand — and with less work for you.

One job that has to be done about three times a day, every day of the year (except when you're lucky enough to go to a restaurant for dinner) is the dishes. This task takes up more time during the course of the day—and year—than any other household chore. With an automatic dishwasher standing by ready to help you in your kitchen, the miseries of dishwashing are a thing of the past.

ALWAYS SURE

You will always be sure that all your dishes, silverware, and glassware will be bacteria-free when this appliance unlooses its spray of scalding hot water and detergent.

A steady stream of this hot water, whether it be for your clothes washer, dishwasher, general house cleaning, or your own bath, is always assured when there is a rapid-recovery water heater supplying your needs.

In your kitchen you have two appliances that work even when you are sleeping, to make sure that the foods you bought are stored properly and kept until you are ready to cook or eat them—your freezer and refrigerator.

With a freezer in the house, it's actually possible to begin making a special dinner weeks in advance. You can do the preparation when you have some extra time on your hands. When it's time to get it ready for the table, all you have to do is thaw it out and it will taste as if you just finished making it.

The refrigerator is indispensable for the cold storage of foods that are to be used within a reasonable length of time. With the newest conveniences in these appliances, there is never any trouble finding the butter, cheeses, bacon, vegetables, eggs, and many other items, because there are special bins for their placement.

When it comes to cooking, every homemaker can vie for top honors when she owns a modern kitchen range. Whether it's used simply to keep a pot of mashed potatoes warm or in the preparation of a delicate sauce, a new range can serve you with temperature controlling features, timers, thermometers and other conveniences.

New 'Sheer Look' Handsome, Useful

Probably the most significant style change has been what different manufacturers call the sheer or square look.

Because of this style's uncluttered, clean, square design, free-standing appliances can fit snugly into cabinet arrangements and look like built-ins. Straight sides and right-angle corners can be placed cosily against straight sides of standard or custom-built cabinets without major carpentry.

Recessed hinges permit refrigerator models in this style to be placed against a side wall without having to allow space for door swing, since the door opens fully within its frame.

Stack-on units, appliances made to fit standard countertops, give the built-in look, too, without need of carpentry. The built-in look is also carried out with drop-in units, which require either that a hole be cut in the existing counter, or that it be placed in a counter that was pre-cut by the manufacturer.

Pre-assembled packaged kitchens, which combine several basic appliances in a single framework, are being produced by more and more manufacturers. Smartly styled, these units are between seven and nine feet long, and are ideal for the modern-minded homemaker with limited kitchen space.

Equipment that stands alone and is portable continues to have its appearance improved.

Like free-standing or built-in appliances, these are available in various materials and colors.

Label Food With Date

When wrapping food for storage in a freezer label each package with the date of storage, kind of food and, when necessary, weight or quantity.

No Trouble at All

Do the Laundry, Dad

So your wife has just gone out to do some Christmas shopping and she left you with the family wash? That's no problem at all.

Here are a few tips on doing the laundry the way your wife does it.

First, sort the laundry into piles of white, colored and man-made fibre garments. The manufacturer's label should tell you the construction of the garment.

DARK AND LIGHT

Set aside the clothing that have dark colors that are apt to fade. Give these a separate wash, for they might fade or spot the other garments.

Brush the sand, grass and dirt that may have accumulated out of the trouser pockets and cuffs, and apply some detergent directly to all badly soiled or grease-stained areas. Close the zippers on all clothes.

For the bleaching, follow directions on the package to obtain the proper amount. Add the bleach to the water and allow the machine to agitate for a full minute.

Use a measuring cup and follow the directions on the box or bottle when adding detergent. Remember that too many suds cut down the washing action.

When loading the machine, place about nine pounds of clothes in the machine (if the washer is standard size), or load the machine until the loosely folded clothes come wtihin two inches of the top of the agitator basket.

MIXED SIZES

Large pieces should be mixed with smaller items, rather than washed together.

After the white things are washed, the light-colored items have their turn. If your machine is equipped with a suds-saving device you can use the same water, or if fresh water is drawn turn the water temperature down to "warm."

The next load will contain more heavily-soiled cottons. Use clean, hot water.

When you do the synthetic fibres, if you have an automatic machine, set the wash temperature at "cold" and the agitation and spin speeds at "slow" or "synthetic fabrics" setting. Separate by colors. Put clothes in washer and let it run its complete cycle.

Follow directions on starch package as to amount. Pour the starch in the machine and let it mix with the water before putting in the clothes. After the load is removed, wipe the agitator basket with a clean cloth to remove excess starch.

INTO DRIER

As each load of clothes comes from the automatic washer load it into the drier. For loads of heavy sheets and pillow cases, set the drier temperature on "high" with the time at 35 to 45 minutes, depending on the size of the load.

Cotton sport shirts and children's play clothes should be dried at "medium" settings, with a time of 15 to 25 minutes. For synthetics, set the drier temperature on "low" and the time control dial at from five to 10 minutes.

If the load is small, use the minimum amount of time, and if you're in doubt about the time setting, use a shorter, rather than a longer, period of time. Clothes that stay in the drier too long have a stiff, scratchy feel when first taken out. "Overdrying" destroys the natural moisture present in all fabrics and, besides spoiling the appearance and feel of the fabric, hastens deterioration.

HANDLE WITH CARE

Synethic fabrics require special handling. If washed in cold water and dried in the proper amount of time they will require a minimum, if any, ironing. Too much heat, either in the washer or drier, causes wrinkles to set. Washing in cold water with the proper amount of agitation followed by low drier heat or warm sunshine, causes wrinkles to pop out and leave clothes looking fresh.

That's it, mister. Really nothing to it, is there?

Machines Replace Servants

By the end of this decade, the household servant is likely to be a thing of the past in North America — replaced by major appliance automation.

Modern kitchens with thermostatically controlled and easy-to-clean ranges and other appliances have cut the need for domestic help.

Canadian women still have household help, but it's electrical.

Do Men Hate Dishes?

It may be a woman's world, but a research team found that almost half the purchases of automatic dishwashers were inspired by the men in the house.

They also found that:

1. Almost everybody would like to own a dishwasher.

2. Dishwashers are regarded as a luxury.

3. Ownership is a symbol of both financial success and social status.

4. The chief source of information about dishwashers seems to be friends of owners. Also, there is a strong influence to the purchase of dishwashers spreading from friend to friend.

Skim Gravy With Ice

Ice cubes may be used to skim the grease from gravy or a stew. When ice is dropped into the hot liquid, surplus grease collects around the cube and may be easily lifted out.

HANDY HOME FREEZER SERVES 24 HOURS A DAY

Like Owning a Store

Wouldn't it be wonderful to have a grocery store in your own home, ready to serve you 24 hours a day every day of the year?

It certainly would — particularly during the busy season — and anyone can have such a "store," with a chest or upright freezer.

The freezer "store" keeps your food bills down; stocks a wide variety of foods both in and out of season, and ensures wholesome meals for your family with a minimum of preparation.

IN QUANTITY

Since freezers stock anywhere up to 900 pounds of food, you can buy in great quantities. This, of course, means infrequent shopping trips and greatly reduced food costs to you. No longer need you throw out leftovers, since freezers keep today's food fresh and healthful for a period of weeks and months.

You're in for a host of compliments from your family because your freezer allows you to serve special dishes and a greater variety of food generally than you could possibly handle without the help of a freezer.

NO TIZZY

If unexpected company used to throw you in a tizzy, force frantic visits to the food store, and shake your confidence in yourself as a housewife, your freezer will be an especially welcome addition to the home.

Let the whole neighborhood drop in without notice now, and you're the epitome of calmness, satisfied with the knowledge you can handle any emergency on the food front.

Remember when even company you expected caused concern because there was insufficient room for the fancy dishes you were planning to serve? Well, a freezer takes care of that problem, too. As an owner of a freezer, you can expect a reputation as an exceptional hostess — and you'll deserve it.

A freezer is an awfully good friend in meal preparation, too. Come summertime you'll be extra thankful that a freezer lets you serve delicious, man-sized meals, which require only a brief reheating.

The secret is to select the cool early hours of a morning to cook three or four roasts with the same heat. Wrap the roasts, then store them in your freezer, and your cooking is just about done for the week. The old war cry about having to spend entire days cooking over a hot stove won't be valid any more.

The same way of cooking four or five vegetables at a time can save hours, in addition to reducing the use of gas or electricity.

If your family appreciates baked goods you can save yourself future time and trouble by baking a half dozen pies at a time, storing in your freezer what you don't use immediately. Except for cream or custard pies, most pies will keep for two or three months, if you store them at zero temperature.

With a freezer, there's no longer a need for time-consuming canning to preserve your foods. Every day we hear of more foods being prepared in frozen form for the extra enjoyment of freezer owners. Virtually any food can be frozen successfully.

Freezing is a safe, easy way to preserve fruit and vegetables, meat, fish, poultry, game and baked or pre-baked foods. It will keep all the original flavor, color and nutritive value, providing there is proper wrapping.

A freezer means a lot of things — fewer shopping trips, decreased food bills and more efficient housekeeping are some. But most important, a freezer means freedom from drudgery for you, and happier meals and leisure time for you and your entire family.

Where the Goodies Come From

Little Brenda Kilby eagerly admires what comes out of mother's combination refrigerator-freezer. Mrs. J. O. Kilby, 2853 Leigh Road, is happy, too, with the handsome appliance, which makes it possible to buy meats and produce in quantity in season, to be held until needed in the large freezer section, and the refrigerator unit, which keeps foods fresh and crisp for daily use. The matching range makes cooking a great deal easier. It has automatic controls for easiest meal preparation.

SPECIALIZED COMPARTMENTS

Modern Refrigerators Cut Costs and Work

New refrigerators make it much easier to be the perfect housewife. And that applies to budget, as well as high-priced, models.

Today's refrigerators come equipped with such quality-insurance features as separate cooling systems for fresh and frozen food, special locker shelves that maintain proper temperature for chilling beverages and salads, automatic butter keeper, and meat compartments.

BIG FREEZERS

Freezing compartments are now larger, and permit easier storage, what with package dispensers and pull-out bins or shelves. Many models have their freezing compartments at the bottom, so that every-day foods, in the refrigerator section are at more accessible heights.

Some refrigerators require only the touch of a toe on a foot pedal to open the door. This leaves both hands free, a blessing that any housewife recognizes. Some models have doors that can be opened by a slight press with the elbow, again allowing both hands to be free. One company has a handle the length of the door, for easy opening. Some open at the touch of finger grips at the base.

EITHER SIDE

Magnetic doors require only a tap to close them. You can select a door to open either right or left, and one producer has a model that opens both ways.

Many refrigerators have shelves that either revolve or roll out, eliminating the frustration of having to unload the entire shelf to get to the ketchup in the back. Shelves are adjustable up or down.

STRAIGHT LINES

Several manufacturers are aiming at straight line beauty, emphasizing flat planes with nothing bulging or protruding. This, along with ventilation forced through a front grille, permits installation flush against the wall. The built-in look is yours even with a free-standing model.

Quiet is being emphasized in new models. Compressors, the working mechanism of the refrigerator, are quieter than ever, and doors close securely with barely a sound.

EXTRA FEATURES

Automatic defrosting is available on most refrigerators. Add to this such items as swing-out crispers and meat keepers, along with other work-saving features, and you'll see why modern refrigerators are bringing cheer to housewives everywhere.

"Could you make it an automatic washer?"

Change of Scene

Alkyd-resin paints, now being manufactured by several paint companies, are available in colors to match, harmonize, or contrast with the colors that are found on most major appliances.

By changing the color of your kitchen cabinets, you can add new brightness and life to your kitchen.

In preparing cabinets for a new coat of paint, it is first necessary to roughen the surface, if it has a glossy finish. Sandpaper moistened with turpentine, will do the pob. The surface of the cabinets should also be cleaned of dirt and grease with turpentine.

IN SUPREME CONDITION

Tie Not Enough, So Reds Practice

WINDSOR, Ont. (CP)—Moscow Selects faced the future of five more exhibition hockey games in their tour through Eastern Canada with more equanimity today after evening things up a bit with a 5-5 tie against Windsor Bulldogs Sunday.

Windsor, of the Ontario Senior Hockey League, opened strongly, scoring three goals in the first two minutes and 10 seconds before a sellout crowd of 5,400.

But the Russians held on with two goals in the first period. They failed to answer two more Bulldog goals in the second frame but dominated play in the third.

If the Russian team feels travel weariness, they haven't shown it since they arrived. It was the Bulldogs who ran down in the third period, bushed after three games in as many days.

But for remarkable goaltending by Windsor goalie Marv Edwards, who stopped 40 shots to the Russians' Yezgency Erkin's 35, the Selects might have won the game.

WORKOUT AFTER GAME

The Russians' superior condition had Bulldogs' tongues hanging in the third. The Selects topped things off with a workout on the ice after the game.

Bob Brown and Walter Pawlyshyn each shot two goals for Windsor and Joe Klukay, former Toronto Maple Leaf veteran, got the other.

Big power for the Selects was Yury Kopylov with two goals. Their other tallies were by Veniamin Alexandrov, Alex Cherepanov and Valdimir Zelizarov.

The Russians, beaten 7-2 by Whitby Dunlops in Toronto Friday, play Kitchener-Waterloo Dutchmen in Kitchener Tuesday night and meet Sudbury Wolves at Sudbury Thursday.

Burnett's Record Romp Sparks UBC Runners

Led by Evergreen Conference champion Jim Burnett, University of British Columbia's "A" cross-country team captured the Vancouver Island open title Saturday at Royal Roads.

Burnett set a record for the tough, 4.2-mile course of 19.37 minutes, almost a full minute better than the old mark of 20.34 set last year by teammate Jim Moore. Moore placed second in the field of 73 this year.

Second-place in the team standing went to the UBC "B" team. Third was Royal Roads "A", and the defending champions, Victoria High School, placed fourth.

UBC "A" collected 11 points to edge the "B" team by 32 points under the reverse scoring system.

Five of the first six positions were claimed by UBC runners. They were Burnett, Moore, Bruce Tarton, third; Bob Bush, fifth, and Mike May, sixth.

It was the first time in seven years the powerful Vic High squad had not won the Admiral Nelles Trophy.

Team standings were: UBC, "A", 11; UBC "B", 43; Royal Roads, 46; Victoria High, 61; HMCS Venture "A", 95; Royal Roads "B", 118; Vic High "B", 118; HMCS Venture "B', 152; RCME Chilliwack, 154; University School, 183, and HMCS Naden, 204.

JBAA Extended By Vic College

A penalty kick by Gord Hemmingway, a converted try by Bob Abbott an an unconverted try by Harry Turner gave JBAA an 11-3 edge at the half. A penalty kick by Gere Mitchell gave College its first points.

With all of their points coming from penalty kicks, College pulled to within two points of the Bays in the second half on a pair of fine boots by Roland Hawes before Turner picked up his second try of the game.

Any Advantages Staying Home?

By The Canadian Press

If there's an advantage to home ice, five National Hockey League teams today are pondering what it might be.

The five—all except Montreal Canadiens—acted as hosts during weekend play. Two managed ties. The other three lost.

Even those who Split the points found it tough. Chicago Black Hawks scored with 48 seconds left to gain a 2-2 tie with Boston Bruins. Detroit Red Wings had to come from two goals behind to tie Montreal 3-3. In a third contest Sunday, Toronto defeated Rangers 5-1 at New York.

Saturday Montreal moved into Boston and beat the Bruins 4-2. Detroit edged Leafs 2-1 at Toronto.

RANGERS ON TOP

Despite its loss, New York stayed in first place, one point ahead of Montreal. Canadiens have three games in hand.

Sunday the revitalized Wings fell behind 2-0 as Bert Olmstead and Marcel Bonin each scored while Detroit was a man short.

Then Gordie Howe sparked Detroit to its finest rally this season. He scored twice and set up Norm Ullman for a 3-2 Detroit lead. The assist was the 408th of Howe's career and tied the NHL record set by Elmer Lach of Montreal.

Hawks and Bruins matched single goals in the second and third periods. Ed Litzenberger scored for Hawks and Fleming Mackell for Boston in the second. Don McKenney gave Bruins the lead in the third but Eric Nesterenko, who earlier had 10 stitches taken in his face, scored with 48 seconds left.

MIGAY LEAF STAR

Toronto scored three goals in the first period against New York. Bill Gadsby's long shot bounced past Ed Chadwick for an early New York lead before Dick Duff, Billy Harris and Rudy Migay scored for Leafs.

After a scoreless second period Migay scored his second goal early in the third. Barry Cullen's last-minute counter completed the scoring. Migay had an assist to go with his two goals and George Armstrong had three assists.

Saturday at Toronto Red Kelly and Gordie Howe each scored as Wings won 2-1. Dick Duff was Toronto's marksman.

At Boston, Canadiens were slow starting after a week's layoff but exploded for three goals in the third period, two by Bernie (Boom Boom) Geoffrion.

Still Sparks Visiting Pros

Seattle's Gene Counter and Ken Still of Tacoma defeated Victoria professionals Bob Fleming and Joe Pryke, 3 and 1, in an exhibition golf match at the Gorge Vale course Sunday.

Playing before about 350 fans, Still dropped some sparkling putts as he paced the American pros with a four-under-par 68. Counter used some deadly chips shots for a one-under 71 as the visitors fashioned a best-ball score of 65.

Fleming toured the hilly layout in 70 strikes, while Pryke, the home course pro, finished with 74 as the quartet played out the 18th hole after Still had clinched the victory with a 30-foot birdie putt on the 17th.

Prior to the match, the four pros, assisted by former professional Ron Cush, took part in an hour-long clinic, in which a full range of golf shots and styles were demonstrated.

Wheaton Has Habit Of Record-Breaking

Record books took a beating Saturday in Vancouver as 240 swimmers from Victoria and Vancouver took part in an invitational meet at the Crystal Pool, sponsored by the Vancouver Dolphin Swim Club.

He paced Victoria to a 152-point second-place finish with his 100-yard backstroke mark of 1.2.2. Wheaton previously set the junior 50-yard backstroke mark in the same pool during the B.C. Inter-High Championships.

Caealep shaved nearly a full second from the previous mark, travelling the length of the pool twice in 27.5 seconds as compared to the old time of 28.3.

Other individual winners for the Victoria team were Stan Cameron, 50-yard breast-stroke; Sue Morgan and Jane Wheaton, tied for first in 50-yard breast-stroke; and Gail Parker in the 100-yard breast-stroke. The team also took first in the girls' and boys' 200-yard relays, girls' 250-yard medley and girls' 400-yard relay.

NEW YORK (CP)—Baltimore Colts took over sole possession of first place in the Western Conference of the National Football League Sunday, defeating San Francisco '49ers 27-21 on a last-minute touchdown.

Detroit Lions, who had been tied for the conference leadership with Baltimore and San Francisco, were unceremoniously dumped by the Chicago Bears 27-7.

The Colts now have a 6-3 record, while Lions and '49ers are 5-4.

Cleveland Browns, with rookie fullback Jim Brown scoring four touchdowns and setting an NFL rushing record, overcame Los Angeles Rams 45-31 to maintain their one-point lead in the Eastern Conference.

Second-place New York Giants ripped through Chicago Cardinals for four first-half touchdowns and held on for a 28-21 victory.

In other games, Green Bay Packers knocked the Pittsburgh Steelers out of contention for the Eastern Conference title by defeating them 27-10, and Philadelphia Eagles halted Washington Redskins 24-12.

Right Guess Was Wrong As Far as Cats Concerned

Americans 6, Cougars 5

By DOUG PEDEN

In hockey you can guess right and still be wrong. Take Victoria Cougar goalie Emile Francis, for instance.

In the third period of Saturday's Western Hockey League game at Memorial Arena, Francis was right all the way as he outguessed Don Chiupka when the Seattle forward broke in on the Victoria net, sliding out to smother Chiupka's shot at the lower left corner.

In the sixth minute of sudden-death overtime, Chiupka got a clear break from the Americans' zone. Coasting in on Francis, he made the same move, took the same quick glance at the lower corner as he carried in to the edge of the crease.

The little netminder again played it perfectly and appeared to have Chiupka beaten with his quick slide. But this time he was wrong. The unpredictable puck flipped up on edge at the last instant and the shot took off at an unexpected angle, sailing into the top of the net to send the Cougars down to their fifth loss in the six overtime games they have played this season.

THEY'RE COUSINS

Chiupka, traded with Bill Davidson to Seattle for Ed Dorohoy, appears to be trying to make a career out of scoring against his old mates and a former nemesis. While Francis was guarding the Seattle nets last season, Chiupka scored only two goals against the Americans. In the five games he has faced Francis during this campaign, he has collected all but one of his current total of eight goals.

Cougars, who are still hoping to finalize deals that will bring them one or two experienced players, start on a rugged four-game chore when they meet Royals in New Westminster Wednesday. They are at Vancouver Friday, host the Canucks here Saturday and travel to Seattle Sunday.

Coach Pat Eagan indicated this morning he may try another course if promises of experienced help don't materialize soon. "We have our eyes on several good amateur players," he said. "If help doesn't arrive in a hurry, we'll bring a couple of them in for three-game trials."

Cougars started off Saturday in the style that carried them to a victory over the Coast Division Canucks Friday night, overwhelming the Amerks with a spectacular skating and checking effort as they grabbed a 2-0 first-period lead.

DISASTROUS SECOND

But, for the third home game in succession, a two-goal lead wasn't enough. The Cats played like confused amateurs during most of the middle session, dropping behind, 5-2, as the Amerks rapped in five goals in a 10-minute stretch.

They started to come back at the start of the third period and suddenly shifted into high gear with 10 minutes remaining. The crowd of 3,016 fans roared its approval as the Cougars pulled even with three goals in less than three minutes and barely missed going in front during the wild scrambles that marked the closing minutes of the period.

Both clubs played for the breaks in overtime. Francis made a good stop against Bill McFarland in the fifth minute, but on the return rush, Colin Kilburn's drive at the Seattle goal bounced off Chiupka into centre ice.

Canuck Customers Can Wake Up Now

The Western Hockey League's once-proud Vancouver Canucks, who went nine games without a loss in early season play, are beginning to take their lumps with the rest.

Canucks, still atop the Coast Division heap, are one point ahead of New Westminster Royals and Seattle Americans.

Seattle dumped Vancouver 5-2 Sunday. It was their third successive loss and awoke any Vancouver fans dreaming of a Canuck cakewalk in the WHL's Coast Division.

New Westminster blanked Vancouver 1-0 Saturday as a first-period goal stood up and Victoria Cougars lost to Seattle in overtime, 6-5.

On the Prairies, Winnipeg beat third-place Saskatoon-St. Paul twice during the weekend to open up a three-point lead over second-place Edmonton.

CALGARY WINS

The Warriors won 2-0 Saturday and scored in overtime Sunday for a 4-3 victory. Last-place Calgary upset Edmonton 3-1 Saturday to ruin any Flyer hopes of gaining on the Warriors.

In Seattle, Sunday, Keith Allen's Americans jumped into a 3-0 first-period lead and allowed the Canucks only 13 shots on goalie Don Hamilton.

Rudy Filion counted twice for the winners. Other goals went to Val Fonteyne, Guyle Fielder and Art Hart. Rookies Orland Kurtenbach and Jim Powers scored for Vancouver.

In New Westminster Saturday, Arlo Goodwin scored at 16.26 of the first period and Bev Bentley kicked out 27 Canuck shots for the Royals' win.

Winnipeg's George Ford connected in overtime while his team was a man short for Sunday's 4-3 win over the Regals in St. Paul. Billy Mosienko was in the penalty box at the time.

Florida's Sun Gives Balding Magic Touch

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla. (UP) Al Balding, whose four-under-par 68 won the $10,000 West Palm Beach Open Golf Tournament championship, today is a sure contender for other winter circuit tourneys—especially those in Florida.

Balding, who collected $1,200 for Sunday's victory, has won only three pro-championships and all of them were played in Florida. He won the 1957 Miami Beach Open last spring, the 1955 Sanford, Fla., open championship and Sunday's title here.

The 33-year-old Toronto sharpshooter said the "balls bounced just right" for him to sweep from behind in this latest win. Balding, playing out of Miami Beach, went into the final round of the 54-hole event three strokes behind the leaders but fired a 68 to win the championship in 209.

That was one stroke better than runners-up Bert Weaver of Beaumont, Tex., and Dow Finsterwald of Tequesta, Fla.

Peter Cooper of Lakeland, Fla., slipped to a 73 for a final score of 213 for a fourth-place, six-way tie with Jay Hebert of Sanford, Fla.; Paul Harney, Worcester, Mass.; Al Besselink, Grossingers, N.Y.; Julius Boros, Mid Pines, N.C., and Walter Burkemo, Franklin Hills, Mich.

RUGBY PRACTICE

Gallant Bombers KO Great Eskie Machine

EDMONTON (CP)—Young Bud Grant's full-of-grit Winnipeg Blue Bombers, scoring their winning touchdown on an end-zone fumble, whipped the national champion Edmonton Eskimos 17-2 Saturday night in what was probably the first overtime final game in Canadian professional football history.

The underdog Bombers, checking the powerful Eskimo attack through a fantastically-close deciding game in the western final, kicked a 14th minute single for a 2-2 tie in the fourth quarter—but only minutes after Eskimo Jackie Parker had scored what seemed to be the winning point on a quick kick.

Crucial play for the Eskimos, who had sought an unprecedented fourth straight Grey Cup, came on the kickoff by Bomber Jerry James that started the 20-minute overtime period. The James' ball rolled into the Esk end zone, and Rollie Miles fumbled in trying to run it out instead of conceding the single. Gerry Vincent jumped on the ball for the winning touchdown.

Rookie coach Grant, who had successfully fired up a patched-up team weakened by season-long injuries, didn't even see the touchdown. He was still on his way from the dressing room to the field. "You can't stop heart," he said later.

The touchdown was the first in 143 minutes of hard-knocking series football. Bombers upset Edmonton 19-7 in the first game at Winnipeg a week ago, but Eskimos came back with a thrilling 5-4 win Wednesday night.

Thus did the Bombers battle their way to the Grey Cup championship game next Saturday against Hamilton Tiger-Cats. They will try for a fourth title—they first brought the cup west in 1935, and repeated in 1939 and 1941. They were last beaten by Hamilton 12-6 in 1953.

It was a bitter pill for the 20,000 Eskimo fans who sat through three hours of steady snow and 25-degree cold, waiting the Eskimos to score. As it was, the big green machine managed only two points on eight trips inside the Winnipeg 45. They failed even to get a single on four Joe Mobra field goal tries.

BOMBERS THREATEN ONCE

Only once in regulation time did Blue Bombers get inside Edmonton's 30-yard line. That was the sequence climaxed by the single at the 14-minute mark of the fourth quarter that gave the Bombers a 2-2 tie.

In overtime the only time Winnipeg was inside Edmonton's 30 was on Kenny Ploen's touchdown run after a win was almost beyond reach of the Eskimos.

After the kickoff touchdown the Eskimos abandoned the line-plunging attack and substituted desperation passes, Canadian Don Getty stepping in at quarter and Parker moving to left half. It didn't work.

Bombers went on to score nine more points. Charlie Shepard in overtime booted his second and third singles, and an interception of one of Getty's passes set up the tremendous 43-yard touchdown run by Winnipeg quarter Ploen. He also converted.

It was close to a rout, but still the Eskimo fans, when they rushed onto the field at the final gun, had backslaps not only for their Eskimos, but also for the Bombers. The consensus later seemed to be that if Eskimos had to lose, then Edmonton would be behind the Bombers for a Grey Cup victory.

The game was played on a gridiron from which all grass had been removed along with three inches of snow. Groundskeepers found the turf gouged by snow-removing equipment so they ran motor graders across the whole field—Clarke Stadium was to get new turf next spring, anyway.

WINGLINE STARS

Most of the credit for the Bomber victory went to the wingline. They were tremendous as a unit. Especially brillinat were Hall Whitley and Herb Gray, who missed the second game of the series to attend his father's funeral in Texas.

TILLICUMS TIED 1-1

Three Share Lead In Soccer Circuit

First place in the Victoria and District Football Association is an elusive target.

Three clubs had a shot at the top berth Sunday, but Canadian Scottish, one-point leaders over the trio Saturday and likely candidates to be resting in third place today, still owns a share of the lead.

Esquimalt and Tillicums stymied each other in attempts to vault past the idle Scots, but gained some solace as they finished up in a three-way squeeze in the upper berth after battling to a 1-1 stalemate at Heywood Avenue.

Punjab United, matched against last-place Victoria Kickers at Topaz Avenue Park, missed the target completely as Kickers carved out a 5-4 triumph and climbed into eighth position, leaving United still one point off the pace.

BUTLERS ON MOVE

In Sunday's third match, Butler Brothers moved within two points of the leading threesome as they completed their first-half schedule with a 5-3 win over Heaneys.

Saturday, Gorge Hotel grabbed a berth in the Jackson Cup final by whipping Brodies Bakery, 4-1, at Royal Athletic Park. The Hotelmen tangle with Tillicums for the silverware at Royal Athletic Park next Saturday.

Goalie Al Davies again saved the day for Tillicums at Heywood Avenue, coming up with a series of sparkling saves to keep the Clubmen in contention until Tim Walker salvaged the tie on a penalty shot with 15 minutes remaining in the hard-fought match.

George Adams gave Esquimalt a 1-0 lead after 30 minutes of the opening half. The Dockyarders had an edge in play through most of the second session but couldn't get another shot past Davies.

EARLY SPLURGE

Kickers ran up a four-goal lead against Punjab then had to battle down to the wire to pull out a victory. They took a 2-0 lead in the first half on two tallies by Helmut Schemitsch and made it 4-0 on a pair by Dick Nellestijn early in the second session.

At Central Park, three goals by veteran Joe Robbins and a singleton by Gary Crowe gave Butlers a 4-2 first-half lead. Glen Robbins fired an insurance marker after the intermission.

Gorge Hotel turned in one of its best efforts of the season as it trimmed Brodies. Faster on attack and solid on defence, the Hotel squad scored twice in in each half.

Senators Step to Top In Tight Pee Wee Race

A tight scramble for peewee division honors appears to be shaping up in the Greater Victoria Minor Hockey Association.

Although each of the six clubs has played just two games, only two teams remain unbeaten and only one has won both its games.

Senators took over first place by racking up their second straight triumph at Memorial Arena Saturday, skating to a 6-3 decision over Royals, who got a three-goal effort from Gary Day.

Bombers' bid for a second straight win was thwarted by Maroons, who held the Bombers to a 1-1 deadlock. In Saturday's third game, Flyers were just short with a late rally and lost, 3-2, to Capitals.

Als No Match For Peppy Cats

HAMILTON (CP) — Gerry McDougall, who almost became an early-season cut from the Hamilton Tiger-Cats squad, carved himself a big slice of football glory Saturday in leading Hamilton to the Eastern Canada title with a 39-1 squelching of Montreal Alouettes.

Given perfect support by a hard-charging Hamilton team, McDougall romped to three of Hamilton's five touchdowns and the Cats' victory in the two-game, total-point Big Four final was never in danger.

Hamilton won 17-10 in Montreal the previous Saturday and in the 56-11 over-all count McDougall helped himself to four of the six Hamilton touchdowns.

Tiger-Cats now go against Winnipeg Blue Bombers in Toronto next Saturday in the Grey Cup classic.

On their show Saturday, the Cats looked good enough to beat any team in the country. Before a home crowd of 18,000, they had letter-perfect blocking and jet-propelled backfield that withered the Als in a hurry.

ONESCHUK CONVERTS

Cookie Gilchrist and Ray (Bibbles) Bawel cashed in a touchdown apiece in the Hamilton cause. Steve Oneschuk, whose accurate hoofing gave Hamilton 10 points on three field goals and a convert in Montreal, kicked a field goal and converted all five touchdowns Saturday. Cam Fraser booted a Hamilton single for the only score of the fourth quarter.

Avatus Stone kicked over the deadline in the third quarter, when Als were trailing 31-0 on the game, for Montreal's lone point.

Coach Jim Trimble of Hamilton aptly summed up the game when he said rushing should be the basic principle of any football club.

"A team that depends upon passing for its bread and butter in football makes for lazy players," said Trimble. "Rushing has got to be the basis of an offence. Poor Sam Etcheverry was looking in vain for receivers once Hal Patterson, a wonderful player, was out of the game."

With or without Patterson Saturday, the Als were a beaten club. They never threatened.

Norm Kwong wants All-Season Contract

During a pause in training recently, the fabulous Edmonton full-back disclosed that he is seeking an all-season contract. Said Norm, 'Short-term half-measures are not enough. I want complete protection, all winter long, for my car. I've found, that the only way to get this, is to use "Prestone" Brand Anti-Freeze. It keeps the engine clear of corrosion, rust and clogging. Stops foaming too. "Prestone" Brand Anti-Freeze and I take out an all-season contract every year.'

Follow the lead of the powerful 'China Clipper'—get the protection your engine needs by insisting on "Prestone" Brand Anti-Freeze.

HE GIVES AWAY GRAND PRIZES

Is there something you want to know? Do you want to win a set of valuable books or other instructive prizes? Then Ask Andy

Andy will answer questions submitted by child readers and those who submit the questions he selects to answer will receive worthwhile prizes.

The youngster who asks the first question answered each day receives a 20-volume set of Compton's Pictured Encyclopedia (Canadian edition) and of the second question a Hammond Atlas or Globe.

Address your questions to "Ask Andy," Victoria Daily Times.

How Are U.S. Coins Made?

This little penny went to market—and changed hands 10 times in a single day. This little penny stayed home—resting in a peaceful piggy bank. These adventures are humdrum to our sturdy coins. For in the past, each one of them really took a beating. Each went through seething heat, rollers and sharp cutters. Each was given a terrific wallop. The cent got a 40-ton wallop. The big silver dollar got a 170-ton wallop. These grueling adventures took place at the mint, where metal is made into money.

The law demands that all our coins are made at a government mint. The crime of making coins privately is counterfeiting—punishable by a term in prison. At one time there were five legal U.S. mints. When the San Francisco mint closed in 1955, only two remained. One is in Philadelphia, the other in Denver. Between them, these two mints can turn out four billion coins a year.

The job begins with making metal alloys. Two or more metals are melted together to form an alloy which is stronger than any one metal alone. Our busy coins have to be sturdy to stand up under their daily chores.

The tough little penny is made of 95% copper alloyed with 5% tin and zinc. Though mostly copper, the alloy is actually bronze. It is sturdy and slow to tarnish. The alloy for making nickels is 75% copper and 25% nickel. Dimes, quarters, half dollars and big silver dollars are made from an alloy of 90% silver and 10% copper.

These alloys are blended in seething electric furnaces. The molten metal is poured into bars called ingots. The ingots are pressed through powerful rolling machines. Here they are cut into the proper shapes and sizes to make coins. Each is a flat, blank circle called a planchet.

Big Wallop Stamps Patterns

The next job is to get that little ridge around the rim of each coin. The planchets are softened, washed in acid, dried and sent to a milling machine. They are now flat, blank coins with raised rims. The larger coins, dollars, half dollars and quarters are each weighed separately. The cents, dimes and nickels are weighed in bulk, with certain test coins weighed separately. Scrap metal, including the floor sweepings, goes back to the melting pot. Now comes the big wallop which stamps the patterns on the coins. Each coin is held in a collar and whammed on both sides with tons of weight. The round collar for holding the silver coins has small, upright grooves around it. The heavy stamper forces the metal into these grooves, giving the coin a milled edge. Both sides of a coin are stamped at the same time.

The coins are now inspected and counted. Aside from portraits and emblems each bears the date. If it is a fairly new coin, each bears the inscription In God We Trust. In 1955, it was agreed that all our coins should bear these noble words.

Andy sends a Hammond Ambassador World Atlas to Ruthie Karp, age 12, of Berkley, California, for the question:

What are the Near East, the Middle East and the Far East?

These names are rather vague divisions of the land masses east of Europe. The countries of the Near East are the Balkans, and Egypt may or may not be considered a near eastern country. The Balkans, named for the Balkan Mountains, fill the area between the Adriatic and the Black Seas. They include Bulgaria, Greece, Yugoslavia, Czechoslovakia, Hungary and Austria.

The Middle East is a territory farther to the east. It stretches from Istanbul, Turkey, to the boundaries of China. Most of Russia, Turkey, Iraq, Iran, Syria and other countries of southeast Asia are in the Middle East.

The Far East, also called the Orient, includes China, India and parts of Russia. There are no definite boundaries between the Near, Middle and Far East. England, for instance, places Egypt in the Near East. The United States usually considers Egypt as part of the Middle East.

Nuclear Blast Gives Mountain Hot Foot

HOUSTON, Tex. (UP)—A nuclear bomb made a mountain jump six inches in a recent test north of Las Vegas, atomc energy commissioner Dr. W. F. Libby reports.

Dr. Libby said the bomb was exploded deep in the bowels of the mountain in an experiment to see whether nuclear energy can be trapped and later brought out under control for peaceful uses.

The AEC scientist said the vast power released by the exploding bomb is now trapped 800 feet deep inside the mountain and a well is being dug toward it. When the power is reached, he said, an attempt will be made to draw it off under control and utilize it.

Man Freed by Reds To Join Wife in B.C.

HONG KONG (AP)—A man who identified himself as the son of a former Russian Czarist general arrived in Hong Kong Sunday from Red China. He said he had spent 6½ years in a Chinese jail on a charge of participating in a 1950 plot to assassinate Mao Tse-tung.

The man, Michael Horvath, 52, said his only connection with the alleged plot was that one of the alleged ringleaders was his brother-in-law.

"I myself served more than three years in solitary confinement on this trumped-up charge," Horvath said.

He added that he had "seen, heard and suffered a lot," but declined to give details.

"I still have relatives in Peiping," Horvath said.

In Vancouver, Mrs. Alexandra Horvath said she was wonderfully happy, knowing her husband would soon be rejoining her in Canada.

Mrs. Horvath, a manicurist, lives with her 20-year-old son Dimitiri in a west end apartment.

Asked when she would be seeing her husband, Mrs. Horvath said: "I don't know. I don't want to say anything that could possibly delay his return."

Traffic Probe Urged By Safety Council

VANCOUVER (CP)—Establishment of a fund for research into the traffic accident problem in B.C. was urged last week at the B.C. Safety Council annual conference.

The traffic safety section proposed the fund be set up by the B.C. government and research make special reference to medical characteristics of safe drivers.

This was one of five proposals made by the section after sifting opinion given in panel discussions.

Other proposals were: Present law enforcement be endorsed as an essential part of a provincial traffic safety program;

Recognition of car makers' support of safety research programs and provisions of vehicles for high school driver training. (The section also deplored current emphasis on horse power, speed and getaway features of cars);

A joint committee of members of the Canadian bar association, Canadian medical association and motor vehicle administrators association establish a uniform practice and criteria for dealing with traffic offenders;

Service clubs, parent-teacher and other groups form a committee to develop a comprehensive high school driver training plan in B.C.

Retiring president L. J. C. Jarvis said the council appealed Nov. 4 to 700 B.C. industries and businesses for funds for safety work. The council hoped for an annual budget of between $30,000 and $35,000 of which the government had promised ot $10,000 a year for the next two years.

Missile Czar Still Needed

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Styles Bridges (R., N.H.) and John C. Stennis (D., Miss.) said Saturday the United States needs a missile czar and still lacks one despite President Eisenhomer's appointment of James R. Killian, Jr., as scientific co-ordinator.

Bridges said members of the Senate preparedness sub-committee, on which he is senior Republican, have been informed that Killian's activities are being limited largely to those of adviser.

Margaret's 'Night Out' Shock to Royal Family

The Sunday Express says the Princess shocked the Queen by going out on the town last Wednesday instead of staying at the palace to celebrate the 10th wedding anniversary of the Queen and Prince Philip. Other close relatives attended the palace party.

Margaret was invited but changed her mind at the last minute, the Express says. Instead the Queen's 27-year-old sister went to the theatre with friends and then dined at the fashionable Savoy Hotel.

She showed up at the palace just before the party ended.

ROYAL SHOCK

The Express gives this account:

"Her midnight arrival at the anniversary party came as a particular shock to the royal family when they found that, in addition to going to the theatre, she had gone on to supper, and that she had gone to a public restaurant for this."

Margaret failed to attend the royal showing of Les Girls two weeks ago with the Queen and Prince Philip, despite the fact she had no other engagement. She saw the movie last Thursday with her own friends.

High-spirited and gay, the princess often has been the centre of attention at dances and parties. Interest in her has grown since she bowed to family and church and publicly rejected the love of Group Capt. Peter Townsend, a divorced war hero, two years ago.

Actress Recovering From Flu Infection

NEW YORK (UP)—Actress-singer Marie McDonald was reported "doing nicely" today at Lenox Hill hospital where she is being treated for inflammation of a vein, a result of the Asian flu.

6 of Family Killed In Crash With Truck

Fatally injured were Robert Hazel Miles, driver of the car; his wife, Christine, 25; their daughters, Judy, 3, and Jewel 1; his mother, Mrs. Mary Miles, 50, and his sister, Betty Jean Miles, 16. The boy, Joye Mills, was severely injured.

SIR ERNEST OPPENHEIMER

Diamond King Oppenheimer Dies at 77

JOHANNESBURG—Sir Ernest Oppenheimer, 77, South African mining magnate and one of the world's richest men, died today.

Oppenheimer, chairman of the huge mining combine, the Anglo-American Corporation, had been in failing health for several months. Several weeks ago he had been ordered to a hospital for a rest.

He was not only South Africa's most powerful mining and financial figure but took an important part in the country's political and national life.

Oppenheimer had a fabulous career after leaving his birthplace of Friedeberg Hesse, in Germany, at the age of 16. Beginning work as an office boy in a London diamond firm he moved to South Africa and became the world's "diamond king." He was knighted for his services to South Africa and the Commonwealth.

He was chairman of de Beers Consolidated Mines, Limited, which brought stability to South Africa's diamond mining industry. As chairman of the Anglo-American Corporation he played a leading part in developing South Africa's fabulously rich gold fields.

'BULL IN ART SHOP'

Famed Leftist Mural Painter Rivera Dies

MEXICO CITY (AP)—Diego Rivera, whose violent paintings and defiant politics made him a charging bull in the world of art, died of a heart attack early today in his studio at suburban San Angel. He would have been 71 Dec. 8.

Until his right hand and arm became paralyzed several weeks ago, Rivera was working on three paintings with the zest which characterized his work for 50 years.

He is survived by his fourth wife, Ama Hurtado, and two daughters.

Rivera had been in and out of the Communist party since 1922. He returned only last year from Russia and proclaimed that Soviet medicine had cured him of cancer.

PISTOL AND BRUSH

From his earliest days Rivera expressed defiance in his controversial paintings. At times he wore a pistol while he worked in public.

One of the last major controversies which he stirred was in 1950, when he completed a painting which the Mexican government had commissioned for an exhibition in Europe. Government officials were appalled when they learned that the painting showed U.S. soldiers committing atrocities in Korea. The work was withdrawn from the art show.

An established actress on the London stage, but unknown on Broadway, Miss Jackson opened in the title role of Sonia in the Franz Lehar operetta, "The Merry Widow" in the New Amsterdam theatre on Oct. 21, 1907. She was an immediate success.

She appeared in such plays as "The Runaway Girl," "A Pair of Sixes," "Dodsworth," "Girls In Uniform," and "So Proudly We Hail." Her last appearance on Broadway was in "Key Largo" in 1939.

I was a bundle of nerves

My nerves were that bad the least little thing set me off. I was irritable, tense, easily depressed, and I slept badly. And as if that wasn't enough, I'd get indigestion.

Many people experience unpleasant feelings because their systems are disturbed by ingredients present in everyday beverages. While some people can drink tea, coffee, cocoa and some soft drinks without harm, others cannot.

Postum contains no tannin to interfere with digestion; no caffein, theophylline and theobromine which can cause nervousness, sleeplessness, irritability, palpitations, rapid pulse, followed by depression.

There is no need to endure any of these unpleasant feelings. Switch to Instant Postum which is guaranteed to contain no stimulants or drugs. Postum does not taste or act like ordinary beverages, but has a comforting flavor of its own. Make Postum easily, instantly, right in your cup. Just add freshly boiling water, stir and enjoy.

Try Postum for 30 days. When nerves are soothed, you sleep better, feel better, look better.

U.K. Faces All-Out Labor War

LONDON (UP) — Britain today faced the risk of all-out war on the labor front this winter.

Nearly six million workers, ignoring the "wage freeze" pleas of Prime Minister Harold Macmillan's government, have presented demands for pay boosts or shorter working hours. And the list of new pay claims is snowballing almost daily.

The government, alarmed by mounting inflation that could price this country out of the world's export markets, has turned down any pay increases for civil servants or employees of nationalized industries.

It also is applying heavy moral pressure, together with credit squeeze thumbscrews, in an effort to clamp down on wage boosts in private industry.

Many employers, encouraged by the government's policy, have rejected or announced they will reject union demands.

But the unions, backed by the Labor party, are piling on the pressure.

If the two fronts continue to harden as they have, the country easily could be faced with a series of crippling strikes—perhaps the worst since the general strike of 1926.

HONITON, Eng. (AP)—Carpenter Fred Hayman found a mouse's nest made entirely of chewed-up £1 and 10-shilling bank notes while repairing a house wall Sunday.

At a quick estimate, Hayman said, the well-heeled rodent had spent at least £10 ($28) on its unusual dormitory.

NEW SHIP WELCOMED

The Pacific Command's anti-submariine fleet reached a post-war peak Sunday with the arrival of HMCS Margaree, DDE 230, from Halifax.

Margaree, a twin to HMC Ships Skeena and Fraser which were built in B.C., was constructed on the East Coast but arrived with a mainly Western crew aboard.

Her commanding officer is Capt. Jack Korning of Victoria. All ratings have home towns west of the Great Lakes, and the older hands are former crew members of the HMCS Sioux, formerly based here.

Arrival of the new ship brought to six the number of sub-hunters in the Second Canadian Escort Squadron, based at Esquimalt.

MONTE ROBERTS

In this space Saturday appeared an alleged joke, about a gentleman named Rhee who worked for one of Mr. Henry Luce's magazines, and about a search party which endeavored to locate Mr. Rhee.

At least, that's how I ended the joke.

Which is the reason for explanation, apology and embarrassment.

In the first place, the joke was presented to me, free of charge, by a very highly placed executive of this firm.

And in the second place, I arrived at the office this morning to find this note in my typewriter:

"Monte:

"Congratulations:

"Maybe that makes the story only ½ as bad as it was originally."

Thus endeth the explanation and the apology.

The embarrassment continues, but as for the other half of the punch-line—you figure out what was missing.

Warning:

My Favorite Wife may up and make a football bet at you.

With me, her most constant sucker, she has won every bet but one during the regular Big Four and WIFU season and play-offs.

Including bets on Toronto Argos when Toronto Argos were losing every game except when MFW bet on them.

And MFW has a simple system for this astonishing success.

She lets the sucker—preferably a keen student of the game—pick his team, and then she bets the other way.

Says she does this because she doesn't know anything about football, and might choose wrongly if she did the picking.

So stay away from the subject of football when MFW is around, and do not ask me who bet on Winnipeg last Saturday.

SIX-YEAR RCAF VETERAN and graduate of St. Louis College here, FO. Marcel Vaesen, 27, was killed Saturday when his automobile crashed in Portage la Prairie, Man., A NATO student passenger in the car escaped injury. Among survivors are three brothers in Victoria. Icy road conditions were believed responsible for the fatal crash.

The detention home has reported several break-outs and officials have asked admission age be limited at 16.

Salary increases for the two commissioners of the Workmen's Compensation Board were approved by the cabinet today.

Annual salaries of Ernest V. Ablett and Christopher W. Pritchard of Vancouver have been raised from $10,000 to $11,500.

N. R. Byers, of B.C. Telephone, told police Saturday someone had smashed the telephone in a booth at 1625 Fort, and money from it was stolen.

Later he found the same thing had happened at 209 Menzies and the telephone parts were taken away.

ASK The TIMES

Q.—When was the violin invented?—N.D.

A.—The forerunner of the violin came from the Far East and, according to tradition, the first stringed instrument played with a bow was invented by a king of Ceylon centuries ago. Today minstrels in India play a two-stringed fiddle said to be nearly the same instrument. The Arabs had a one-stringed instrument, introduced into Europe sometime before the 900's. The violin yas perfected in Italy, and took its present form in th 1550's.

Q.—What does the word "vinegar" mean?—B.R.

Anyone wishing a question answered is invited to send the problem along to The Times, addressed to "Ask The Times" Editor. Questions and answers will be published daily.

All questions should deal with matters of fact and be of general interest. The Times does not undertake to solve conundrums.

Car Crashes Send Five to Hospital

85-Year-Old Pedestrian Injured; Cyclist Runs Into Open Car Door

An elderly pedestrian was one of five persons taken to hospital as a result of weekend auto crashes in Greater Victoria.

John William Lupton, 85, 3270 Oak, is in good condition at Jubilee Hospital with head injuries after he was in collision with a car at Douglas and Cloverdale Sunday at 6.30 p.m.

Saanich police said driver of the car was Frederick G. W. Knight, 4437 Prospect Lake, who was driving south on Douglas at the time of the accident.

The pedestrian was unconscious when admitted, the hospital said.

SOOKE CRASH

Peter Van Dyke, 40, and his wife Mary, 48, of 121 Government, were treated for knee and ankle injuries respectively at St. Joseph's Hospital at 4.30 p.m. Sunday after they were involved in an accident near Sooke.

Both were discharged after treatment.

Markos Lagios, 18, 405 Michigan, was treated at St. Joseph's for a nose laceration and possible jaw fracture after the bicycle he was riding was in collision with an open car door on Menzies, Saturday, at 1.05 p.m.

Police said Robert H. Burrows, 411 Heather, had parked his car and was just opening the door to get out when the accident happened.

Motorcyclist Garry Dibden, 16, 3434 Doncaster, was taken to Jubilee with a possible fractured arm after he was in collision with a parked car at about 3.05 p.m. Saturday.

He told police another auto had forced him off the road and the driver had then stopped and taken him to hospital for treatment, but did not leave his name.

Jack MacKenzie Again President Of Local IWA

Jack MacKenzie, president of IWA Local 1-118 here, was elected to his seventh term in the office by acclamation Sunday.

Elections will be held by the membership to choose between nominations of:

The pavilion will serve adults and children at Mappo. Seoul's worst slum area, and give ambulatory TB treatment free of charge through the services of home-visiting teams.

This winter will be hard for Koreans. The summer barley harvest was 30 per cent below normal. Inflation is a serious threat. An untold number of people still live in extreme poverty — 13,000 in the city of Seoul alone are living in caves.

Tuberculosis, the great killer, will have an open field. The children will be push-overs.

The bricks are 10 cents each but already two Times' readers have bought 200 bricks each.

ACT FAST

"Enlightened" enclosed a note saying "for heaven's sake get this enclosed bill to Dr. Lotta Hitschmanova (executive director of the Unitarian Services Committee) as fast as you can—and I do hope I shall be able to follow it up with more."

The pensioner wrote: "I cannot give to all the things Victoria asks, so gave to none this year, but have lumped it all together and am sending it where I believe it's most needed . . . wishing you the best of luck in your drive."

With The Times donation of $100, we now have 1,400 bricks.

One-Third Boost Asked in Budget Of Parks Group

A recommendation to boost the Victoria-Saanich beaches and parks committee budget by 33⅓ per cent in 1958, will go to city council Thursday.

Council finance committee today agreed the 1958 budget should be increased from $9,000 to $12,000, with Saanich contributing $4,000 instead of $3,000, as in the past. Saanich council has already approved the step.

Span Insurance For Collapse Studied by City

$2,452 Cost For All Risks

City council finance committee today considered insuring Point Ellice Bridge against fire, lightning, flood, rising waters, windstorm or collapse.

The committee was told the insurance against damage to the bridge, for all risks, would cost $2,452 for $640,000 coverage, over a three-year period.

It would be a "10,000 to one" chance of the insurance being required, said Mayor Percy Scurrah. City manager C. C. Wyatt pointed out the Johnson Street bridge is not insured against damage or loss.

"If you are going to insure one you should insure the other," he advised.

Neither bridge has insured in the past.

When the first Point Ellice Bridge collapsed in 1896 the city was required to pay out $112,500 in claims. Thirty-nine claimants received payment of from $400 to $18,000. The litigation was not completed until 1903.

The committee will study the proposal further.

18 More Meters Broken Open; Youths Suspected

Break-in and theft of money from 18 downtown parking meters was reported by police over the weekend, bringing to more than 50 the number smashed and robbed since last week.

Saturday night a constable on special meter patrol kept two 15-16-year-old boys under surveillance for one and a half hours when they acted suspiciously on Pandora between Broad and Government.

He said he did not see them break any meters, but on examining a number later he found three had been forced. He then was unable to find the boys.

Four meters were forced on Pandora, three on Cormorant, two on Blanshard, four on Fort and one each on Yates and Government.

Judge Explains 50 MPH Not Right at All Times

Judge J. B. Clearihue warned motorists today that because they are travelling in a 50-mile zone on a main highway does not mean they can in all circumstances drive at 50 miles an hour.

The judge made this observation in Victoria County Court when giving judgment against a city motorist who knocked down an elderly cyclist on the Pat Bay Highway on Aug. 30, 1956.

$474 DAMAGES

Judge Clearihue found that the motorist, Gustave Steinbeck, 2718 Rock Bay Avenue, was "solely responsible" for the accident and he awarded $474 in damages to Gunnar Sorenson, the executor of Mr. Nielsen's will and estate.

Mr. Sorenson had claimed $481 for hospital and medical expenses occasioned by Mr. Nielsen's injuries.

Mr. Steinbeck denied driving negligently and counter-claimed for $83 for damages to his car. The counter-claim was dismissed.

50 M.P.H.

There were three cars behind him, the third driven by Mr. Steinbeck who was travelling at 50 miles an hour in a 50-mile zone.

The first two cars pulled out and passed the cyclist. The third car "intended to pass him" but struck him as he turned left to go to the store.

The judge found that Mr. Nielsen had signalled his intention of turning left by extending his arm. Mr. Steinbeck claimed he did not see this signal.

"There is a very heavy onus on a car following another car, particularly when the driver attempts to pass it," Judge Clearihue said.

WHEN PASSING

"The fact that a motorist is in a 50-mile zone does not mean he can in all circumstances drive at 50 miles an hour, especially when passing a man on a bicycle."

In his defence of Mr. Steinbeck, Robert J. Harvey emphasized that no blame was attached to him at the inquest on Mr. Nielsen.

The coroner, Dr. E. C. Hart, had found that Mr. Niesen died "accidentally, casually and by misfortune" and there was no police charge against Mr. Steinbeck.

5-DAY BREAKS FOR B.C.'s CIVIL SERVICE

A cabinet order-in-council today fixes Friday, Dec. 27, Thursday, Jan. 2, and Friday, Jan. 3, as special holidays for government employees.

This means they will come to work on Monday and Tuesday of each week and be off for the rest of the week.

The extra-long holidays are the result of Christmas Day and New Year's Day falling on Wednesday this year.

Six Strikes By Thieves Over Weekend

A representative of the Oil, Chemical and Atomic Workers' Union told police a strike sign was stolen from Fisherman's Wharf between 5 and 10 p.m. Saturday.

If located, the sign was to be destroyed, the union said.

Drysdale's Builders' Supplies Ltd., 1710 Cook, reported a small pane of glass was broken in a front office door and the burglar reached inside to unlock the latch.

There appeared to be nothing stolen.

RING STOLEN

Saturday afternoon Mrs. Hazel Hodson, 403 Linden, told police someone had stolen an old gold ring, a pair of silver and black stone earrings and a three-diamond engagement ring from her dresser drawer about two weeks ago.

Then last Wednesday she missed a diamond engagement ring valued at $350, also from her dresser.

Fred's Esso Service, 3115 Douglas, reported two cars had been broken into overnight Sunday, but nothing stolen.

A break-in at New Method Laundries Ltd., 947 North Park, also was reported, but there was no report of stolen property.

TRAFFIC FINES

Chu Ming, Victoria, $35 and restricted to business driving only for one month, for careless driving.

Gerald Robert McMahon, 2815 Nanaimo, $35 and licence suspension for careless driving and $10 for having inadequate brakes.

Leading Stallion to Stay In City, Says New Owner

Grey Skies, B.C.'s leading thoroughbred stallion this year, has moved into Victoria Riding Academy stables on Cedar Hill Cross Road. And he has a new owner.

The 13-year-old son of the great Mahmoud will be stabled there "for the winter if not longer" according to his owner, Capt. A. J. Warren who gave assurance Grey Skies will remain in Victoria.

The stallion, sire of 48 winners on B.C. tracks this year, went to the annual thoroughbred auctions at Vancouver a week ago in settlement of the estate of the late J. J. Ross of Victoria. He was purchased there by a syndicate of Victoria horse enthusiasts whose purpose was to keep the handsome animal on Vanocuver Island.

DISBANDED

The syndicate disbanded on the weekend, selling out to Capt. Warren, a member of the B.C. Pilotage Authority and a horse owner for several years, who was one of the shareholders.

According to Don Carley, operator of the Victoria Riding Academy and owner of eight offspring of the stallion, Grey Skies may be used in a new venture.

Grey Skies, of course, will be available for continued thoroughbred and show horse breeding.

LABOR HELPS SENIOR CITIZENS

This Chip 'n' Dip Server Dandy for Entertaining

By PENNY SAVER

Someone has solved the question of how to serve potato chip dip! It must have been a brilliant mind that invented this remarkable stand which supports a large bowl for the chips and, above it, a smaller one for the dip. No more bother trying to handle two serving pieces . . . just one does the job.

I predict this "chip 'n' dip" server will be popular in Victoria, where a party just isn't a party, these days, without a potato chip dip! Or at least it's getting that way.

Local hostesses have wholeheartedly taken to the idea of serving gooey combinations of cheese, seafoods, sour cream, chopped onions, curry (or anything else that might serve to take the "kissing sweetness" from one's breath) as dips for potato chips.

Must admit, though, a scoop of tangy dip on a crisp potato chip is a mighty tasty morsel . . . one which prompts me to try another . . . and another!

The smart-looking brass stand supporting two glass bowls for the chips and dip, costs $7.95 or $5.95, depending upon which size and style you choose.

Suggestion: It would make an excellent wedding gift for a young couple who will probably be entertaining in the future.

Also for the table are imported place mats.

From the Philippines are fibre mats, woven in ovals or squares which come in natural beige color. Just $1 each, they are smart and different.

A little more expensive, but certainly fine value, are handwoven place mats (also from the Philippines) of very fine fibre. These come in deep colors with interesting designs on them and sell for $1.75.

For everyday, buy plain but attractive natural straw place mats for 50c each. Colored, in yellow, blue or green, they are priced at 75c each.

On Etiquette

MUST SHE HAVE A FUR COAT?

I am a secretary and live in moderate circumstances. I have some very dear but wealthy friends living in a nearby city who have invited me to visit them and attend a formal social function. My clothes, naturally, are very modest and I do not feel I can buy anything special for the occasion, yet I do not want to embarrass my hosts in front of their friends. I will have to wear a cloth coat to this party and know that probably every other woman will be in furs. I haven't accepted yet and need your help.

Louise Davis

Louise Davis answers:

Either be yourself or don't go. This would be an excellent challenge for you if you do go. I am sure that it is your charm, personality, poise and educational background that has welded this relationship with your rich friends. A cloth coat, while inexpensive by contrast to a mink or a sable, is unimportant. If sables and minks are to impress others, then it is veneer to cover up an inferiority complex. If they are worn by those born to that station in life and who have something on the ball to boot, then their expensive furs are warranted. You are the only one who can decide whether or not to go. You shouldn't feel like a poor relation, nor would you want to be thought of as one, but if the friends of your hosts are real and genuine, there is no reason why you should hesitate. Keep in mind that wraps are removed after arriving at a party.

Art Discussion

Mrs. Elizabeth Goward, one of the city's most gifted portrait artists, was guest speaker at the second art discussion following a meeting of the women's committee to the Art Gallery of Greater Victoria.

The speaker touched upon the value of inspirational guidance in her work and the richly rewarding task of searching for the personality or expression of the subject which would give the finished work its true appeal.

With children this expression has to be captured very quickly, as their moods vary from minute to minute and from sitting to sitting, she said.

An amusing account was given of a teenage model whose father wanted the finished portrait to look "studious"; the mother wanted it to look "poetic" and the subject merely wanted it to look "glamorous."

Many other phases of portrait work were commented upon by the speaker. A question and answer period followed.

WHY GROW OLD?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Thickening in Middle Shows Sign of Age

The woman who has a slim waist and a well-rounded bustline usually has an attractive figure. Even if her hips are a little out of line her silhouette will appear youthful.

The protruding abdomen and the thickening of the waist are the two most common evidences of middle age.

Another: This is an old timer but still good. Stand tall with the feet separated, arms raised sideways, shoulder height. Keep the arms in this same relation to the body. Bend the trunk and try to touch the fingertips of the right hand to the left toe. Raise the trunk (all the way up and lift the rib cage). This time bend the trunk and try to touch the fingertips of the left hand to the right toe. Raise trunk and continue, alternating. Do this smoothly and slowly, giving plenty of time for the stretch and pull of the muscles.

Even when you are not overweight, fatty deposits have a tendency to settle at the waistline and over the abdomen. Exercise will decrease these measurements. Many women find it becoming to the face and neck to be just a little heavier than they were in early youth but dislike thickening through the middle. Exercise is the answer!

If this is your problem and you would like to have my waist-slimming exercises, send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for leaflet No. 6 "Don't Go to Waist." Address Josephine Lowman in care of this newspaper.

TODAY'S RECIPE

CHEESE PASTRY

Ask any man his favorite dessert and he is almost sure to say "Why, apple pie, of course."

Well, here's a new touch for this special dessert. Tangy cheese is baked right into the crust of this apple pie. And what a mouth-watering crust it is, the perfect compliment for the spicy apple filling.

Mix flour and salt in bowl. Cut in shortening until the pieces are the size of peas. Stir in cheese. Blend together ⅓ cup of this mixture and 5 tablespoons water, add to remaining flour-shortening mixture, mix with fork until dough holds together. Divide into two parts. Roll out top and bottom crusts. This makes enough pastry for a double-crust 9-inch pie.

For the filling, use 6 to 7 sliced apples, ¾ to 1 cup sugar, depending on tartness of apples, ⅛ teaspoon salt, ¾ teaspoon cinnamon, ¼ teaspoon nutmeg and 1 tablespoon butter. If apples are a juicy variety, add 1 or 2 tablespoons flour. Just mix it all up lightly, heap into the pie shell, cover with a steam-vented top crust and bake in hot oven 400 F. for 50 to 60 minutes.

Has Victoria Seen Last Debutantes Presented?

By ELIZABETH FORBES

Will there be another debutante ball in Victoria?

At least, with the young ladies making their first bows to His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor as the representative of Her Majesty the Queen.

The whisper has been going the rounds in the city ever since a statement was noted in press despatches that Queen Elizabeth II has decided to drop presentations at Buckingham Palace next year in favor of more garden parties.

QUEEN'S EDICTS

Decision of Her Majesty the Queen might easily affect any future presentation of debutantes in Victoria—or, for that matter, in any of the Commonwealth countries.

So far no official notification has been received in the Government House office here regarding presentations and Cmdr. Gar Dixon, his honor's secretary, says:

"It may well be that we will not receive any notification. After all, debutante balls have not been held in Government House for many years."

On the other hand the question being whispered by mothers with future debutante daughters is:

Will His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor receive officially if there is another debutante ball?

Major W. C. Roberts, honorary-secretary of the United Service Institution of Vancouver Island, sponsors of the Debutante Ball in this city believes that "debutante balls will continue here as they have done in the past."

ONLY OVERSEAS

He says further that he thinks that the Buckingham Palace edict is for overseas only and will not be widened to include the rest of the Commonwealth.

In other words he thinks "that it will be left to the discretion of the individual representatives of Her Majesty as to whether they will receive the debutantes or not.

"In Victoria I believe the custom will be continued," Major Roberts said, "for his Honor the Lieutenant-Governor enjoys receiving our debutantes."

Of course, no matter what the edict, debutantes will still be presented to society in some way or another.

A COTILLION

In the eastern United States the young daughters of well-known families have for many years made their formal bows at a traditional cotillion ball.

During that ball the coterie of debutantes and their escorts appear in a cotillion waltz that has a graceful pattern of procedure in which the debutantes are presented by their escorts with their dainty bouquets.

Offering Takes Place Of Bazaar

On Tuesday afternoon members of the Women's Association of First Baptist Church will present their annual thank-offering at a meeting commencing at 2 p.m.

This year, the free-will offerings, given through the seven groups of the Women's Association, will take the place of the usual fall tea or bazaar through which money is raised for budgeted commitments for the year.

Guest speaker at tomorrow's meeting will be Mrs. W. P. Freeman and her subject "Born to Give."

In charge of arrangements is Mrs. Max Zabel and her group, the McLaurin Circle. Provincial president of the Baptist women, Mrs. Newland Phillips will give the devotional. Miss K. B. Stewart, association president, will chair the meeting. There will be a social hour with arrangements in charge of Mrs. J. Bleakley, Mrs. A. R. Coleman and Mrs. G. Finlay.

Couple Well-Known in Victoria Principals in Mainland Wedding

Of interest in Victoria is the Saturday wedding in Vancouver of Dianne Elizabeth, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ross Wilson and Thomas Charles Sterling, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Henry Gray Sterling. The bride is granddaughter of Mrs. H. Goulding Wilson of this city.

Entering St. Mary's Anglican Church, Kerrisdale, for the service conducted by Dr. R. L. Seaborn, the bride wore an exquisite gown of lustre peau de soi with basque bodice of richly embroidered Alencon lace, long sleeved with gently curved portrait neckline. Her full skirt, accented by a bustle bow and sweeping into a deep cathedral train was appliqued with lace motifs.

Belled, ballerina-length princess gowns of star sapphire blue were worn by attendants, Miss Moira Crawford, maid of honor; Mrs. Kenneth Stevenson, Mrs. D'Alton McCarthy, Miss Joan Ross and Miss Joan Thomas. They wore white furred tiny hat and muffs.

Grant Woodward McLaren was best man, and David Hossie Jr., Terrence Crane, George F. Jones, Peter McMartin and Frank Wittner of Penticton were ushers.

Reception was held at Shaughnessy Heights Golf Club, where Dr. J. C. Thomas proposed the toast to the bride.

The bride is a graduate of Crofton House School and both principals attended University of British Columbia, where Mr. Sterling is affiliated with Zeta Psi fraternity.

Mr. and Mrs. Sterling are spending their honeymoon in California.

BRIDGE LESSON

By Oswald Jacoby

Obviously North and South must have known what they were doing since they landed at a very satisfactory five club contract.

If the bidding appears peculiar to you it is because North and South were using a modern gadget known as the unusual no-trump.

North's two no-trump bid did not indicate any desire to play no-trump. All it did was tell his partner that he was loaded with diamonds and clubs.

East's four spade bid made things difficult for South but he was not going to be shut out. He did not know if he could make five clubs but he knew that he wouldn't be hurt since his partner had guaranteed length in both minor suits.

West opened the ace of spades and continued the suit. South trumped in dummy and led dummy's singleton heart. This play gave him a chance to plan his complete play later on.

West won with the ten and led a third spade. South trumped in dummy, discarded a heart from his hand and considered the significance of West's play.

He decided that West would surely have led a diamond if he did not hold the king. Hence, the diamond finesse would work. South played the ace of clubs from dummy, led a club to his king, finessed the queen of diamonds, trumped a diamond, ruffed another diamond with his last trump and claimed the balance of the tricks since dummy was now entirely good.

STEWART & HUDSON
EVERYTHING FOR HOME BUILDERS

THE FAMILY CAR
Has been a necessary and useful article for many years. However, like many other things the family habits are changing and instead of the family car we see so many of the nice new family Ranchwagons and Stationwagon cars on the road today. In fact, in many parts of the country the Stationwagon has become so popular that Showrooms and Saleslots have been set up to sell Stationwagons. You see although styles change families still like to do things together such as going on holidays camping, to the beach, and picnics, and what can be more pleasurable than an outing with the family.
The Ranchwagon can also be a practical and useful family car in many other ways, for instance it's so easy to drive down to the lumberyard and pick up the odd jag of lumber, a few pieces of Plywood, some Wallboard, Floor Tiles, and the other accessories that go for home modernizing projects. It's fun also to have the family join in on these events, let them have a share in planning that new Rumpus Room or activities room in the basement, a spare bedroom in the attic or putting new panelling on those bedrooms with cracked plaster. Yes, the whole family can have fun and be a wonderful help in undertaking those small remodelling and renovating jobs around home.

THIS WEEK
We have some wonderful specials for fixing things around home, so collect up the family, drive down in the Ranchwagon and see some of these bargains for yourself. Here's the first: Factory Grade Squaretex Hardboard. This Hardboard is ¼" thick and comes factory painted; it can be left with the factory finish or it can be painted to the color of your choice. This board is unusually practical for ceilings and walls, in kitchens, bathrooms, basement rooms on both walls and ceiling. It is a very dense hardboard and will take lots of rough wear. Squaretex has an especially decorative effect by the appearance from the recessed squares which are in 12"x12" and 16"x16" squares, when the panels join up the wall joints are barely visible because of this unique pattern effect contained in the Hardboard. Sheet sizes are 48"x48"x¼" thick, only $1.92.
Secondly, we have another shipment of D Grade Weldtex Panels. These Weldtex Panels have been rejected for the hit and miss appearance on the face of the panel. However, they are still very practical and useful for a decorative effect in lining basement rooms, attics and garages, or any place where the final finish is not too all important. At these prices of course is less than half the price of the regular stock and is just as reasonable as some of the ordinary rough plywood available. Sheet sizes are 48"x96"x⅜" thick and only $3.84 per sheet, while the supply lasts.
To finish off the room you will undoubtedly need to include one or two doors, or perhaps more including the closets. Just this week we have received a new shipment of "C" Grade Fir Plywood Doors and instead of the usual limited sizes are able to offer a fairly complete range of doors in these bargain prices.

2-4x6-6x1⅜",	each	$7.25
2-6x6-6x1⅜",	each	$7.60
2-8x6-8x1⅜",	each	$7.70
2-10x6-10x1¾",	each	$9.60
3-0x7-0x1¾",	each	$9.60

At these prices our ¾" thick doors are excellent buying for desk tops, table tops, and even solid partitions in certain areas where practical.

YOU CAN'T AVOID IT
Yes, Christmas is coming and the pressure will be on, and among the things which you might plan early is the matter of house decorations. This year the plywood manufacturers have excelled themselves in making available a nice variety of Christmas cut-outs for exterior decorations. These large paper cut-outs are available in four different patterns. There is (1) the Santa Claus pattern, (2) the Reindeer pattern, (3) the Sleigh pattern, and (4) the three Choir Boys pattern.
These patterns are all gaily colored and ready to paste onto ordinary plywood and then simply cut out with a bandsaw or scrollsaw. These figures go up to six feet tall in height and are really very realistic and attractive. All you do is paste them to a sheet of 4x8x⅜" plywood, which is available at $6.24 per sheet. These patterns when covered with a sealer of ordinary varnish will stand up on the exterior under all types of weather conditions. Cost of plans is only 65c for any of the items listed above. Drop down to our yard and see the actual plans set up on plywood backgrounds exactly as they can appear on your home.

T. V. with Lee

'Beyond This Place' Drama Billed for Channel 11 at 8.30

By PHIL LEE, Times TV Editor

CHATTER—While in the U.S. during vacationtime heard disquieting rumors about the private lives of Eddie and Debby Fisher. I usually try to leave this sort of thing alone, being primarily concerned with the finished work of the artists as displayed on the large screens of the cinema or the small screens at home. But, as a reporter, I feel justified in making the notation for what it is worth, hoping, of course, that all is well between these two popular young persons . . .

Jack Benny's breathing a sigh of relief. In his last Sunday show he just missed being gulped up by the all engulping "Maverick." The hour-long Western posted a 21.1 against Benny's 22.8, and almost extinguished "Sally's" faint 7.8. Once past Benny, however, "Maverick" easily took the measure of Ed Sullivan, 24 to 20.2, and Steve Allen at 15.

"She said her first words today —'What's on TV tonight?'"

* * *

BEST ratings news of the week as far as this corner is concerned, was General Motors' scintillating two-hour extravaganza which tabled 33 to GE Theatre's 19.7, 34 to Alfred Hitchcock's 18.8, 32 to $64,000 Challenge's 17, and completeed the last half-hour with 27.4.

Forgot, in passing, to offer a low bow to Donald O'Connor and David Wayne for their delightful spoof together in Playhouse 90's "The Jet-Propelled Couch" . . . Bob Hallock seems a happy choice as boss of CKEK-TV's promotion information . . . and, still speaking of CHEK, Norm Pringle's House Party is becoming a decided Friday night favorite about the Lee house—certainly it can stand on its own against any local programs dreamed up by Mainland or U.S. stations . . .

There's a gag going about: "The man-on-the-street next year may be Steve Allen."

Rudolph the Red Nosed Reindeer

By Robert L. May

SANTA'S VISITOR, MERDIN THE MAGICIAN, IS LIKE THE NEW BROOM THAT SWEEPS CLEAN--AND IT LOOKS AS IF RUDOLPH, WINKY AND BLINKY ARE GOING TO BE SWEPT CLEAN OUT OF THEIR JOBS---
SOMETHING MUST BE DONE!
THAT'S RIGHT!
BUT WHAT?
11-25
RUBE GROSSMAN
RUDOLPH! WINKY! BLINKY! THERE'S WORK TO BE DONE.
WORK? SEE? I TOLD YOU THERE WAS NOTHING TO WORRY ABOUT! MERDIN THE MAGICIAN AND HIS ALADDIN'S LAMP WILL NEVER TAKE OUR PLACES IN SANTA'S WORKSHOP!
REPORTING FOR WORK! WHAT TOY DO WE MAKE FIRST, SANTA?
TOYS? HO-HO-HO! THE GENIE IN THIS LAMP WILL TAKE CARE OF THAT IN THE MORNING! YOUR JOB IS TO TAKE CARE OF THE LAMP UNTIL THEN!

LEISUREHOME TRAILERS

There is hardly anything that someone can't build a little worse, and sell a little cheaper. The people that consider price only are the man's lawful prey.

It is unwise to pay too much but worse to pay too little. A person that pays too much may lose a little money but a person that pays too little often loses a lot. The common law of business balance rules out the possibility of paying a little and getting a lot.

So before you buy a mobile home be sure to compare quality and appointments offered by "Leisurehome," and you too will find "Leisurehome" is your wisest investment. 1958 models now in stock in 8' and 10' widths. Also several good used units including a 1956 "Glendale" 27' one-bedroom, fully modern and in immaculate condition, just taken in on trade on a large 1958 "Leisurehome." See at 2301 Douglas or phone 4-3825, eves 4-8456.

CARROLL RIGHTER'S ASTROLOGICAL FORECAST

TUESDAY, NOVEMBER 26, 1957

ARIES (March 21 to April 19)—A person of power has taken an interest in you and is willing to give financial support you need. But be wary of that close tie who is inclined to be jealous. Don't take him or her into your confidence.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20)—Secret confab with influential person will result in obtaining more streamlined way in which to operate and succeed faster. Tonight, be certain you want to make radical changes possible, or regret at leisure.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21)—By accompanying your good associate to places and personalities not normally in your daily orbit, you will gain prestige and goodwill with everyone. Tonight, don't decide to make a drastic change. Be loyal.

CANCER (June 22 to July 21)—While you are sitting fairly pretty, this is the day to increase your efforts for greater abundance. And by displaying generosity to closest emotional interest, you gain though it will mean tightening your belt.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21)—Opportunity to come to good understanding with a fine, modern-thinking, clever partner is present in A.M. For best results, go to some place with beautiful atmosphere or environment to his or her liking. Use passive approach.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22)—You have reached the danger point in your financial affairs, so immediately delve into all those labors possible right now which raise you to attainment of real success. Don't lament, work with vim and conquer.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22)—A.M. is opportune for the embellishment of all your charms at the hands of experts. Then take pains to show true affection for vital persons in your life who might be lost by your being unpleasant in any way.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21)—Take care to make everything within your environment as lovely as possible in early A.M. Later, avoid that person in power, or handle with kid gloves, who is unhappy and looking for someone to chastise. Be kind.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21)—A.M. fine for getting data you require for conferences, shopping, sales, etc. First look in newspaper, then plan your itinerary wisely. Stick by beaten path and forget about going after bubbles and baubles.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20)—Go after the advice from plain-talking banking man, or other expert on money matters, who will tell you exactly how to increase value of property and possessions. Follow it. Avoid arguments everywhere possible.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19)—The perfect day to ride your goals as well as hobbies with all you've got. A very blunt pal is apt to give you the pointers that put you on the right track, but don't vacillate between seriousness and folly. Be exact.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to March 20)—The wisest thing is to attend to mundane or political affairs today. Finally, it is possible to get started on new plans that will cut down expenses, work and raise your standing. Be altruistic, loyal to country.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TUESDAY

The child born Tuesday is the delightful kind who has brains and is at his or her best when deeply concentrating upon a matter of serious import. A fine education is a must for this hard-working progeny of yours in order that the clever mind is kept busy at all times in constructive channels, for idleness would ruin this youngster's health and happiness. The politician, government attache is here.

Firm Accepts Gov't Terms On Big Project

CAMPBELL RIVER (CP)—The Campbell River Development Corporation Sunday signalled acceptance of the government's terms pertaining to the Campbell River waterfront improvement project.

The corporation plans to create, by land fills, 20 acres of "key business property" in the downtown area of Campbell River.

The report of a government investigation into the waterfront development was released in Victoria Thursday by Dan Campbell, Social Credit member for Comox.

The report supported the corporation and scored the village commission at Campbell River for placing "pitfalls" in the corporation's path.

William S. Mullett, corporation president, said Sunday he was "quite willing to accept the terms of allowance laid down by the government board."

These include posting of a performance bond to assure completion of the project, meeting of village requirements regarding streets and sewers, insurance of the breakwater and waterfront development against storm damage to save the municipality the cost of rebuilding, and purchase of the reclaimed land from the crown at a price to be set by independent appraisal.

In a letter to Lands and Forests Minister Ray Williston, Mr. Mullett said he was ready "to negotiate a formal agreement" at any time.

He said he had suggested in his letter to Mr. Williston that "an agreement be drawn without undue delay."

Mr. Mullett said the completed development would cost more than $2,000,000. It will include a breakwater, a nine-acre harbor, a hotel, a swimming pool, a variety of retail stores and marine services.

He estimated it would take five months to bring the development to "ground level." Work is scheduled to begin in February or March.

New Canteen Planned For Hospital Patients

CHEMAINUS—The hospital auxiliary will set up a "canteen" for the benefit of patients.

Idea behind the canteen is to make available small articles usually forgotten by patients in their rush to leave for the hospital. These will include cigarets, tooth paste, tooth brushes, hand lotion and combs.

In connection with their "Thrift Sale" on Dec. 6, the auxiliary will raffle a hamper valued at $35 and give away a cheque to cover the cost of a turkey. The auxiliary has received permission to sell Christmas corsages on the day of their sale.

CROFTON — A by-election will be held here to fill a vacancy on the Cowichan District 65 school board caused by the resignation of W. D. Prangley of Crofton.

FOR SCHOOL BOARD

Sooke Hopefuls Face Public Tuesday Night

LANGFORD — Candidates for election to Sooke School Board Nov. 30 will appear Tuesday night at 8 at a public meeting in Belmont Junior-Senior High School.

Ratepayers of Langford, Colwood, Glen Lake, and Metchosin will vote for two trustees. The system replaces the previous method still used in the lesser populated portion of the district of choosing representatives from school attendance areas.

There are five candidates in all.

John S. Williams, Glen Lake, board chairman for the last three years and member for seven, is a master mariner by profession and is employed at HMC Dockyard. Father of five children, he has lived all his life in Saanich and Glen Lake, and is an executive of the B.C. School Trustees' Association.

FARMER

Trustee Aubrey R. Hull, Jacklin Road, is a potato farmer and lifetime resident of Langford, and has been on the school board since January, 1956. He served on both finance and buildings and grounds committees.

One of three newcomers, James C. Polson, Glen Lake Road, was in the CNR regional auditing office for 32 years, and now is secretary-treasurer of Langford Welding and Repair Co. He has lived in the district eight years.

CONTRACTOR

Howard Sewell, Jacklin Road, is a plumbing contractor and property owner in the district for 10 years. He has made his home here for the last six years.

Fred Boulter, a shipwright at Point Hope Shipyards, is a former operator of the Thetis Lake concession. He has lived in the district for the past few months.

JOHN S. WILLIAMS

AUBREY R. HULL

Douglas Heads Clayoquot Legion Branch

TOFINO — New officers of Clayoquot Sound branch, Canadian Legion, are Robert G. Douglas, president; Rev. J. W. Leighton, vice-president and padre; and Albert Wallace, secretary-treasurer.

Executive members are Martin Lind, Walter Guppy, Fred Hagelin, Ted Tombes and R. Roy Barr, and Logan Thompson is sergeant-at-arms. Bar manager is A. H. Demeria.

Alberni Defeated

Maggs Heads Ratepayers

Chemainus Pushes Scholarship Fund

CHEMAINUS—Organizations here and throughout the school district are being asked to contribute to a centennial scholarship fund.

The scholarship fund is the idea of the District PTA Council, which hopes to obtain sufficient donations to put up a scholarship worthy of the centennial year for a deserving Grade 12 student.

Several donations have already been received from service clubs and groups both in Chemainus and Ladysmith, and it appears is meeting with general approval.

The PTA Council does not propose to make any decisions regarding the basis on which the scholarship will be awarded, but will leave this up to a committee composed of representatives of the various organizations donating to the fund.

Higher Insurance For N. Cowichan

CHEMAINUS — North Cowichan Council has approved the increase of insurance on municipal buildings from $146,666 to $176,864.

Formal approval of the Crofton water system as completed by B.C. Forest Products Ltd. was given at the regular council meeting. The municipality now will accept its share of the cost.

RCMP monthly report from Chemainus showed that $1,005 in fines and $78 in costs were collected in October.

Accounuts totalling $108,389 were passed for payment.

WATCH THEFT INVESTIGATED

Club-wielding police, called out to guard both the British and American embassies, dispersed about 300 young demonstrators who shouted "Algeria is French." Twenty youths were arrested.

Art Treasure Just Missed Garbage Can

By JOHN MIKA

How does it feel to sell a wormy old Goya sketch book for $20 and then learn, too late, it is valued at $465,000?

"I'm just thrilled to death. I'm glad he got it because I probably would have thrown it into the garbage eventually and certainly no one else would have done anything with it."

The words were spoken today by Mrs. Laura Mitchell, great-grand-daughter of Robert Dunsmuir, who was the scion of Vancouver Island's most famous family.

She was the person who put up for auction the 81-page, parchment sketch book bought in February, 1956, by J. P. E. Klaverwyden, 1560 Rockland, when his $20 bid was successful at a Maynard's auction.

Almost two centuries old, the sketch book passed through the hands of at least four members of the Dunsmuir family before Mr. Klaverwyden obtained it and climaxed three years of research by having it certified as the work of famous Spanish painter Francisco Goya Lucientes when he was 22.

Mrs. Mitchell almost threw it out because "it was just crawling with maggots" when it came into her possession by a fluke.

She obtained it in 1952 in Monte Carlo where she was living with an aunt, Mrs. Muriel Dunsmuir, now living at 1725 Beach Drive. While there, a second aunt, Mrs. Marian Stevenson, died and left all her possessions to Mrs. Dunsmuir.

"Muriel decided she only wanted some of the antiques left in the estate and she told me to take the rest," Mrs. Mitchell, a widow, said.

IN CUPBOARD

"I found the sketch book in a bathroom cupboard. It was just crawling with maggots and little insects and I nearly threw it away but finally I killed off the insects with DDT and brought it back with me when I returned to Victoria the following year."

Mrs. Mitchell lived at 1626 Rockland on her return—only a block away from retired Shell Oil executive Mr. Klaverwyden, an art enthusiast.

Feb. 26, 1955, according to Maynard's books, the Mrs. Mitchell put it up for auction. Written notes in the entry by Maynard's were: "Possibly 17th century? Spanish?" Now living at 2012 Allenby, she took the action because she could not fit all her possessions into her present apartment.

Times Reporter Quit Bidding On Goya 'Find'

By HUMPHRY DAVY
Times Staff Reporter

I nearly bought the Goya sketch book which was sold for a "song" at an auction sale in Victoria nearly three years ago.

I missed an opportunity of a lifetime, that is, making $465,000, the market value today of 81 wash and red chalk sketches drawn by the most famous of Spanish court painters.

It was a fantastic sale in many ways.

There were only three of us who bid for the drawings at Maynard's antique sale.

The art treasure was passed up by some 200 persons, including art connoisseurs from Vancouver and Seattle.

I first ran across the sketch book in the afternoon prior to the evening sale. The drawings, many dealing with human interest subjects, were so striking and delicately executed that I thought it was the best buy of the sale.

To me those simple drawings had more in them than all the silver and gold ornaments up for sale in the auction room. The drawings were unsigned. I did not know they had any value, but I wanted to acquire them for their own sake.

Bidding started at $2.

I was standing beside Mr. Klaverwyden, then unknown to me. He seemed so intent on acquiring the sketches that I felt it was of little use to continue the contest. I dropped out at a $10 bid.

There remained in the ring only a soft-spoken woman who wanted the sketches for personal reasons—she loved the drawings. She kept raising the bid a dollar at a time.

Some days later Mr. Klaverwyden told me he would have gone as high as $100 for the book, but no higher.

John Gray Surrenders To RCMP in Vancouver

VANCOUVER (CP) — John McPherson Gray, 46-year-old forest management executive, made a brief appearance in police court here today and was remanded until Thursday on charges of conspiring to bribe former B.C. forests minister Robert E. Sommers.

Gray, the fourth man arrested in connection with allegations of bribery against Sommers, walked into the RCMP station at the courthouse Saturday night and gave himself up. He was released two hours later on payment of $5,000 bail.

The other three men, Sommers, C. D. Schultz and H. Wilson Gray, brother of John Gray, were arrested Thursday and released on bail. They also were remanded until Thursday this week.

The action was taken following the laying of criminal charges against Mr. Sommers and three other men alleged to have been involved in a conspiracy.

Russia Can Hit All U.S. Targets

WASHINGTON (AP)—Dr. Edward Teller said today if the United States and Russia maintain their present pace of missile development "there is no doubt that Russia will leave us behind—and way behind."

And already, he said, he believes the Russians have "or will have in a short time" the ability to hit major industrial centres in the U.S. with an intercontinental ballistic missile. Specifically, he said he believes the Russians could hit such a distant target as Houston, Tex.

Teller, an expert on nuclear weapons, was the opening witness in a Senate inquiry into the U.S. missile program.

Teller said there was some "danger" in sharing secrets with other countries, but added that in view of Russian advances "we must accept the danger," he said. "The danger of not co-operating would be greater."

Hunter Dies In Plunge From Cliff

CHILLIWACK, B.C. (CP)—Searchers today found the body of Aron Ewert, 36-year-old Vancouver hunter, who fell 500 feet from a cliff Saturday on Neskkwatch Mountain.

Neskkwatch lies across a narrow valley from towering Mount Mount Slesse, 25 miles east of here, where a TCA planeplane crashed last December with the loss of 62 lives.

A 12-man search party radioed Chilliwack at noon today that it had located the body of Aron Ewert, a Vancouver contractor. The body was being brought here.

A hunting companion, John Ratzlaff, 29, said the two halted about 4.30 p.m. Saturday to decide whether to camp out for the night or try to reach home. Ratzlaff wanted to remain on the mountain, scene of the TCA crash last year that killed 62 persons, while Ewert voted to move down.

Ewert fastened a rope around a stump and had just started to go down when he slipped and fell down the sheer rock face of the cliff.

All Ratzlaff could hear, he said, was the ejaculation "Ho, my goodness," but he could see his partner tumbling and hitting rocks as he fell.

Ratzlaff fastened himself to a nearby tree with the sling of his rifle and spent a cold, wet night on the spot, wracked by cramps.

At dawn he made his way down the cliff but was unable to locate his friend. He then made his way to police headquarters.

Syria Attack Charged

JERUSALEM (AP) — Israel charged Syrian troops opened fire again today on Israeli civilians near Syrian border. Israeli spokesmen said there were no casualties. They said the shootings occurred near a border area where an Israeli field worker was killed Sunday.

PRAYER FOR TODAY

For the love that comes to us new each morning, the strength to live another day with faithfulness and courage, the faith in our fellow men which gives meaning to our earthly pilgrimage, the hope of Life Eternal which sets each day in the midst of Thine eternity, we thank Thee, O God, our heavenly Father. May Thy blessing rest upon our work this day; in Jesus name. Amen.

Bridge Traffic Halted

TAYLOR, B.C. (CP)—Areas north of the Peace River again lost road contact with the rest of British Columbia today. Army engineers halted traffic over a temporary bridge across the South Pine river, used to carry Alaska Highway traffic detouring around the wrecked Duffering bridge over the Peace River, as floating ice threatened to remove timber pilings.

Arab Ruler in U.S.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Morocco's King Mohammed V arrived here today to start a 19-day state tour that includes two long talks with President Eisenhower, and a first-hand look at the United States heartland.

NEW SLIDE THREAT AT PRINCE RUPERT

PRINCE RUPERT, B.C. (CP)—Thousands of tons of rock, dirt and trees that destroyed three homes and took seven lives in Friday's landslide are threatening another 10 homes in the area here.

RCMP ordered families out over the weekend when workmen searching for bodies reported that the rock was still creeping slowly down the mountain.

About 25 adults and children involved were given no time to collect valuables before evacuation, but most went readily, RCMP reported.

Eye-Witness Description Of Disaster

PRINCE RUPERT, B.C. (CP)—A 300-foot wall of mud and broken trees 50 feet deep crushed three houses like matchsticks and buried them, 300 feet away from their original sites. Seven persons were killed.

He had been working in the city gravel pit on Wantage Road, 11 blocks from the heart of the city.

"The moment I heard the noise I knew what it was," Mr. Krug said.

"First of all, the trees started to slide about 1,000 feet up the mountain, then she gained speed and started to pile up like a big snowball."

Trees, underbrush and mud rolled up into a huge 300-foot-wide wall as it rushed down the hill which has an angle of about 45 degrees.

HOUSES CRUMPLED

"It was 50 feet deep when it hit the houses and just pushed them ahead and crumpled them up and buried them.

"No one was outside the houses when they were hit," he said, scotching a belief that some of the seven victims may have rushed outside when they heard the noises and were separated from the buildings.

"It was about four minutes

(See story page 15)

LONDON (AP) — Buckingham Palace informants today described as nonsense reports published abroad that Princess Margaret has made a tearful new appeal to the Queen for permission to marry Group Capt. Peter Townsend.

Sources at the court suggested similar reports could be expected in anticipation of Townsend's expected return to Europe. Some informants here expect Townsend to visit London again within the next several weeks at the end of a round-the-world trip which he started after Margaret renounced him two years ago.

Five Year Highway Development Plan

(Special to the Times)

OTTAWA — Premier Bennett today called on the federal government to contribute up to $410,000,000 over the next five years for highway development in B.C.

The proposal was contained in the brief presented to the federal-provincial conference.

The brief also called for a bigger share of tax revenue collected by Ottawa under the present tax-rental agreement.

The premier said the provinces should receive 25 per cent of the yield from corporate and personal income taxes, and 50 per cent of succession duties.

With other adjustments, this would increase the estimated rental payment to B.C. during 1957 from $59,000,000 to $85,000,000, a boost of $26,000,000.

The ambitious five-year highway program suggested to the federal government estimated a total expenditure of $523,807,000, of which Ottawa would contribute $409,606,000.

Basis for this figure is the suggestion that the federal government should pay 90 per cent of the cost of primary highways and 50 per cent of secondary highways.

Annually the cost would be $81,927,200 to Ottawa and $22,834,200 for B.C.

The brief also proposes that the federal government:

1. Arrange for municipalities to borrow at not more than two per cent interest;
2. Assist technical and university education by greater sharing in capital construction and operation;
3. Broaden unemployment assistance agreements;
4. Start the national health program immediately.
5. Launch a national development program across the country.

Premier Invites Trade Parley Here

The Premier said he had determined that accommodation for the large number of delegates expected would be available in the B.C. capital during the latter part of September and early part of October.

The Legislative chamber could be used as the main meeting place, he said.

"To emphasize our concern with the problems of trade, and to mark the first 100 years of history as an organized territory, I would like to extend to the federal government an invitation to fix the place of this Commonwealth conference in Victoria," the premier said in his brief presented to the federal-provincial conference.

Bigger Slice of Tax Sought by Provinces

OTTAWA (CP)—Canada's 10 provincial premiers, given a clear field in which to present their demands for a better tax deal from the federal government put in their bids at today's opening session of the federal-provincial conference.

Ontario's Premier Frost, first of the 10 to speak, reiterated demands that the provinces be given a bigger slice of the rich personal and corporation income tax fields.

He added a new request: That logging and mining companies be allowed to deduct from their federal tax liability the full amount of provincial taxation.

Premier Duplessis of Quebec, making no specific requests, called for a new definition of taxing powers and simpler tax-collection methods. Like Mr. Frost, he said the federal share of the tax pie is too large.

Premier Stanfield of Nova Scotia proposed that the federal government pay a "Maritime adjustment grant" to make up for deficiencies in the tax po-

Tight-Money Ease To Aid Municipalities

OTTAWA (CP)—Prime Minister Diefenbaker today forecast some easing of provincial and municipal financial burdens in their borrowing costs and in relief expenditures for the needy.

He said an easing of the tight-money situation will help both municipalities and provinces in borrowing money for new projects.

Proposed federal legislation to extend the period for special wintertime unemployment insurance benefits, he said, "will substantially relieve the provinces and municipalities of the burden of unemployment assistance this coming winter."

Mr. Diefenbaker, in a speech opening the federal-provincial fiscal conference, also offered, if the provinces wish, to go further in the sharing of unemployment relief costs with the provinces.

'T-BRICKS FOR KOREA'

10,000 Orphans Roaming Streets in Hunt for Food

By DINAH KERR

Tuberculosis is the greatest peacetime enemy in Korea today.

The number-one killer roams unchecked through the caves, tents and cardboard shacks that thousands of Koreans call home.

Its accomplices are malnutrition, poverty and cold.

Last winter in Korea was the coldest in 33 years. Snow blocked the entrances to the shabby dwellings, hung from the ragged clothing of the orphaned young, leaving a shroud of misery and hardship over the Yuletide season.

Tuberculosis followed in its wake, striking one in four. The children of Korea do not have the strength to fight back. They need nourishment and rest.

Instead, some 10,000 Korean orphans must roam the streets in all weather, begging and stealing food in order to keep alive.

The Times, opening a campaign Saturday in co-operation with the Unitarian Services Committee, is asking readers to buy a brick, 10 bricks, 100 bricks, at 10 cents each to build a TB out-patients' pavilion with beds for 40 tubercular children

Greek Prince Dies in Paris After Illness

PARIS (Reuters) — Prince George of Greece, uncle of the Duke of Edinburgh and of the Duchess of Kent, died in Paris last night. He was 88. He had been ill for some time.

from the time the slide left the top until it settled in a muddy, gooey mess at the bottom," Mr. Krug said Sunday night after he had completed his shift at the scene where searchers believe they are within 15 to 20 feet of some of the bodies.

The entire base of the slide, which varies in depth from 20 to 40 feet, is a muddy tangle of bits of houses, trees, tree roots and huge logs.

The slide pushed the houses of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Perry, Mr. and Mrs. John Murray and George Henderson across Wantage Road and 300 feet beyond into Oldfield Creek.

It was in Oldfield Creek that city truck driver, Lee Intermel, accompanied by Frederick Faulkner Jr., city loader operator, discovered 18-month-old Selma Murray, daughter of two of the victims.

HEARD CRYING

"I heard a child crying," Mr. Intermel said. "We had been blocked off by the slide and we had to go through the woods to the creek where the houses had been pushed."

"I saw a hand sticking up out of the water and when I tore some shingles and debris away I saw the baby sitting there as if she had been carried down in a crib or something.

Nearby, workers found the crushed body of five-month-old James Murray and it is in the vicinity of the two discoveries that crews worked all day Sunday.

Work has gone on continuously since just after noon Friday with city works superintendent Carl Gustafson in charge of the search. There are 50 persons working in oilskins both on the blocked road and in the bed of diverted Oldfield Creek.

Clothes, mattresses and household effects were unearthed at the 20-foot face at the base of the slide giving workers hope they were nearing their objective.

A power shovel is digging out the road so that a 30-foot wooden bridge also swept away by the slide can be replaced.

The road leads to the Canadian National Telegraph repeater station through which the telegraph and teletype wires pass.

Floodlights were set up again Sunday so that work could continue until the bodies are found.

HOUSES CLEARED

Occupants of houses in the immediate vicinity have been evacuated in case further slides occur. The rain has been practically continuous since Friday and it still was raining Sunday night.

Mr. Ayres, editor of the Prince Rupert Daily News, said the landslide area was the worst scene he had witnessed since the days of the Second World War when rescuers were searching bombed house rubble.

"It's almost the same," he said, "tired, weary men are knee deep in mud and twisted branches, clawing away at the mud banks, pulling out clothing and wondering whether it is near a body.

"One minute they are pulling away a log with a tractor, the next they are scraping away with their fingers to get a piece of blanket or pair of trousers, not knowing whether they are actually near one of the victim's bodies or whether they have struck a clothes closet.

"The whole thing is a shambles and the way the slide churned the houses into matchwood, the bodies could be anywhere."

In response to a brief welcoming speech by the prime minister, Newfoundland's Premier Smallwood expressed what is on the minds of all premiers:

"We are pinning a lot of faith on this conference. We need a lot of help. We hope we are going to get it."

Although Mr. Diefenbaker disclosed no detailed federal tax-sharing proposal, apart from an assurance that no province will be asked to take a cut in its present share, he announced that his Conservative government is prepared to move ahead on other fronts.

These included a speedup in the start of federal payments for hospital insurance, extension of federal aid for provincial relief costs, provision of more lending money for home building, special aid to the Atlantic provinces and possible federal contributions toward institutional care of TB and mental patients.

However, on the last two points—aid to the Atlantic provinces and sharing of TB and mental costs — Mr. Diefenbaker made it clear that the extent of federal aid will be up to the provinces. Any extra federal health costs, he said, would have a bearing on the eventual tax-sharing decision.

The present tax-sharing plan, started last April 1, provides a 10-9-50 formula for the three direct tax fields shared by federal and provincial governments—personal and corporation income tax and succession duties.

FEDERAL PAYMENTS

Provinces which do not collect those taxes receive federal payments based on 10 per cent federal personal income tax collections in the province, nine per cent of taxable corporation income and 50 per cent of succession duties.

All but Ontario and Quebec have done this. Where those two provinces collect their own direct taxes, the federal tax is reduced on the 10-9-50 formula.

Premier Frost called for a 15-15 formula on personal and corporation taxes. The present share was "not realistic" and did not meet Ontario's needs for expansion.

Business Tax Flow 'Slow'

Victoria city business tax collections were reported "slow but steady" today.

Only about $14,000 of a potential collection of $185,000 has been received from city merchants.

Due date is Dec. 15.

It is reported the smaller dealers have been more prompt than the larger firms where payment is required to be authorized often in eastern headquarters.

ZHUKOV BACKER HEADED FOR TOP DEFENCE POST

BERLIN (AP)—Marshal Andrei Grechko, commander of Soviet forces in East Germany, today was reported under orders to go to Moscow to become deputy defence minister.

Western intelligence sources say Grechko will be replaced by army Gen. Zakharow, commander of the Leningrad military district.

A promotion for Grechko would surprise many Western observers, since in the past he has been identified with the ousted Soviet defence minister, Marshal Georgi Zhukov.

BUT AUDIENCE LIKED PLAY

Confused Opening, Then Weak Ending

By AUDREY ST.D. JOHNSON

"The Mousetrap," by Agatha Christie.

Molly Ralston	Joy Congdon
Giles Ralston	G. M. Hewlett
Christopher Wren	Gilbert Brown
Mrs. Boyle	Olive Keane
Major Metcalf	Harold Bellamy
Miss Casewell	Yvonne Hogan
Mr. Paravacini	Roy Blodgett

Director: Mrs. Phyllis Dulmage.

A slightly confused opening and a weak ending did not prevent the Victoria Theatre Guild production of this murder drama from entertaining, amusing and even thrilling a couple of hundred patrons Saturday night at Langham Court Theatre.

The technical slip-up that marred the play's opening atmosphere, doubtless will not occur again; the loose-jointed ending is another matter. It is simply a case of poor theatrical writing and could be much strengthened by some bold pruning.

From the direction standpoint there was considerable skill in evidence. Interesting grouping which was knowledgable in matters of emphasis, pattern of movement and rhythm, was utilized by Mrs. Dulmage.

INEFFECTIVE

Actors were much helped by spacious and effective setting which gave them full depth of stage for uninhibited movement. There was room for improvement in the fireplace, or at least the fire—an important prop all during the first act and a miserably ineffective one in this case.

Characterizations on the whole were good. Joy Congdon was well cast and has many pleasing qualities. She is confident and charming and would be all the more so if she would conquer the somewhat distracting mannerism of emphasizing all her speeches with head movements.

First class indeed were the performances of Olive Keane in a scolding, irascible role, and Harold Bellamy as a non-aggressive army major. Mrs. Keane's delineation was vivid, clearly etched and consistent in speech, gesture, tempo and gait.

CONVINCING

Overcolored but nevertheless sincere portrayals were given by Gilbert Brown and Roy Blodgett. G. M. Hewlett is another competent actor who presented a convincing portrait to the line-up. Yvonne Hogan, while not always audible, did a nice piece of work.

In the case, however, of Detective Sergeant Trotter, both director and actor need to reconsider the interpretation. Lack of subtlty, failure to plant an important mannerism at the outset, lead in part to a loss of impact and a much weakened denouncement.

Russ Gurney brought tremendous strength, authority and ability to the role, but an insufficient understanding of its requirements.

The sell-out audience found the production good entertainment, judging from the several curtain calls. It will be repeated nightly throughout this week.

Bootlegger Chou Jah, 515 Cormorant, was fined $300 or three months at hard labor when a plea of guilty was entered in city police court today.

Police said a man was observed coming out of the premises with two and a half cases of beer, and Jah was subsequently identified as the seller.

"I took it to Maynard's and asked them to sell the sketch book separately because I thought it might be worth something. I didn't really have a hunch, it was just that it was so old."

"I remember selling the book as though it was yesterday. I can still see Mr. Klaverwyden's finger shaking as he made the final bid," he said.

"This is the first time anything like this has happened in the firm's 56 years when we have sold 1,400,000 lots."

INHERITED

Mrs. Stevenson inherited the sketch book from Eleanor Dunsmuir, who died in 1938. Miss Dunsmuir, who travelled abroad extensively, had left the book among her possessions in a house in Comox.

"I've talked to the family about it and we feel she must have bought it while travelling in Europe," Mrs. Mitchell said. "So the book really has been to Vancouver Island twice.

"It must be fate that made me go to Monte Carlo when I did, bring back the sketch book and then put it up for auction just when a real art devotee was attending the sale.

"I'm really glad he got it. No one else would have been able to bring its value to light. I've got no regrets because I never would have done it."

AMAZED

Mrs. Mitchell admitted her first reaction when she read the story of the find was complete amazement.

"I was reading it in bed and when I saw the first line I knew it was the sketch book. My stomach just about turned over and my eyes popped out, but as soon as everything got back into place I was glad, really glad.

"I phoned Mr. Klaverwyden to congratulate him and yesterday I was strutting around thinking to myself, 'I touched the Goya book'. I really feel as though I've made a contribution to art by not throwing it out despite the maggots."

"To think I had it lying around in any old drawer while I was on Rockland. If I'd known it was so valuable, I'd have been scared to leave the place untended for a single minute," she chuckled.

"I can't help laughing about it. There I was in Monte Carlo almost flat broke and not knowing that all the time I had a book worth almost $500,000 kicking around."

DEPOSITS: At the end of the Bank's year, October 31st, 1957, over two million Canadians had $2,632,251,291 on deposit at the B of M — the highest year-end total on record. Although much of this money belongs to institutions and business firms, well over half of these deposits represent the personal savings of Canadians in every walk of life — savings that the B of M puts to work for you and for Canada.

LOANS: Your savings at the B of M provide much of the basic framework for our country's expansion . . . in the form of loans to farmers, miners, fishermen, oil men, lumbermen, ranchers, to industrial and business enterprises and to Provincial and Municipal Governments. As of October 31st, B of M loans totalled $1,437,636,447 — all of which played their part in making Canada a better place in which to live.

INVESTMENTS: At the close of the year, the B of M had $657,183,040 invested in high-grade government bonds and other public securities which have a ready market. This money is helping to finance government projects for the betterment of the country and the welfare of all Canadians. Other securities held by the Bank — which include a diversified list of high-quality short-term industrial issues — bring total investments to $872,675,309.

A WOMAN'S OUTLOOK By RUTH ENKE

Under the Oaks

THEY tell me Oak Bay's changed. "You wouldn't know the place, my dear.")

Certainly, it's changed a little from my childhood days when Currie was Longbranch and Linkleas just a muddy lane. The streets are shorter, the hill on Island Road is nothing, the street cars no longer sway and bounce around "the Bend."

Ruth

But I could swear that the same people are striding round the golf links—beamish women with sturdy shoes and tweedy men who still swear under their breath when the dirty little pill goes rolling down the hill and lands right in the bunker. (My first cuss words were learned from an Anglo-Indian type who never knew that a big-eared little pitcher was crouched in the broom bushes next to the bunker, and memorizing each delicious, unfamiliar word!)

It's hardly possible, but I could swear that the same dogs are trotting up and down the Avenue, or being taken for their constitutional. For, in Oak Bay, "walking the dog" isn't one of the tricks you do with yo-yos.

* * *

The same hairy, hearty types are playing rugger in Windsor Park. But I don't gaze up at them as I did when I was a child and the muddy panting seemed a little frightening. Instead, I wonder how on earth they have the energy. I even nod sagely when the man in the old trench coat says, "Ruggah and a cold showah every day and we'd have none of this—ah—juvenile delinquency."

The same sweet-faced, middle-aged mothers with a sort of casual disregard for dress are watching rugby or cricket or grass hockey and saying things like, "Did your boy go to St. Michael's?" and "She used to go to St. Christopher's, didn't she?"

And, this month, here and there you hear a woman saying that she's girding her loins for Christmas because of the English mail, you know.

They're swopping—not trading—the English papers and magazines as they did when I was a child and will still be doing long after I am dead and gone. ("We'd love to pass the Countryman on to you, if you'll let us have Punch when you're finished with it.") The Spectator, the Guardian, the Observer, the Listener, Blackwoods—quietly they all change hands because we do like to know what they're saying over there.

If you mention Lollobrigida or Jayne Mansfield, you may draw a blank. But refer to Mrs. Tiggywinkle or Jeremy Fisher, and there's an instant smile of recognition. ("My dear, I was brought up on Beatrix Potter." Or, if they're older, it's "Of course, Beatrix Potter was a little after my day, but she came along in time for my children.")

* * *

Well, I know I laugh and tease, but November's such a dreary month that I must have a little fun somehow. Besides, I know the mental attitudes of Oak Bay. And some of the values in that derided code appeal very much to me.

They're a quiet modesty, a sense of justice and fair play, and a steadiness born of discipline and self-control.

Long may these virtues live in Canada.

LONDON LETTER By WALLACE REYBURN

Honeymoon Special

LONDON—Here's an ingenious idea for motor cars—fitted luggage for the boot. The suitcases of various sizes and toning in with the upholstery of the car are part of the standard equipment when you buy it.

Going away on a trip you merely take the suitcases out of the boot and fill them, knowing that they'll fit snugly into the boot. The entire boot is filled, no waste spaces and no juggling around to get all your bags stowed in.

Reyburn

It is as if the boot were divided into removable compartments. And if you want to, you can always use them as ordinary suitcases away from the car.

* * *

I saw this when I dropped in at the Motor Show. It wasn't a standaard car, it was part of a specially built model. But it struck me as a feature that could well be incorporated in ordinary cars.

How I came upon it was that as I entered the show I caught sight of a Rolls Royce that was different, to say the least. It had huge great fins sticking out the back and I thought for a moment that the Rolls Royce people had gone crazy. Last firm of all to adopt the U.S. fad, surely, would be the ultra-conservative Rolls Royce.

* * *

But the man on the display stand soon put me in the picture. It was a product of a body-building firm, hand-made on a Rolls chassis. Only one of them in existence, just unveiled last night and $6,000 more than the regular Rolls.

Already it has become nicknamed the Honeymoon Special. A two-seater convertible with electrically-operated hidden top, it has besides the luggage gimmick a built-in parasol to keep the sun off the bride and full picnic equipment fitted into the doors. "And two cocktail cabinets," said the man.

* * *

"Why two?" I asked as he showed me one of them, containing the mixing for gin and tonic. "Is the other for whisky and soda?"

"Yes," he said, surprised. "How did you guess?"

Across the aisle were the regular Rolls Royces and when I went over I couldn't help but gaze in admiration at their top model, the Silver Wraith limousine—a superb $24,000 worth of car.

* * *

Of course, by today's standards it's old-fashioned looking, with lines that went out just before the war. It must be the last car in the world to retain its original old-style radiator.

And the man on that stand let me into a secret. The radiator, stainless steel not chrome, on Rolls Royces is a phoney, just there for sentimental reasons. The real water tank is inside.

When I asked him why the car's design wasn't modernized, he said: "The folks who ride in these—diplomats and potentates—don't want people to look at the car, they want everyone to look at them." He showed me inside the back, the step you have to go up to get onto the high rear seat—where all can see you.

Of course, if I owned one of those I'd sure like everyone to see me, too.

Liberals Score Bennett Gov't On Sommers Case

PENTICTON (CP)—Premier Bennett and his cabinet were charged with "failing to keep the public informed" on the facts of the Sommers case at a convention of the Okanagan Boundary Liberal Association Friday night.

A resolution on the matter said the association deplored "in the strongest possible manner, the failure of the premier and his cabinet to enquire into the granting of forest management licences by Robert E. Sommers as minister of lands and forests."

Delegates expressed concern at the fact that the Sommers case had been "lying undecided for two years" and said this had adversely affected whole timber industry.

Tanker for Liberia Launched in Japan

KOBE, Japan (AP)—A 38,750-ton Liberian tanker was launched here today by Japan's Kawasaki Dockyard Company.

The tanker, ordered by the Ocean Oil Associates' Inc., of New York, is expected to be completed by January 31 next year. The ship cost an estimated $5,925,972 to build.

East Germany Key Base For Russian Missiles

BERLIN (AP) — Intelligence sources say Russia has made East Germany a key base area for launching nuclear missiles against vital targets in Western Europe in case of war.

The 22 Russian divisions garrisoning Communist East Germany are known to be equipped with short-range missiles for tactical use.

The Soviet IRBMS, whose ranges are estimated to be up to 1,000 miles, could strike from East Germany at the West European capitals, the main NATO defence bases and targets throughout the British Isles.

These missiles could be fitted with either atomic or hydrogen warheads, these sources say.

NEW IMPORTANCE

In the missile age, East Germany is seen taking on new crucial importance in Soviet strategic planning, especially until the Russians can put their intercontinental ballistic missiles into production.

The Russians say they have tested a 5,000-mile ICBM but it is doubted that these missiles are in production.

However, Russia's shorter range IRBMS are thought to be in production and possibly in the field in some quantity.

It could not be learned here if any Soviet IRBMS have shown up as yet in East Germany. But the missiles mounted on mobile carriers could be moved into prepared East German launching sites.

Allied experts report that the Soviet ground divisions in East Germany — comprising 400,000 men in six armies—recently have been streamlined and re-equipped for atomic warfare. In tanks, transport and some categories of light weapons, the Soviet divisions generally are superior to their NATO counterparts.

U.S. Allies Threatened By Russia

LONDON (Reuters) — Moscow Radio Sunday warned West European countries they faced devastion if they were used by the United States to launch an attack on the Soviet Union.

The radio said the British, French, West Germans, Norwegians, Danes and Turks realize only too well that there would be retaliatory blows if their territories were used by the "American imperialists" to attack the Soviet Union or other "peaceful" countries.

The radio said that at the December session of NATO in Paris, the United States will seek consent from its West European allies to station medium-range missiles on their territories.

The Anglo-American plan thus envisaged the abandonment of a considerable amount of sovereignty by the West European countries, and complete subjugation of Western Europe to American direction, the broadcast said.

Canadian Trade Mission Symbol Of Leadership Says Top Briton

LONDON (CP) — Sir David Eccles, president of Britain's board of trade, said today he looks on Canada to provide the leadership in making the Commonwealth a strong and potent power against Communism.

The government's chief trade spokesman told the Canadian trade mission:

"We see in your coming here a signal proof, a sign we have been looking for, that the Commonwealth has not lost its sense of direction, that it has indeed many places further to go."

TARIFF REMOVAL SOUGHT

He made the statement at a luncheon tendered to the 50-man mission by Britain's dollar export council at Claridge's Hotel.

He reminded his audience that Britain is negotiating with Western Europe "to remove completely all tariffs on all industrial goods."

He saw in the mission's visit to Britain a symbol of the Commonwealth's direction. It was from Canada that the Commonwealth expected its new leadership.

Canada's trade mission was informed that Britain intends to maintain all its defences against inflation for at least another six months even though it may bring a political crisis to the Conservative government.

Informants said the view was expressed by British officials that the anti-inflation fight will reduce the demand for goods on the home market and increase the industrial capacity available for Britain's vital export trade.

AT GOOD TIME

Britain therefore feels the mission's visit has come at an excellent time as it will be possible to speed up delivery of goods to Canada.

The Canadians also were informed that as United Kingdom exports to Canada increase, British import curbs on Canadian goods will be reduced progressively.

This might involve the question of discrimination by the U.S. against British imports, but it was understood Britain might not be averse to such discrimination if her markets in Canada were increased substantially.

These other points were brought before the Canadians:

1. Britain still is deeply concerned over her international financial position, considering that her liabilities are extremely heavy. There is also concern here over the growing deficit in British accounts with the dollar area countries.

2. Britain will not put any freeze on wage increases but will not allow the banks to finance them through new loans.

3. Britain will do everything possible to encourage exports to Canada but the government will not consider any specific subsidies to attract exports to Canada alone

4. A British trade mission will be sent to Canada after the Canadian group completes its month-long tour.

Budget Surplus Down As Revenues Decline

The monthly treasury statement, issued by Finance Minister Donald Fleming, said the surplus was $25,700,000 for the month, compared with $68,200,000 a year earlier.

For the first seven months of the fiscal year, April-October, the surplus slipped to $257,200,000 from $341,100,000.

Although revenues from personal income tax in October were higher than last year, there were declines in corporation tax, import tariffs and sales tax. Total revenues fell to $432,900,000 from $437,000,000. Budgetary expenditures for October rose to $407,200,000 from $368,800,000.

The statement noted that the rise of $183,100,000 in spending for the seven months included a $100,000,000 payment to set up the Canada Council.

Higher spending was reported by many of the departments but the biggest jump was in the finance department. For the seven-month period, interest on the public debt rose to $309,998,000 from $301,688,000 and payments to the provinces jumped to $213,588,000 from $195,640,000.

Smith Plans Announcement This Week

Victoria alderman J. Donald Smith said today he will make an announcement "probably later this week" concerning his civic election plans.

Returning to his office today from a vacation in Hawaii, the alderman is the only incumbent due for retirement or re-election who has withheld his intentions.

There is speculation at City Hall that he will announce his candidacy for the mayoralty.

So far Mayor Percy Scurrah is unopposed for a second term. If Ald. Smith runs against him, his seat on council will be vacant. There have been no candidates announced for council.

It is expected Ald. Smith may co-inside his announcement with the regular meeting of city council on Thursday.

75 Attending Weed Committee Parley in City

Seventy-five delegates to the 11th annual meeting of the western section, National Weed Committee, started a two-day technical session at the Empress Hotel here today.

Delegates heard a report today by Dr. G. Friessen, division of plant science, University of Manitoba, which pointed out that cultivation is the only feasible means of controlling field-scale infestations of couch grass.

Herbicides are mainly useful, he said, for eradication of couch grass patches on locations where sterilization of the soil for one to several years is not objectionable.

Intensive cultivation is also the best means to eradicate Canada thistle.

"Infested fields should be ploughed deeply in the late autumn and cultivated at three-week intervals throughout the next year," he said. Process may have to be repeated a second year to make a complete kill.

Herbicides can be used, but are recommended only on non-crop land.

British Wool Industry Opposes Tariff Boost

OTTAWA (BUP) — An increase in the tariff against British woollens, as suggested by the Canadian wool industry, would cost the Canadian public $23 million a year, the British wool delegation told the tariff board today.

In a supplementary brief filed with a board hearing on the Canadian wool industry, the British delegation said that the $23 million figure was "understated in favor of the Canadian industry." The total was based on the combined figure of Canadian wool production and imports in 1956, said Gordon F. Henderson, counsel for the British industry.

The extra tariff would amount to 10.9 per cent on the former duty-paid value, Henderson said, and "it could be safely assumed" that the Canadian industry would increase its prices by at least 10 per cent.

Added to this extra cost of cloth to Canadian clothing manufacturers would be their application for a 25 per cent markup on cloth cost, plus 10 per cent sales tax and plus the retailer's markup of from 65 to 70 per cent on his cost. Each of these markups have been stated without challenge by Canadian firms during the hearing, Henderson pointed out.

Big Construction Firm to Establish Branch in B.C.

VANCOUVER (CP) — President A. Douglas McKee of Perini Ltd., one of the biggest construction companies in Eastern Canada, is visiting Vancouver to establish a B.C. branch for the company.

"Industry and commerce follow cheap power and the only big reservoir left in Canada is in B.C.," said Mr. McKee, explaining the reason for the move. He said the company has no definite contracts yet, but wants to share in the province's development.

Toronto engineer James Brennan will head the B.C. office of the company, a subsidiary of the U.S. construction corporation run by Milwaukee Braves owner Lou Perini.

Let's talk REAL ESTATE

By DON WHYTE

BUY OR RENT?

Now I don't mean whether most mortgage payments are lower than most rentals for the same type of accommodation; there is no question of that, for rents are always higher, partly because they must cover maintenance and other overhead that is paid by the landlord.

I am talking about the argument that some theoretical economists put forth, that you can enjoy a definite financial advantage by renting at a reasonable rate and investing the capital that would otherwise be tied up in a house.

This looks good on paper, but I've never seen it work out in practice. People who rent never seem to have that "extra capital that would otherwise be tied up in a house.". On the other hand people who are making payments are, in effect, using a sort of compulsory savings plan that builds up their investment in the house.

Rent money figured on a 5¼% basis amounts to large sums in a few years, $75.00 per month in 10 years amounts to $11,587.82. In 15 years $20,167.00, in 20 years $31,381.49.

FOR $2,500.00 DOWN, I have a home which is tops for the young family, set in a large treed garden, close to school and beach, three bedrooms, full basement, 5¼% N.H.A. Mortgage at $62.06 per month.

MARKET SUMMARIES

Toronto Recovers From Mild Selling

The Toronto market showed some signs of a rally in heavier afternoon trading, but it was still generally lower as a result of mild selling in the early part of the session.

Industrials were a shade lower on index. Base metals and western oils were each easier while golds had a slim gain.

Oils were pacemakers as the New York market turned irregular in fairly active trading late in the session. Steels and coppers generally were soft. Rails were lower.

AT TORONTO refining oils and pipelines were generally firm. Other industrial groupings, however, had either an equal number of gains and losses or a few more issues on the downside.

Senior base metals were decidedly lower but losses were generally narrow. International Nickel had the biggest decline, down a point to 72½.

In western oils, Central Del Rio, Triad, New British Dominion, Calgary and Edmonton and Okalta were among the index losers.

AT NEW YORK Aluminium Ltd., up ⅜, was a Canadian gainer on the New York exchange. Losers included International Nickel, off ¾; Canadian Pacific ¼ and Hudson Bay Mining ¼.

Canadian gainers on the American exchange included Shawinigan, ¾; Canadian Marconi, ⅛; Preston East Dome, ⅛, and Jupiter Oils, 1-16. Losers included Brazilian Traction, ⅛; Fargo Oil 1-16 and Eureka 1-16.

AT MONTREAL prices were mixed to lower in light trading today on the Montreal Stock Exchange.

In the base metals, International Nickel was down 1½ at 72 and Aluminium was up ⅜ at 29⅞. Refineries were mixed. B.A. was down ½ at 36½ and Imperial Oil was up ½ at 41.

AT LONDON stock market was quiet today, with business too slack for any definite trend to develop.

The death of Sir Ernest Oppenheimer brought early uncertainty in South African gold shares but prices steadied later.

Motors were selectively better and breweries continued to reflect satisfactory dividend statements. Cotton textiles were easier on the uncertain outlook for the industry. Oils opened firm but later reacted.

AT VANCOUVER a dull market saw little change in prices. Peace River Pete sold 9,000 going to 40. Cowichan Copper moved 2,000 at 80. Pioneer Gold sold 1,500 at $1. Trojan moved 3,000 at 25.

Newsprint Output For Two Years Will Show Drop

PORT ARTHUR (CP) — The Canadian newsprint industry will operate at less than capacity for the next couple of years and that is not necessarily a bad thing, according to the president of Abitibi Power and Paper Company Ltd.

D. W. Ambridge said in an interview that American consumption of newsprint has not increased as everyone thought it would. The U.S. took about 75 per cent of Canadian newsprint production but the exchange rate still was affecting sales south of the border.

Mr. Ambridge said the greater production capabilities of Canadian mills and the declining market means that Canada will be able to serve newsprint customers better than in the past.

B.C. Fish Catch For October Down

VANCOUVER (CP) — Value of fresh fish landed in B.C. during October was 40 per cent less than the figure for the same month last year, the department of fisheries announced.

Total landings during the month were valued at $1,412,000 compared with $2,306,000 in October, 1956. Main cause of the decline was the strike of B.C. net fishermen over chum prices.

TODAY'S GRAIN PRICES

WINNIPEG (CP) — Aggressive demand for Canadian flax was the feature at today's trading on the Winnipeg grain exchange.

Prices touched new seasonal highs during the session. Export houses and American interests were among the buyers. Offerings were relatively light. There were indications of a small overseas business during the weekend.

Oats and barley dealings were on domestic lines and prices moved narrowly.

Rye prices were fairly steady in a light and local trade.

Weekend export loadings of Canadian wheat included: United Kingdom 560,000 bushels, Norway 100,000, and small quantities to Belgium, the Netherlands and Guatemala.

Lakehead prices for class two, IWA and domestic wheat were unchanged from Friday.

NEW SHIP WELCOMED

Margaree, a twin to HMC Ships Skeena and Fraser which were built in B.C., was constructed on the East Coast but arrived with a mainly Western crew aboard.

Her commanding officer is Capt. Jack Korning of Victoria. All ratings have home towns west of the Great Lakes, and the older hands are former crew members of the HMCS Sioux, formerly based here.

Arrival of the new ship brought to six the number of sub-hunters in the Second Canadian Escort Squadron, based at Esquimalt.

$2,452 Cost For All Risks

City council finance committee today considered insuring Point Ellice Bridge against fire, lightning, flood, rising waters, windstorm or collapse.

The committee was told the insurance against damage to the bridge, for all risks, would cost $2,452 for $640,000 coverage, over a three-year period.

It would be a "10,000 to one" chance of the insurance being required, said Mayor Percy Scurrah. City manager C. C. Wyatt pointed out the Johnson Street bridge is not insured against damage or loss.

"If you are going to insure one you should insure the other," he advised.

Neither bridge has insured in the past.

When the first Point Ellice Bridge collapsed in 1896 the city was required to pay out $112,500 in claims. Thirty-nine claimants received payment of from $400 to $18,000. The litigation was not completed until 1903.

The committee will study the proposal further.

Judge Explains 50 MPH Not Right at All Times

Judge J. B. Clearihue warned motorists today that because they are travelling in a 50-mile zone on a main highway does not mean they can in all circumstances drive at 50 miles an hour.

The judge made this observation in Victoria County Court when giving judgment against a city motorist who knocked down an elderly cyclist on the Pat Bay Highway on Aug. 30, 1956.

$474 DAMAGES

Judge Clearihue found that the motorist, Gustave Steinbeck, 2718 Rock Bay Avenue, was "solely responsible" for the accident and he awarded $474 in damages to Gunnar Sorenson, the executor of Mr. Nielsen's will and estate.

Mr. Sorenson had claimed $481 for hospital and medical expenses occasioned by Mr. Nielsen's injuries.

Mr. Steinbeck denied driving negligently and counter-claimed for $83 for damages to his car. The counter-claim was dismissed.

50 M.P.H.

There were three cars behind him, the third driven by Mr. Steinbeck who was travelling at 50 miles an hour in a 50-mile zone.

The first two cars pulled out and passed the cyclist. The third car "intended to pass him" but struck him as he turned left to go to the store.

The judge found that Mr. Nielsen had signalled his intention of turning left by extending his arm. Mr. Steinbeck claimed he did not see this signal.

"There is a very heavy onus on a car following another car, particularly when the driver attempts to pass it," Judge Clearihue said.

WHEN PASSING

"The fact that a motorist is in a 50-mile zone does not mean he can in all circumstances drive at 50 miles an hour, especially when passing a man on a bicycle."

In his defence of Mr. Steinbeck, Robert J. Harvey emphasized that no blame was attached to him at the inquest on Mr. Nielsen.

The coroner, Dr. E. C. Hart, had found that Mr. Niesen died "accidentally, casually and by misfortune" and there was no police charge against Mr. Steinbeck.

5-DAY BREAKS FOR B.C.'s CIVIL SERVICE

Provincial government employees will get a five-day break at both Christmas and New Year holiday periods.

A cabinet order-in-council today fixes Friday, Dec. 27, Thursday, Jan. 2, and Friday, Jan. 3, as special holidays for government employees.

This means they will come to work on Monday and Tuesday of each week and be off for the rest of the week.

The extra-long holidays are the result of Christmas Day and New Year's Day falling on Wednesday this year.

Six Strikes By Thieves Over Weekend

A representative of the Oil, Chemical and Atomic Workers' Union told police a strike sign was stolen from Fisherman's Wharf between 5 and 10 p.m. Saturday.

If located, the sign was to be destroyed, the union said.

Drysdale's Builders' Supplies Ltd., 1710 Cook, reported a small pane of glass was broken in a front office door and the burglar reached inside to unlock the latch.

There appeared to be nothing stolen.

RING STOLEN

Saturday afternoon Mrs. Hazel Hodson, 403 Linden, told police someone had stolen an old gold ring, a pair of silver and black stone earrings and a three-diamond engagement ring from her dresser drawer about two weeks ago.

Then last Wednesday she missed a diamond engagement ring valued at $350, also from her dresser.

Fred's Esso Service, 3115 Douglas, reported two cars had been broken into overnight Sunday, but nothing stolen.

A break-in at New Method Laundries Ltd., 947 North Park, also was reported, but there was no report of stolen property.

18 More Meters Broken Open; Youths Suspected

Break-in and theft of money from 18 downtown parking meters was reported by police over the weekend, bringing to more than 50 the number smashed and robbed since last week.

Saturday night a constable on special meter patrol kept two 15-16-year-old boys under surveillance for one and a half hours when they acted suspiciously on Pandora between Broad and Government.

He said he did not see them break any meters, but on examining a number later he found three had been forced. He then was unable to find the boys.

Four meters were forced on Pandora, three on Cormorant, two on Blanshard, four on Fort and one each on Yates and Government.

MONTE ROBERTS

In this space Saturday appeared an alleged joke, about a gentleman named Rhee who worked for one of Mr. Henry Luce's magazines, and about a search party which endeavored to locate Mr. Rhee.

Which is the reason for explanation, apology and embarrassment.

In the first place, the joke was presented to me, free of charge, by a very highly placed executive of this firm.

And in the second place, I arrived at the office this morning to find this note in my typewriter:

"Monte:

"Congratulations:

"Maybe that makes the story only ½ as bad as it was originally."

Warning:

My Favorite Wife may up and make a football bet at you.

Including bets on Toronto Argos when Toronto Argos were losing every game except when MFW bet on them.

And MFW has a simple system for this astonishing success.

She lets the sucker—preferably a keen student of the game—pick his team, and then she bets the other way.

Says she does this because she doesn't know anything about football, and might choose wrongly if she did the picking.

Juvenile Problems Before Police Board Wednesday

The juvenile detention home on Coldharbour Road and the alleged sale of beer and liquor to juveniles in Victoria will be prime matters of discussion at a meeting of the city police commission Wednesday at 10.30 a.m.

The detention home has reported several break-outs and officials have asked admission age be limited at 16.

Car Crashes Send Five to Hospital

85-Year-Old Pedestrian Injured; Cyclist Runs Into Open Car Door

John William Lupton, 85, 3270 Oak, is in good condition at Jubilee Hospital with head injuries after he was in collision with a car at Douglas and Cloverdale Sunday at 6.30 p.m.

Saanich police said driver of the car was Frederick G. W. Knight, 4437 Prospect Lake, who was driving south on Douglas at the time of the accident.

The pedestrian was unconscious when admitted, the hospital said.

SOOKE CRASH

Peter Van Dyke, 40, and his wife Mary, 48, of 121 Government, were treated for knee and ankle injuries respectively at St. Joseph's Hospital at 4.30 p.m. Sunday after they were involved in an accident near Sooke.

Both were discharged after treatment.

Markos Lagios, 18, 405 Michigan, was treated at St. Joseph's for a nose laceration and possible jaw fracture after the bicycle he was riding was in collision with an open car door on Menzies, Saturday, at 1.05 p.m.

Police said Robert H. Burrows, 411 Heather, had parked his car and was just opening the door to get out when the accident happened.

Motorcyclist Garry Dibden, 16, 3434 Doncaster, was taken to Jubilee with a possible fractured arm after he was in collision with a parked car at about 3.05 p.m. Saturday.

He told police another auto had forced him off the road and the driver had then stopped and taken him to hospital for treatment, but did not leave his name.

The pavilion will serve adults and children at Mappo, Seoul's worst slum area, and give ambulatory TB treatment free of charge through the services of home-visiting teams.

This winter will be hard for Koreans. The summer barley harvest was 30 per cent below normal. Inflation is a serious threat. An untold number of people still live in extreme poverty — 13,000 in the city of Seoul alone are living in caves.

Tuberculosis, the great killer, will have an open field. The children will be push-overs.

The bricks are 10 cents each but already two Times' readers have bought 200 bricks each.

ACT FAST

"Enlightened" enclosed a note saying "for heaven's sake get this enclosed bill to Dr. Lotta Hitschmanova (executive director of the Unitarian Services Committee) as fast as you can—and I do hope I shall be able to follow it up with more."

The pensioner wrote: "I cannot give to all the things Victoria asks, so gave to none this year, but have lumped it all together and am sending it where I believe it's most needed . . . wishing you the best of luck in your drive."

With The Times donation of $100, we now have 1,400 bricks.

NAVAL SHIP MOVEMENTS

One-Third Boost Asked in Budget Of Parks Group

A recommendation to boost the Victoria-Saanich beaches and parks committee budget by 33⅓ per cent in 1958, will go to city council Thursday.

Council finance committee today agreed the 1958 budget should be increased from $9,000 to $12,000, with Saanich contributing $4,000 instead of $3,000, as in the past. Saanich council has already approved the step.

Leading Stallion to Stay In City, Says New Owner

Grey Skies, B.C.'s leading thoroughbred stallion this year, has moved into Victoria Riding Academy stables on Cedar Hill Cross Road. And he has a new owner.

The 13-year-old son of the great Mahmoud will be stabled there "for the winter if not longer" according to his owner, Capt. A. J. Warren who gave assurance Grey Skies will remain in Victoria.

The stallion, sire of 48 winners on B.C. tracks this year, went to the annual thoroughbred auctions at Vancouver a week ago in settlement of the estate of the late J. J. Ross of Victoria. He was purchased there by a syndicate of Victoria horse enthusiasts whose purpose was to keep the handsome animal on Vanocuver Island.

DISBANDED

The syndicate disbanded on the weekend, selling out to Capt. Warren, a member of the B.C. Pilotage Authority and a horse owner for several years who was one of the shareholders.

According to Don Carley, operator of the Victoria Riding Academy and owner of eight offspring of the stallion, Grey Skies may be used in a new venture.

Grey Skies, of course, will be available for continued thoroughbred and show horse breeding.

ASK The TIMES

Q.—When was the violin invented?—N.D.

A.—The forerunner of the violin came from the Far East and, according to tradition, the first stringed instrument played with a bow was invented by a king of Ceylon centuries ago. Today minstrels in India play a two-stringed fiddle said to be nearly the same instrument. The Arabs had a one-stringed instrument, introduced into Europe sometime before the 900's. The violin yas perfected in Italy, and took its present form in th 1550's.

Q.—What does the word "vinegar" mean?—B.R.

Anyone wishing a question answered is invited to send the problem along to The Times, addressed to "Ask The Times" Editor. Questions and answers will be published daily.

All questions should deal with matters of fact and be of general interest. The Times does not undertake to solve conundrums.

SHOPPING GUIDE

This Chip 'n' Dip Server Dandy for Entertaining

By PENNY SAVER

Someone has solved the question of how to serve potato chip dip! It must have been a brilliant mind that invented this remarkable stand which supports a large bowl for the chips and, above it, a smaller one for the dip. No more bother trying to handle two serving pieces . . . just one does the job.

I predict this "chip 'n' dip" server will be popular in Victoria, where a party just isn't a party, these days, without a potato chip dip! Or at least it's getting that way.

Local hostesses have wholeheartedly taken to the idea of serving gooey combinations of cheese, seafoods, sour cream, chopped onions, curry (or anything else that might serve to take the "kissing sweetness" from one's breath) as dips for potato chips.

Must admit, though, a scoop of tangy dip on a crisp potato chip is a mighty tasty morsel . . . one which prompts me to try another . . . and another!

The smart-looking brass stand supporting two glass bowls for the chips and dip, costs $7.95 or $5.95, depending upon which size and style you choose.

Suggestion: It would make an excellent wedding gift for a young couple who will probably be entertaining in the future.

Also for the table are imported place mats.

From the Philippines are fibre mats, woven in ovals or squares which come in natural beige color. Just $1 each, they are smart and different.

A little more expensive, but certainly fine value, are hand-woven place mats (also from the Philippines) of very fine fibre. These come in deep colors with interesting designs on them and sell for $1.75.

For everyday, buy plain but attractive natural straw place mats for 50c each. Colored, in yellow, blue or green, they are priced at 75c each.

MUST SHE HAVE A FUR COAT?

Louise Davis

I am a secretary and live in moderate circumstances. I have some very dear but wealthy friends living in a nearby city who have invited me to visit them and attend a formal social function. My clothes, naturally, are very modest and I do not feel I can buy anything special for the occasion, yet I do not want to embarrass my hosts in front of their friends. I will have to wear a cloth coat to this party and know that probably every other woman will be in furs. I haven't accepted yet and need your help.

Louise Davis answers:

Either be yourself or don't go. This would be an excellent challenge for you if you do go. I am sure that it is your charm, personality, poise and educational background that has welded this relationship with your rich friends. A cloth coat, while inexpensive by contrast to a mink or a sable, is unimportant. If sables and minks are to impress others, then it is veneer to cover up an inferiority complex. If they are worn by those born to that station in life and who have something on the ball to boot, then their expensive furs are warranted. You are the only one who can decide whether or not to go. You shouldn't feel like a poor relation, nor would you want to be thought of as one, but if the friends of your hosts are real and genuine, there is no reason why you should hesitate. Keep in mind that wraps are removed after arriving at a party.

Art Discussion

Mrs. Elizabeth Goward, one of the city's most gifted portrait artists, was guest speaker at the second art discussion following a meeting of the women's committee to the Art Gallery of Greater Victoria.

The speaker touched upon the value of inspirational guidance in her work and the richly rewarding task of searching for the personality or expression of the subject which would give the finished work its true appeal.

With children this expression has to be captured very quickly, as their moods vary from minute to minute and from sitting to sitting, she said.

An amusing account was given of a teenage model whose father wanted the finished portrait to look "studious"; the mother wanted it to look "poetic" and the subject merely wanted it to look "glamorous."

Many other phases of portrait work were commented upon by the speaker. A question and answer period followed.

WHY GROW OLD?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Thickening in Middle Shows Sign of Age

The woman who has a slim waist and a well-rounded bustline usually has an attractive figure. Even if her hips are a little out of line her silhouette will appear youthful.

The protruding abdomen and the thickening of the waist are the two most common evidences of middle age.

Another: This is an old timer but still good. Stand tall with the feet separated, arms raised sideways, shoulder height. Keep the arms in this same relation to the body. Bend the trunk and try to touch the fingertips of the right hand to the left toe. Raise the trunk (all the way up and lift the rib cage). This time bend the trunk and try to touch the fingertips of the left hand to the right toe. Raise trunk and continue, alternating. Do this smoothly and slowly, giving plenty of time for the stretch and pull of the muscles.

Even when you are not overweight, fatty deposits have a tendency to settle at the waistline and over the abdomen. Exercise will decrease these measurements. Many women find it becoming to the face and neck to be just a little heavier than they were in early youth but dislike thickening through the middle. Exercise is the answer!

If this is your problem and you would like to have my waist-slimming exercises, send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for leaflet No. 6 "Don't Go to Waist." Address Josephine Lowman in care of this newspaper.

TODAY'S RECIPE

CHEESE PASTRY

Ask any man his favorite dessert and he is almost sure to say "Why, apple pie, of course."

Well, here's a new touch for this special dessert. Tangy cheese is baked right into the crust of this apple pie. And what a mouth-watering crust it is, the perfect compliment for the spicy apple filling.

Mix flour and salt in bowl. Cut in shortening until the pieces are the size of peas. Stir in cheese. Blend together ⅓ cup of this mixture and 5 tablespoons water, add to remaining flour-shortening mixture, mix with fork until dough holds together. Divide into two parts. Roll out top and bottom crusts. This makes enough pastry for a double-crust 9-inch pie.

For the filling, use 6 to 7 sliced apples, ¾ to 1 cup sugar, depending on tartness of apples, ⅛ teaspoon salt, ¾ teaspoon cinnamon, ¼ teaspoon nutmeg and 1 tablespoon butter. If apples are a juicy variety, add 1 or 2 tablespoons flour. Just mix it all up lightly, heap into the pie shell, cover with a steam-vented top crust and bake in hot oven 400 F. for 50 to 60 minutes.

Winnipeg Grid Fans Run Riot; Several Hurt

WINNIPEG (CP) — Several hundred fans smashed down a three-foot fence and broke through police lines Sunday in a tumultuous welcome home at Stevenson Field for Winnipeg Blue Bombers.

At least six women and a child were carried from the field after fainting or being trampled. A public address system, to be used to introduce the players as they stepped from the plane, was smashed and wires cut.

Manitoba Resources Minister F. C. Bell, representing the province, was elbowed by the crowd and could not get to the tarmac reception. He was jeered and taunted for trying.

Department of transport and city officials said today they will take measures to halt a recurrence of the mob scene.

Art Treasure Just Missed Garbage Can

By JOHN MIKA

How does it feel to sell a wormy old Goya sketch book for $20 and then learn, too late, it is valued at $465,000?

"I'm just thrilled to death. I'm glad he got it because I probably would have thrown it into the garbage eventually and certainly no one else would have done anything with it."

The words were spoken today by Mrs. Laura Mitchell, great-grand-daughter of Robert Dunsmuir, who was the scion of Vancouver Island's most famous family.

She was the person who put up for auction the 81-page, parchment sketch book bought in February, 1956, by J. P. E. Klaverwyden, 1560 Rockland, when his $20 bid was successful at a Maynard's auction.

Almost two centuries old, the sketch book passed through the hands of at least four members of the Dunsmuir family before Mr. Klaverwyden obtained it and climaxed three years of research by having it certified as the work of famous Spanish painter Francisco Goya Lucientes when he was 22.

Mrs. Mitchell almost threw it out because "it was just crawling with maggots" when it came into her possession by a fluke.

She obtained it in 1952 in Monte Carlo where she was living with an aunt, Mrs. Muriel Dunsmuir, now living at 1725 Beach Drive. While there, a second aunt, Mrs. Marian Stevenson, died and left all her possessions to Mrs. Dunsmuir.

"Muriel decided she only wanted some of the antiques left in the estate and she told me to take the rest," Mrs. Mitchell, a widow, said.

IN CUPBOARD

"I found the sketch book in a bathroom cupboard. It was just crawling with maggots and little insects and I nearly threw it away but finally I killed off the insects with DDT and brought it back with me when I returned to Victoria the following year."

Mrs. Mitchell lived at 1626 Rockland on her return—only a block away from retired Shell Oil executive Mr. Klaverwyden, an art enthusiast.

Feb. 26, 1955, according to Maynard's books, the Mrs. Mitchell put it up for auction. Written notes in the entry by Maynard's were: "Possibly 17th century? Spanish?" Now living at 2012 Allenby, she took the action because she could not fit all her possessions into her present apartment.

Times Reporter Quit Bidding On Goya 'Find'

By HUMPHRY DAVY
Times Staff Reporter

I nearly bought the Goya sketch book which was sold for a "song" at an auction sale in Victoria nearly three years ago.

I missed an opportunity of a lifetime, that is, making $465,000, the market value today of 81 wash and red chalk sketches drawn by the most famous of Spanish court painters.

It was a fantastic sale in many ways.

There were only three of us who bid for the drawings at Maynard's antique sale.

The art treasure was passed up by some 200 persons, including art connoisseurs from Vancouver and Seattle.

I first ran across the sketch book in the afternoon prior to the evening sale. The drawings, many dealing with

John Gray Surrenders At Vancouver

VANCOUVER (CP) — John McPherson Gray, 46-year-old forest management executive, made a brief appearance in police court here today and was remanded until Thursday on charges of conspiring to bribe former B.C. forests minister Robert E. Sommers.

Gray, the fourth man arrested in connection with allegations of bribery against Sommers, walked into the RCMP station at the courthouse Saturday night and gave himself up. He was released two hours later on payment of $5,000 bail.

The other three men, Sommers, C. D. Schultz and H. Wilson Gray, brother of John Gray, were arrested Thursday and released on bail. They also were remanded until Thursday this week.

The action was taken following the laying of criminal charges against Mr. Sommers and three other men alleged to have been involved in a conspiracy.

NEW SLIDE THREAT AT PRINCE RUPERT

PRINCE RUPERT, B.C. (CP)—Thousands of tons of rock, dirt and trees that destroyed three homes and took seven lives in Friday's landslide are threatening another 10 homes in the area here.

RCMP ordered families out over the weekend when workmen searching for bodies reported that the rock was still creeping slowly down the mountain.

About 25 adults and children involved were given no time to collect valuables before evacuation, but most went readily, RCMP reported.

Eye-Witness Account Of Slide Disaster

PRINCE RUPERT, B.C. (CP)—A 300-foot wall of mud and broken trees 50 feet deep crushed three houses like matchsticks and buried them, 300 feet away from their original sites. Seven persons were killed.

He had been working in the city gravel pit on Wantage Road, 11 blocks from the heart of the city.

"The moment I heard the noise I knew what it was," Mr. Krug said.

"First of all, the trees started to slide about 1,000 feet up the mountain, then she gained speed and started to pile up like a big snowball."

Trees, underbrush and mud rolled up into a huge 300-foot-wide wall as it rushed down the hill which has an angle of about 45 degrees.

"It was 50 feet deep when it hit the houses and just pushed them ahead and crumpled them up and buried them.

"No one was outside the houses when they were hit," he said, scotching a belief that some of the seven victims may have rushed outside when they heard the noises and were separated from the buildings.

"It was about four minutes

Bennett Reveals Five-Year Plan

(Special to the Times)

OTTAWA — Premier Bennett today called on the federal government to contribute up to $410,000,000 over the next five years for highway development in B.C.

The proposal was contained in the brief presented to the federal-provincial conference.

The brief also called for a bigger share of tax revenue collected by Ottawa under the present tax-rental agreement.

The premier said the provinces should receive 25 per cent of the yield from corporate and personal income taxes, and 50 per cent of succession duties.

With other adjustments, this would increase the estimated rental payment to B.C. during 1957 from $59,000,000 to $85,000,000, a boost of $26,000,000.

The ambitious five-year highway program suggested to the federal government estimated a total expenditure of $523,807,000, of which Ottawa would contribute $409,606,000.

Basis for this figure is the suggestion that the federal government should pay 90 per cent of the cost of primary highways and 50 per cent of secondary highways.

Annually the cost would be $81,927,200 to Ottawa and $22,834,200 for B.C.

The brief also proposes that the federal government:

1. Arrange for municipalities to borrow at not more than two per cent interest;
2. Assist technical and uuniversity education by greater sharing in capital construction and operation;
3. Broaden unemployment assistance agreements;
4. Start the national health program immediately.
5. Launch a national development program across the country.

Bigger Slice of Tax Sought by Provinces

OTTAWA (CP)—Canada's 10 provincial premiers, given a clear field in which to present their demands for a better tax deal from the federal government put in their bids at today's opening session of the federal-provincial conference.

Ontario's Premier Frost, first of the 10 to speak, reiterated demands that the provinces be given a bigger slice of the rich personal and corporation income tax fields.

He added a new request: That logging and mining companies be allowed to deduct from their federal tax liability the full amount of provincial taxation.

Premier Duplessis of Quebec, making no specific requests, called for a new definition of taxing powers and simpler tax-collection methods. Like Mr. Frost, he said the federal share of the tax pie is too large.

Premier Stanfield of Nova Scotia proposed that the federal government pay a "Maritime adjustment grant" to make up for deficiencies in the tax po-

Premier Invites Trade Parley To Meet Here

The Premier said he had determined that accommodation for the large number of delegates expected would be available in the B.C. capital during the latter part of September and early part of October.

The Legislative chamber could be used as the main meeting place, he said.

"To emphasize our concern with the problems of trade, and to mark the first 100 years of history as an organized territory, I would like to extend to the federal government an invitation to fix the place of this Commonwealth conference in Victoria," the premier said in his brief presented to the federal-provincial conference.

'T-BRICKS FOR KOREA'

10,000 Orphans Roaming Streets in Hunt for Food

By DINAH KERR

Tuberculosis is the greatest peacetime enemy in Korea today.

The number-one killer roams unchecked through the caves, tents and cardboard shacks that thousands of Koreans call home.

Its accomplices are malnutrition, poverty and cold.

Last winter in Korea was the coldest in 33 years. Snow blocked the entrances to the shabby dwellings, hung from the ragged clothing of the orphaned young, leaving a shroud of misery and hardship over the Yuletide season.

Tuberculosis followed in its wake, striking one in four. The children of Korea do not have the strength to fight back. They need nourishment and rest.

Instead, some 10,000 Korean orphans must roam the streets in all weather, begging and stealing food in order to keep alive.

The Times, opening a campaign Saturday in co-operation with the Unitarian Services Committee, is asking readers to buy a brick, 10 bricks, 100 bricks, at 10 cents each to build a TB out-patients' pavilion with beds for 40 tubercular children from the time the slide left the top until it settled in a muddy, gooey mess at the bottom," Mr. Krug said Sunday night after he had completed his shift at the scene where searchers believe they are within 15 to 20 feet of some of the bodies.

The entire base of the slide, which varies in depth from 20 to 40 feet, is a muddy tangle of bits of houses, trees, tree roots and huge logs.

The slide pushed the houses of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Perry, Mr. and Mrs. John Murray and George Henderson across Wantage Road and 300 feet beyond into Oldfield Creek.

It was in Oldfield Creek that city truck driver, Lee Intermel, accompanied by Frederick Faulkner Jr., city loader operator, discovered 18-month-old Selma Murray, daughter of two of the victims.

HEARD CRYING

"I heard a child crying," Mr. Intermel said. "We had been blocked off by the slide and we had to go through the woods to the creek where the houses had been pushed."

"I saw a hand sticking up out of the water and when I tore some shingles and debris away I saw the baby sitting there as if she had been carried down in a crib or something.

Nearby, workers found the crushed body of five-month-old James Murray and it is in the vicinity of the two discoveries that crews worked all day Sunday.

Work has gone on continuously since just after noon Friday with city works superintendent Carl Gustafson in charge of the search. There are 50 persons working in oilskins both on the blocked road and in the bed of diverted Oldfield Creek.

Clothes, mattresses and household effects were unearthed at the 20-foot face at the base of the slide giving workers hope they were nearing their objective.

A power shovel is digging out the road so that a 30-foot wooden bridge also swept away by the slide can be replaced.

The road leads to the Canadian National Telegraph repeater station through which the telegraph and teletype wires pass.

Floodlights were set up again Sunday so that work could continue until the bodies are found.

HOUSES CLEARED

Occupants of houses in the immediate vicinity have been evacuated in case further slides occur. The rain has been practically continuous since Friday and it still was raining Sunday night.

Mr. Ayres, editor of the Prince Rupert Daily News, said the landslide area was the worst scene he had witnessed since the days of the Second World War when rescuers were searching bombed house rubble.

"It's almost the same," he said, "tired, weary men are knee deep in mud and twisted branches, clawing away at the mud banks, pulling out clothing and wondering whether it is near a body.

"One minute they are pulling away a log with a tractor, the next they are scraping away with their fingers to get a piece of blanket or pair of trousers, not knowing whether they are actually near one of the victim's bodies or whether they have struck a clothes closet.

"The whole thing is a shambles and the way the slide churned the houses into matchwood, the bodies could be anywhere."

In response to a brief welcoming speech by the prime minister, Newfoundland's Premier Smallwood expressed what is on the minds of all premiers:

"We are pinning a lot of faith on this conference. We need a lot of help. We hope we are going to get it."

Although Mr. Diefenbaker disclosed no detailed federal tax-sharing proposal, apart from an assurance that no province will be asked to take a cut in its present share, he announced that his Conservative government is prepared to move ahead on other fronts.

These included a speedup in the start of federal payments for hospital insurance, extension of federal aid for provincial relief costs, provision of more lending money for home building, special aid to the Atlantic provinces and possible federal contributions toward institutional care of TB and mental patients.

However, on the last two points—aid to the Atlantic provinces and sharing of TB and mental costs—Mr. Diefenbaker made it clear that the extent of federal aid will be up to the provinces. Any extra federal health costs, he said, would have a bearing on the eventual tax-sharing decision.

The present tax-sharing plan, started last April 1, provides a 10-9-50 formula for the three direct tax fields shared by federal and provincial governments—personal and corporation income tax and succession duties.

FEDERAL PAYMENTS

Provinces which do not collect those taxes receive federal payments based on 10 per cent federal personal income tax collections in the province, nine per cent of taxable corporation income and 50 per cent of succession duties.

All but Ontario and Quebec have done this. Where those two provinces collect their own direct taxes, the federal tax is reduced on the 10-9-50 formula.

Premier Frost called for a 15-15 formula on personal and corporation taxes. The present share was "not realistic" and did not meet Ontario's needs for expansion.

Business Tax Flow 'Slow'

Victoria city business tax collections were reported "slow but steady" today.

Only about $14,000 of a potential collection of $185,000 has been received from city merchants.

Due date is Dec. 15.

It is reported the smaller dealers have been more prompt than the larger firms where payment is required to be authorized often in eastern headquarters.

ZHUKOV-BACKER HEADED FOR TOP DEFENCE POST

BERLIN (AP)—Marshal Andrei Grechko, commander of Soviet forces in East Germany, today was reported under orders to go to Moscow to become deputy defence minister.

Western intelligence sources say Grechko will be replaced by army Gen. Zakharow, commander of the Leningrad military district.

A promotion for Grechko would surprise many Western observers, since in the past he has been identified with the ousted Soviet defence minister, Marshal Georgi Zhukov.

BUT AUDIENCE LIKED PLAY

Confused Opening, Then Weak Ending

By AUDREY ST.D. JOHNSON

"The Mousetrap," by Agatha Christie.

Molly Ralston	Joy Congdon
Giles Ralston	G. M. Hewlett
Christopher Wren	Gilbert Brown
Mrs. Boyle	Olive Keane
Major Metcalf	Harold Bellamy
Miss Casewell	Yvonne Hogan
Mr. Paravacini	Roy Blodgett
Det.-Sgt. Trotter	Russ Gurney

Director: Mrs. Phyllis Dulmage.

A slightly confused opening and a weak ending did not prevent the Victoria Theatre Guild production of this murder drama from entertaining, amusing and even thrilling a couple of hundred patrons Saturday night at Langham Court Theatre.

The technical slip-up that marred the play's opening atmosphere, doubtless will not occur again; the loose-jointed ending is another matter. It is simply a case of poor theatrical writing and could be much strengthened by some bold pruning.

From the direction standpoint there was considerable skill in evidence. Interesting grouping which was knowledgable in matters of emphasis, pattern of movement and rhythm, was utilized by Mrs. Dulmage.

INEFFECTIVE

Actors were much helped by spacious and effective setting which gave them full depth of stage for uninhibited movement. There was room for improvement in the fireplace, or at least the fire—an important prop all during the first act and a miserably ineffective one in this case.

Characterizations on the whole were good. Joy Congdon was well cast and has many pleasing qualities. She is confident and charming and would be all the more so if she would conquer the somewhat distracting mannerism of emphasizing all her speeches with head movements.

First class indeed were the performances of Olive Keane in a scolding, irascible role, and Harold Bellamy as a non-aggressive army major. Mrs. Keane's delineation was vivid, clearly etched and consistent in speech, gesture, tempo and gait.

CONVINCING

Overcolored but nevertheless sincere portrayals were given by Gilbert Brown and Roy Blodgett. G. M. Hewlett is another competent actor who presented a convincing portrait to the line-up. Yvonne Hogan, while not always audible, did a nice piece of work.

In the case, however, of Detective Sergeant Trotter, both director and actor need to reconsider the interpretation. Lack of subtlty, failure to plant an important mannerism at the outset, lead in part to a loss of impact and a much weakened denouncement.

Russ Gurney brought tremendous strength, authority and ability to the role, but an insufficient understanding of its requirements.

The sell-out audience found the production good entertainment, judging from the several curtain calls. It will be repeated nightly throughout this week.

Bootlegger Chou Jah, 515 Cormorant, was fined $300 or three months at hard labor when a plea of guilty was entered in city police court today.

Police said a man was observed coming out of the premises with two and a half cases of beer, and Jah was subsequently identified as the seller.

"I took it to Maynard's and asked them to sell the sketch book separately because I thought it might be worth something. I didn't really have a hunch, it was just that it was so old."

"I remember selling the book as though it was yesterday. I can still see Mr. Klaverwyden's finger shaking as he made the final bid," he said.

"This is the first time anything like this has happened in the firm's 56 years when we have sold 1,400,000 lots."

INHERITED

Mrs. Stevenson inherited the sketch book from Eleanor Dunsmuir who died in 1938. Miss Dunsmuir, who travelled abroad extensively, had left the book among her possessions in a house in Comox.

"I've talked to the family about it and we feel she must have bought it while travelling in Europe," Mrs. Mitchell said. "So the book really has been to Vancouver Island twice.

"It must be fate that made me go to Monte Carlo when I did, bring back the sketch book and then put it up for auction just when a real art devotee was attending the sale.

"I'm really glad he got it. No one else would have been able to bring its value to light. I've got no regrets because I never would have done it."

AMAZED

Mrs. Mitchell admitted her first reaction when she read the story of the find was complete amazement.

"I was reading it in bed and when I saw the first line I knew it was the sketch book. My stomach just about turned over and my eyes popped out, but as soon as everything got back into place I was glad, really glad.

"I phoned Mr. Klaverwyden to congratulate him and yesterday I was strutting around thinking to myself, 'I touched the Goya book'. I really feel as though I've made a contribution to art by not throwing it out despite the maggots."

"To think I had it lying around in any old drawer while I was on Rockland. If I'd known it was so valuable, I'd have been scared to leave the place untended for a single minute," she chuckled.

"I can't help laughing about it. There I was in Monte Carlo almost flat broke and not knowing that all the time I had a book worth almost $500,000 kicking around."

Gallant Bombers KO Great Eskie Machine

EDMONTON (CP) — Young Bud Grant's, full-of-grit Winnipeg Blue Bombers, scoring their winning touchdown on an end-zone fumble, whipped the national champion Edmonton Eskimos 17-2 Saturday night in what was probably the first overtime final game in Canadian professional football history.

The underdog Bombers, checking the powerful Eskimo attack through a fantastically-close deciding game in the western final, kicked a 14th minute single for a 2-2 tie in the fourth quarter—but only minutes after Eskimo Jackie Parker had scored what seemed to be the winning point on a quick kick.

Crucial play for the Eskimos, who had sought an unprecedented fourth straight Grey Cup, came on the kickoff by Bomber Jerry James that started the 20-minute overtime period. The James' ball rolled into the Esk end zone, and Rollie Miles fumbled in trying to run it out instead of conceding the single. Gerry Vincent jumped on the ball for the winning touchdown.

Rookie coach Grant, who had successfully fired up a patched-up team weakened by season-long injuries, didn't even see the touchdown. He was still on his way from the dressing room to the field. "You can't stop heart," he said later.

The touchdown was the first in 143 minutes of hard-knocking series football. Bombers upset Edmonton 19-7 in the first game at Winnipeg a week ago, but Eskimos came back with a thrilling 5-4 win Wednesday night.

Thus did the Bombers battle their way to the Grey Cup championship game next Saturday against Hamilton Tiger-Cats. They will try for a fourth title—they first brought the cup west in 1935, and repeated in 1939 and 1941. They were last beaten by Hamilton 12-6 in 1953.

It was a bitter pill for the 20,000 Eskimo fans who sat through three hours of steady snow and 25-degree cold, waiting the Eskimos to score. As it was, the big green machine managed only two points on eight trips inside the Winnipeg 45. They failed even to get a single on four Joe Mobra field goal tries.

BOMBERS THREATEN ONCE

Only once in regulation time did Blue Bombers get inside Edmonton's 30-yard line. That was the sequence climaxed by the single at the 14-minute mark of the fourth quarter that gave the Bombers a 2-2 tie.

In overtime the only time Winnipeg was inside Edmonton's 30 was on Kenny Ploen's touchdown run after a win was almost beyond reach of the Eskimos.

After the kickoff touchdown the Eskimos abandoned the line-plunging attack and substituted desperation passes, Canadian Don Getty stepping in at quarter and Parker moving to left half. It didn't work.

Bombers went on to score nine more points. Charlie Shepard in overtime booted his second and third singles, and an interception of one of Getty's passes set up the tremendous 43-yard touchdown run by Winnipeg quarter Ploen. He also converted.

It was close to a rout, but still the Eskimo fans, when they rushed onto the field at the final gun, had backslaps not only for their Eskimos, but also for the Bombers. The consensus later seemed to be that if Eskimos had to lose, then Edmonton would be behind the Bombers for a Grey Cup victory.

The game was played on a gridiron from which all grass had been removed along with three inches of snow. Groundskeepers found the turf gouged by snow-removing equipment so they ran motor graders across the whole field—Clarke Stadium was to get new turf next spring, anyway.

WINGLINE STARS

Most of the credit for the Bomber victory went to the wingline. They were tremendous as a unit. Especially brillinat were Hall Whitley and Herb Gray, who missed the second game of the series to attend his father's funeral in Texas.

TILLICUMS TIED 1-1

Three Share Lead In Soccer Circuit

First place in the Victoria and District Football Association is an elusive target.

Three clubs had a shot at the top berth Sunday, but Canadian Scottish, one-point leaders over the trio Saturday and likely candidates to be resting in third place today, still owns a share of the lead.

Esquimalt and Tillicums stymied each other in attempts to vault past the idle Scots, but gained some solace as they finished up in a three-way squeeze in the upper berth after battling to a 1-1 stalemate at Heywood Avenue.

Punjab United, matched against last-place Victoria Kickers at Topaz Avenue Park, missed the target completely as Kickers carved out a 5-4 triumph and climbed into eighth position, leaving United still one point off the pace.

BUTLERS ON MOVE

In Sunday's third match, Butler Brothers moved within two points of the leading threesome as they completed their first-half schedule with a 5-3 win over Heaneys.

Saturday, Gorge Hotel grabbed a berth in the Jackson Cup final by whipping Brodies Bakery, 4-1, at Royal Athletic Park. The Hotelmen tangle with Tillicums for the silverware at Royal Athletic Park next Saturday.

Goalie Al Davies again saved the day for Tillicums at Heywood Avenue, coming up with a series of sparkling saves to keep the Clubmen in contention until Tim Walker salvaged the tie on a penalty shot with 15 minutes remaining in the hard-fought match.

George Adams gave Esquimalt a 1-0 lead after 30 minutes of the opening half. The Dockyarders had an edge in play through most of the second session but couldn't get another shot past Davies.

EARLY SPLURGE

Kickers ran up a four-goal lead against Punjab then had to battle down to the wire to pull out a victory. They took a 2-0 lead in the first half on two tallies by Helmut Schemitsch and made it 4-0 on a pair by Dick Nellestijn early in the second session.

At Central Park, three goals by veteran Joe Robbins and a singleton by Gary Crowe gave Butlers a 4-2 first-half lead. Glen Robbins fired an insurance marker after the intermission.

Gorge Hotel turned in one of its best efforts of the season as it trimmed Brodies. Faster on attack and solid on defence, the Hotel squad scored twice in in each half.

Senators Step to Top In Tight Pee Wee Race

A tight scramble for peewee division honors appears to be shaping up in the Greater Victoria Minor Hockey Association.

Although each of the six clubs has played just two games, only two teams remain unbeaten and only one has won both its games.

Senators took over first place by racking up their second straight triumph at Memorial Arena Saturday, skating to a 6-3 decision over Royals, who got a three-goal effort from Gary Day.

Bombers' bid for a second straight win was thwarted by Maroons, who held the Bombers to a 1-1 deadlock. In Saturday's third game, Flyers were just short with a late rally and lost, 3-2, to Capitals.

Senators—Dave Woodley 2, Ron Zilkie 2, John Anderson, Peter Fitterer. Total 6.

Maroons—Allan Hine.
Bombers—Brian Whitten.

Capitals—Gerald Hogberg 2, Harold Williams, Brian McIntyre. Total 4.

Als No Match For Peppy Cats

HAMILTON (CP) — Gerry McDougall, who almost became an early-season cut from the Hamilton Tiger-Cats squad, carved himself a big slice of football glory Saturday in leading Hamilton to the Eastern Canada title with a 39-1 squelching of Montreal Alouettes.

Given perfect support by a hard-charging Hamilton team, McDougall romped to three of Hamilton's five touchdowns and the Cats' victory in the two-game, total-point Big Four final was never in danger.

Hamilton won 17-10 in Montreal the previous Saturday and in the 56-11 over-all count McDougall helped himself to four of the six Hamilton touchdowns.

Tiger-Cats now go against Winnipeg Blue Bombers in Toronto next Saturday in the Grey Cup classic.

On their show Saturday, the Cats looked good enough to beat any team in the country. Before a home crowd of 18,000, they had letter-perfect blocking and jet-propelled backfield that withered the Als in a hurry.

ONESCHUK CONVERTS

Cookie Gilchrist and Ray (Bibbles) Bawel cashed in a touchdown apiece in the Hamilton cause. Steve Oneschuk, whose accurate hoofing gave Hamilton 10 points on three field goals and a convert in Montreal, kicked a field goal and converted all five touchdowns Saturday. Cam Fraser booted a Hamilton single for the only score of the fourth quarter.

Avatus Stone kicked over the deadline in the third quarter, when Als were trailing 31-0 on the game, for Montreal's lone point.

Coach Jim Trimble of Hamilton aptly summed up the game when he said rushing should be the basic principle of any football club.

"A team that depends upon passing for its bread and butter in football makes for lazy players," said Trimble. "Rushing has got to be the basis of an offence. Poor Sam Etcheverry was looking in vain for receivers once Hal Patterson, a wonderful player, was out of the game."

With or without Patterson Saturday, the Als were a beaten club. They never threatened.

Norm Kwong wants All-Season Contract

During a pause in training recently, the fabulous Edmonton full-back disclosed that he is seeking an all-season contract. Said Norm, 'Short-term half-measures are not enough. I want complete protection, all winter long, for my car. I've found, that the only way to get this, is to use "Prestone" Brand Anti-Freeze. It keeps the engine clear of corrosion, rust and clogging. Stops foaming too. "Prestone" Brand Anti-Freeze and I take out an all-season contract every year.'

Follow the lead of the powerful 'China Clipper'—get the protection your engine needs by insisting on "Prestone" Brand Anti-Freeze.

HE GIVES AWAY GRAND PRIZES

Is there something you want to know? Do you want to win a set of valuable books or other instructive prizes? Then Ask Andy

Andy will answer questions submitted by child readers and those who submit the questions he selects to answer will receive worthwhile prizes.

The youngster who asks the first question answered each day receives a 20-volume set of Compton's Pictured Encyclopedia (Canadian edition) and of the second question a Hammond Atlas or Globe.

Address your questions to "Ask Andy," Victoria Daily Times.

How Are U.S. Coins Made?

This little penny went to market—and changed hands 10 times in a single day. This little penny stayed home—resting in a peaceful piggy bank. These adventures are humdrum to our sturdy coins. For in the past, each one of them really took a beating. Each went through seething heat, rollers and sharp cutters. Each was given a terrific wallop. The cent got a 40-ton wallop. The big silver dollar got a 170-ton wallop. These grueling adventures took place at the mint, where metal is made into money.

The law demands that all our coins are made at a government mint. The crime of making coins privately is counterfeiting—punishable by a term in prison. At one time there were five legal U.S. mints. When the San Francisco mint closed in 1955, only two remained. One is in Philadelphia, the other in Denver. Between them, these two mints can turn out four billion coins a year.

The job begins with making metal alloys. Two or more metals are melted together to form an alloy which is stronger than any one metal alone. Our busy coins have to be sturdy to stand up under their daily chores.

The tough little penny is made of 95% copper alloyed with 5% tin and zinc. Though mostly copper, the alloy is actually bronze. It is sturdy and slow to tarnish. The alloy for making nickels is 75% copper and 25% nickel. Dimes, quarters, half dollars and big silver dollars are made from an alloy of 90% silver and 10% copper.

These alloys are blended in seething electric furnaces. The molten metal is poured into bars called ingots. The ingots are pressed through powerful rolling machines. Here they are cut into the proper shapes and sizes to make coins. Each is a flat, blank circle called a planchet.

Big Wallop Stamps Patterns

The next job is to get that little ridge around the rim of each coin. The planchets are softened, washed in acid, dried and sent to a milling machine. They are now flat, blank coins with raised rims. The larger coins, dollars, half dollars and quarters are each weighed separately. The cents, dimes and nickels are weighed in bulk, with certain test coins weighed separately. Scrap metal, including the floor sweepings, goes back to the melting pot. Now comes the big wallop which stamps the patterns on the coins. Each coin is held in a collar and whammed on both sides with tons of weight. The round collar for holding the silver coins has small, upright grooves around it. The heavy stamper forces the metal into these grooves, giving the coin a milled edge. Both sides of a coin are stamped at the same time.

The coins are now inspected and counted. Aside from portraits and emblems each bears the date. If it is a fairly new coin, each bears the inscription In God We Trust. In 1955, it was agreed that all our coins should bear these noble words.

Andy sends a Hammond Ambassador World Atlas to Ruthie Karp, age 12, of Berkley, California, for the question:

What are the Near East, the Middle East and the Far East?

These names are rather vague divisions of the land masses east of Europe. The countries of the Near East are the Balkans, and Egypt may or may not be considered a near eastern country. The Balkans, named for the Balkan Mountains, fill the area between the Adriatic and the Black Seas. They include Bulgaria, Greece, Yugoslavia, Czechoslovakia, Hungary and Austria.

The Middle East is a territory farther to the east. It stretches from Istanbul, Turkey, to the boundaries of China. Most of Russia, Turkey, Iraq, Iran, Syria and other countries of southeast Asia are in the Middle East.

The Far East, also called the Orient, includes China, India and parts of Russia. There are no definite boundaries between the Near, Middle and Far East. England, for instance, places Egypt in the Near East. The United States usually considers Egypt as part of the Middle East.

Hunter Dies In Plunge From Cliff

CHILLIWACK, B.C. (CP)—Searchers today found the body of Aron Ewert, 36-year-old Vancouver hunter, who fell 500 feet from a cliff Saturday on Neskkwatch Mountain.

Neskkwatch lies across a narrow valley from towering Mount Mount Slesse, 25 miles east of here, where a TCA planeplane crashed last December with the loss of 62 lives.

A 12-man search party radioed Chilliwack at noon today that it had located the body of Aron Ewert, a Vancouver contractor. The body was being brought here.

Russia Can Hit All U.S. Targets

WASHINGTON (AP)—Dr. Edward Teller said today if the United States and Russia maintain their present pace of missile development "there is no doubt that Russia will leave us behind—and way behind."

And already, he said, he believes the Russians have "or will have in a short time" the ability to hit major industrial centres in the U.S. with an intercontinental ballistic missile. Specifically, he said he believes the Russians could hit such a distant target as Houston, Tex.

Teller, an expert on nuclear weapons, was the opening witness in a Senate inquiry into the U.S. missile program.

Teller said there was some "danger" in sharing secrets with other countries, but added that in view of Russian advances "we must accept the danger," he said. "The danger of not co-operating would be greater."

Nuclear Blast Gives Mountain Hot Foot

HOUSTON, Tex. (UP)—A nuclear bomb made a mountain jump six inches in a recent test north of Las Vegas, atomic energy commissioner Dr. W. F. Libby reports.

Dr. Libby said the bomb was exploded deep in the bowels of the mountain in an experiment to see whether nuclear energy can be trapped and later brought out under control for peaceful uses.

The AEC scientist said the vast power released by the exploding bomb is now trapped 800 feet deep inside the mountain and a well is being dug toward it. When the power is reached, he said, an attempt will be made to draw it off under control and utilize it.

Tight-Money Ease To Aid Municipalities

OTTAWA (CP)—Prime Minister Diefenbaker today forecast some easing of provincial and municipal financial burdens in their borrowing costs and in relief expenditures for the needy.

He said an easing of the tight-money situation will help both municipalities and provinces in borrowing money for new projects.

Proposed federal legislation to extend the period for special wintertime unemployment insurance benefits, he said, "will substantially relieve the provinces and municipalities of the burden of unemployment assistance this coming winter."

Mr. Diefenbaker, in a speech opening the federal-provincial fiscal conference, also offered, if the provinces wish, to go further in the sharing of unemployment relief costs with the provinces.

human interest subjects, were so striking and delicately executed that I thought it was the best buy of the sale.

To me those simple drawings had more in them than all the silver and gold ornaments up for sale in the auction room. The drawings were unsigned. I did not know they had any value, but I wanted to acquire them for their own sake.

I was standing beside Mr. Klaverwyden, then unknown to me. He seemed so intent on acquiring the sketches that I felt it was of little use to continue the contest. I dropped out at a $10 bid.

There remained in the ring only a soft-spoken woman who wanted the sketches for personal reasons—she loved the drawings. She kept raising the bid a dollar at a time.

Some days later Mr. Klaverwyden told me he would have gone as high as $100 for the book, but no higher.
